Gouzenko Ready To Meet Probers

Closest Secrecy Will Mark Talks

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 10 (AP)—The Canadian government announced today Igor Gouzenko has agreed to tell the U. S. Senate's Internal Security subcommittee what he knows about Russian spying.

Justice Minister Stuart Garson told the House of Commons the former code clerk in the Soviet Embassy here, who helped break a vast Russian atomic espionage ring in Britain and America, was prepared to meet secretly with the team of Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) on terms agreed upon between Canada and the United States.

Garson did not say where or when the interview will take place.

Under the U.S.-Canadian agreement, Gouzenko will meet in Canada in closest secrecy with Jenner, Robert Morris, committee counsel, and probably U. S. Ambassador Douglas Stuart. Canada has a right to censor all information to be made public as a result of the interview.

Ready To Go To Canada

In New York, Morris said he and Jenner were prepared to go to Canada to talk with Gouzenko.

"We've scheduled no hearings of the subcommittee for this coming week," said Morris. "We're just standing by, ready to go."

Morris said he expected to talk by telephone later with Jenner, who is in Indiana, concerning details.

These precautions were taken not only to guarantee the safety of Canadian secrets, but to protect the cloak of anonymity under which Canada has protected Gouzenko since he first handed over the Russian military attache's documents which uncovered the Soviet spy ring in September, 1945.

Gouzenko Changed Name

The revelations contained in those documents led to the cracking in 1946 of a vast ring in the United States, Canada and Britain which had succeeded in sending vital atom information to Russia.

Gouzenko and his family have moved twice and changed their name as many times. Their 10-year-old son and 8-year-old daughter do not know who he really is. The Gouzenkos live quietly in an undisclosed village in Ontario. Contact with Gouzenko can be made only through the highest officials of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Eisenhower's Advisers Near Housing Accord

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — A Republican housing program, aimed at a million new homes annually and more dwellings for families of modest income, was almost ready for President Eisenhower's consideration today.

Government and industry sources said the program calls for continuance of a limited volume of publicly subsidized housing, liberalization of federal mortgage insurance, and government-aided renovation of old houses.

The program was hammered out by the President's 23-member advisory committee on housing headed by Albert M. Cole, in meetings over the past two and a half months.

One Major Split

Cole, housing administrator, was mostly successful in his efforts to obtain unanimity among the bankers, real estate men, unionists and others making up the panel. But one major split was reported, and there was talk that builders' spokesmen might file a dissent.

One of the recommendations, it was understood, will call for creation of a central mortgage reserve bank, operating with funds subscribed by private lenders to buy up government guaranteed and government insured mortgages from banks and other mortgage lenders.

Funds Fed Back To Banks

This function, now performed by a government corporation, feeds funds back to the banks for more housing loans. The builders' groups, anxious to assure ample credit for new housing construction, prefer government participation in this so-called "secondary mortgage market."

Eisenhower has indicated he will use the committee recommendations for his legislative program on housing to be delivered next month to Congress.

Dean Authorized To Return Home

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean has been authorized to come home from Panmunjom, State Department officials said tonight, but his return does not mean a break up of efforts to set up a Korean peace conference.

Dean, who has been in Korea for eight weeks, is expected to return to the United States before Christmas.

A deputy, Kenneth Young, is expected to remain in Korea.

Earlier this week, Dean had said at Panmunjom he had authority to break off the seven-week-old preliminary talks with Red China and North Korea and could wait "only a reasonable time."

But he later indicated United Nations negtiators would do "everything possible" to get the peace conference organized.

There was no indication that the Allies were backing down from their stand, however, that Russia cannot attend the peace conference as a "neutral."

Judge Ready To Back Jury Meddling Charge

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 10 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Willis W. Ritter said today he will appear before the U. S. Senate Judiciary Committee when it meets in Denver Saturday to investigate a jury tampering case.

Judge Ritter said the public is entitled to the whole story, and added "if I can be of any assistance to the committee, I'll be available."

The investigation is an outgrowth of charges made by Judge Ritter several weeks ago that the Justice Department through the FBI had refused to assist fully in an inquiry into jury tampering by Denver men, Eugene and Clyde Smaldone, on charges of bribery and obstruction of Justice.

Dewey To Visit Ike

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York will visit with President Eisenhower at the White House tomorrow afternoon.

Ike Still Hopes Russia Agrees To Atomic Plan

Refuses To Accept Hostile Comment As Soviet Rejection

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — President Eisenhower today refused to accept hostile Russian comment as an official Soviet rejection of his plan to pool atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

The White House said it still hopes Russia will recognize the proposal as a "first step toward atomic peace."

This is the official attitude of the United States government, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters in the wake of the cold reception given the President's proposal by the Moscow press and radio.

Attack Discounted

"We do not believe that immediate reaction to President Eisenhower's atomic proposal necessarily represents the considered decision of the Soviet government," Hagerty said in a statement.

Eisenhower appeared before the United Nations Assembly in New York Tuesday to propose in an historic speech that the world harness at least some of its atomic energy for peaceful purposes. He suggested that an international pool of fissionable materials be established under U. N. supervision.

In its home service bulletin this morning, Moscow radio disposed of the speech in 56 words.

"A cable from New York reports that President Eisenhower made a speech on 8th December at the plenary meeting of the U. N. General Assembly," the radio said.

"Threatened War," Reds Say

"In the introductory part of his speech Eisenhower had stated that he felt it incumbent upon himself to speak today in a new language—in the language of the atom war."

Last night a Moscow radio propaganda commentator said the President "threatened atomic war" in his address. Andrei Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate to the U. N., told that body it would be impossible to insure the use of atomic energy for peace without strict international control of weapons.

The Russians have refused to go along with an inspection system which the United States considered an indispensable part of a plan for controlling atomic weapons.

Italian Trains Halted By Strike

ROME, Friday, Dec. 11 (AP)—A 24-hour strike of Italian government employes started at midnight. It halted trains and threatened to close down all telephone and telegraph communications today.

The strikers demand more pay and demonstrated against a new civil service measure which is reported to contain a no-strike clause.

Despite a last-minute decision of four small non-Communist unions not to strike, the walkout began to take immediate effect. The four non-striking unions mostly represent school teachers, government hospital employes, some public service officials and members of the non-Communist National Labor Confederation (CISNAL).

Train traffic began to halt in Rome's central station. No trains arrived or departed for 90 minutes before midnight.

The government arranged for extra buses and airplanes and ordered army engineers to escort some priority trains in an effort to keep essential transportation moving.

NEA Says $5 Billion In Schools Needed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—The National Education Association estimated today the nation needs $5,184,640,772 worth of new school buildings to house the 1953-54 public school enrollment.

Nearly a fifth the amount, one billion dollars, is needed in California, the NEA said.

Shoulders To Face Formal Charges In Kidnaping Case

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 10 (AP)—Formal charges will be filed against former police Lt. Louis Shoulders and Patrolman Elmer Dolan for their handling of the arrest of Carl Austin Hall, Greenlease kidnap-killer, the police board announced tonight.

I. A. Long, head of the board, said Dolan has been suspended pending hearings for him and Shoulders. Shoulders resigned recently but the board has not officially accepted the resignation.

Long declined to say the nature of the charges except that they would have to do with the officers' actions in handling the case here.

The police board president said the hearings, to be scheduled later, would not be criminal proceedings.

The board action came during its investigation into a missing $303,720—more than half the ransom paid to Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady by Robert C. Greenlease Sr. of Kansas City.

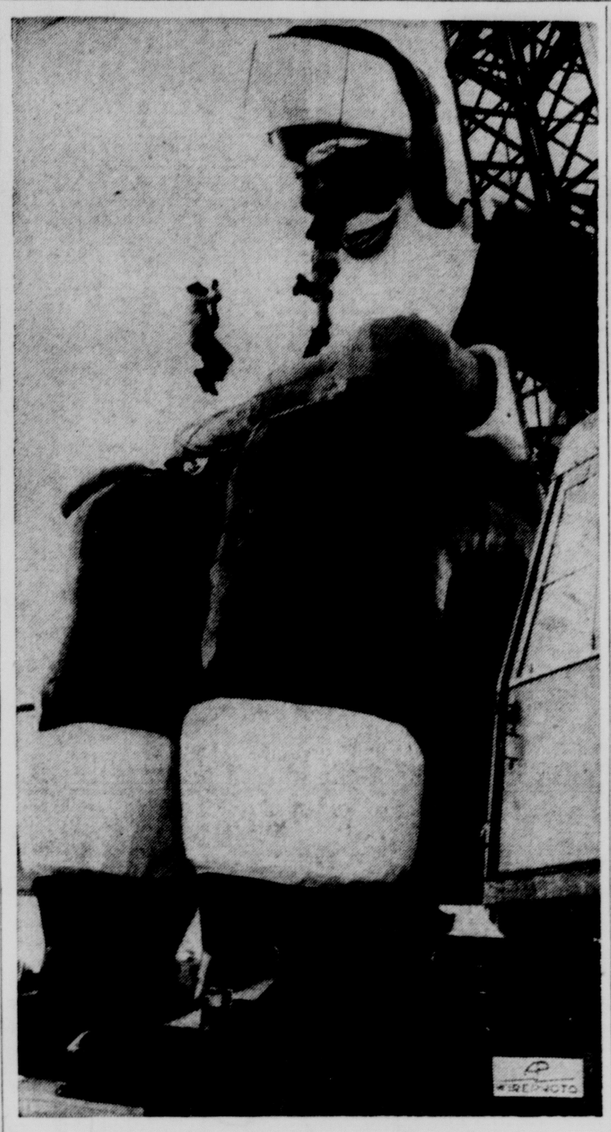
Hall and Mrs. Heady are scheduled to die Dec. 18 in the Missouri Penitentiary for the kidnap-slaying of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

Hall, both in his confession to FBI agents and in an interview with Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell of St. Louis, has said he had most of the ransom money in two suitcases in his hotel room when Shoulders and Dolan arrested him Oct. 6.

When the suitcases were checked later at a district police station the $303,720 was missing.

Hall has said that the officers left the suitcases in the room when they took him to the station.

Shoulders and Dolan have said they took the suitcases to the station along with Hall.



Death Plunge Scene

FOA Criticized

AFL President Quits As Stassen Adviser

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—AFL President George Meany resigned from the Foreign Operations Administration's public advisory board today, contending the agency was doing nothing to encourage anti-Communist labor unions abroad.

Meany's letter to FOA Administrator Harold Stassen said Congress had ordered FOA to help strengthen free labor unions over seas, yet "virtually the entire labor program of the agency has been dismantled" in recent months.

Stassen was in Europe, en route to Turkey and there was no immediate comment from his office here.

"Key" Labor Men Fired

Meany wrote that the AFL always has insisted on helping workers in free countries because "in the final count, it is the will of the workers in the nations standing with us that will prove decisive in making the defense of the free world effective."

Military defenses "are only as strong as the will of those who man them and of the workers who back them up," he said.

Meany complained, too, that FOA has fired most of the "key labor officers" of its staff.

The AFL leader was the only labor member of FOA's advisory board, which was authorized by Congress months ago but organized only last week. CIO sources said CIO President Walter Reuther was "sounded out" last March, along with Meany, as a prospective board member but Reuther was not included when President Eisenhower appointed the group on Dec. 2.

Labor's Role Too Small

Lack of any member from the CIO or any other labor organization except the AFL apparently bothered eMany because his resignation letter said:

"In the consitution of the public advisory board itself, labor was not accorded full participation, distorting the representative character of this board. All of this leads me to conclude that the FOA is not alive to the role of labor in its program."

Plenty Of String Attached To Hobby

COLUMBUS, Kan. Dec. 10 (AP)—There's plenty of string attached to Ed Fout's hobby—338 miles of it, to be exact.

He'll have been collecting string 12 years on Dec. 12 winding it onto a ball that now measures 11 feet 8 inches around.

Unionist Blasts GE Loyalty Plan

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—An official of the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.) today denounced the new loyalty program of General Electric Co. as "anti-labor and un-American" and claimed it was dictated by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

In a letter to GE President Ralph Cordiner, Leo Jandreau, business agent of UE Local 301, said:

"It was McCarthy who demanded this policy from you and now you agree to place in the hands of McCarthy . . . the power of firing GE employes."

He said the UE would "take appropriate steps to protect the job security of all GE workers." He did not elaborate.

Jandreau claims UE is bargaining agent for 20,000 of the 40,000 GE workers in Schenectady, the company's main plant. The UE was expelled from the CIO in 1949 on the ground it was Communist-dominated.

Cordiner announced yesterday that General Electric would fire any employe who admitted communism, espionage or sabotage at a public hearing of any investigating agency. He said any employe who refused to testify would be suspended with pay for 90 days, pending an inquiry.

Balky Witness Is Tossed Out By McCarthy

Senator Refuses To Let Sobbing Man Deny Spy Charge

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — A shouting, sobbing witness was ejected from a Senate hearing today after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) refused to let him deny he ever spied for the Russians.

McCarthy declared he would listen to no speeches from a person who declined to say whether he was a Communist.

Angrily banging the table with a glass ashtray, McCarthy cut off repeated efforts by aircraft engineer Henry Nathan Shoiket, who once worked for Boeing aircraft in Seattle to volunteer the denial of espionage. In the end McCarthy waved in the capitol police and told them to "throw him out."

Refuses To Say If Red

Shoiket, who refused to say whether he is a Communist or how well he knew convicted atom spies Julius Rosenberg and Morton Sobell, was called before McCarthy's investigations subcommittee in its search for evidence of Soviet radar spying in the Army Signal Corps laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

McCarthy announced at the public hearing he will subpoena Telford Taylor, one of the United States prosecutors in the trial of German war criminals after World War II, for questioning in connection with the Ft. Monmouth investigation.

Taylor Would Respond

In New York Taylor said he would respond "to any congressional committee subpoena that may be issued to me."

Taylor, a former brigadier general in the Army, recently assailed the Ft. Monmouth probe in a speech at the U. S. Military Academy in West Point, N. Y. He said on that occasion McCarthy will be shown to be guilty of risking the nation's security if he fails to back up charges of recent spying at Ft. Monmouth.

McCarthy said Taylor has interested himself "very greatly" in the Ft. Monmouth probe and "some of his associations indicate he may be able to give us information of some value."

Parley Breakoff Delayed By Allies

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Dec. 11 (AP)—An Allied walkout appeared delayed today while United Nations negotiators do "everything possible" to set up a Korean peace conference as called for at the Bermuda Big Three meeting.

U.S. envoy Arthur Dean scheduled another session at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EST, Thursday) with Red negotiators.

Earlier this week Dean said he had authority to break off the seven-week-old preliminary talks and could wait only a "reasonable time."

Yesterday, however, he used the expression "everything possible" to newsmen, giving the impression that the impending walkout would be delayed. But even this clearly did not include any departure from the Allied stand that Russia cannot attend the peace conference as a "neutral."

Dean lashed out sharply during yesterday's two hour and 20 minute session at this Red demand which has proved the big stumbling block.

Girl On Way To Store Meets Death At Hands Of Strangler

Missing all night she was found dead at 8:10 a.m. today in the back yard of the home of policeman Michael Proccacino, about two blocks from where she lived in the southwest section of the city.

Ironically, Proccacino himself had broadcast the first alarm that she was missing.

A desk officer at headquarters on the midnight to 8 a.m. shift, he handled the report that Mrs. Margaret Fiederowicz had telephoned to police about half an hour before he came on duty.

When Proccacino arrived home from work his wife called his attention to "a green and red thing" she had noticed lying by a tool shed in their back yard.

Investigating the policeman found Irene's body, her blue, red and yellow scarf knotted so tightly about her neck that it cut deeply into her flesh. A medical examiner said there was no question but that the scarf had been used to strangle her.

Her clothing was undisturbed and an autopsy showed she had not been sexually assaulted. Police, however, put the killing down tentatively as a sex crime.

A crushed and empty paper bag, such as stores use for groceries, lay beneath Irene's body. Her green purse contained 61 cents.

Mrs. Fiederowicz said she gave Irene a dollar about 7 p.m. and told her to go to a store about five blocks from their home to get some potatoes and a few other things.

Today's Chuckle

During dinner at a very proper gentleman's home, a guest was astonished to see his host pour his coffee from cup to saucer. To be polite the guest followed suit. Then the host added cream and sugar, and tasted the mixture. The guest was doing the same when the host set the saucer on the floor for his dog.

Demonstrators Mar Nobel Peace Prize Ceremony

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall received his 1953 Nobel peace prize today at a ceremony marred by Communist demonstrators who protested "his work is war and preparation for war."

"This is no peace candidate—Marshall go home!" a score of young Reds shouted in unison from the gallery of Oslo University's festival hall at the U. S. soldier statesman honored for the 17-billion-dollar Marshall Plan for European recovery.

Police pounced quickly on the group, but not before the Communists had rained leaflets titled "we protest" on a select audience headed by Norway's 18-year-old King Haakon VII.

Leaflets Denounce Marshall

The leaflets described Marshall, U. S. Army World War II chief of staff and postwar Secretary of State and Secretary of Defense, as "the man who decisively contributed to the atomic death of 100,000 people in Hiroshima and Nagasaki . . . and who contributed to the division of the world into two hostile blocs by launching his Marshall Plan and the Atlantic pact."

The interruption came as the president of the Norwegian Nobel committee, Gunnar Jahn, began reading the citation conferring the prize, one of six Nobel prizes conferred today in Oslo and in Stockholm under the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite.

When things quieted down, Jahn calmly continued. Then he handed Marshall a check for $33,840, a scroll and a gold medal encased in green leather stamped with gold.

Wife Accepts Churchill Prize

The 1952 peace prize, omitted last year, was presented in absentia to Dr. Albert Schweitzer, Alsatian-born philosopher, humanitarian and medical missionary.

Prime Minister Churchill whose writings and oratory won him the 1953 literature prize was the most notable of the group honored in Stockholm today, but his trip to Bermuda prevented him from being there to receive it.

Instead his smiling wife, Lady Churchill, stepped up to King Gustaf, curtsied, and accepted the diploma, medal and $33,840 check in his behalf at Stockholm's packed concert hall.

Fire Razes 300 Homes

TOKYO, Friday, Dec. 11 (AP)—A four-hour fire, fanned by a 40-mile wind, razed 300 homes last night at Uchinomachi, 180 miles north of Tokyo.

No casualties were reported.

Fate Of Talks With 22 Yanks Is Uncertain

25 South Koreans Refuse To Listen To Explanations

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Dec. 11 (AP)—Twenty-five South Koreans refused "come home" interviews today and brought to a jarring halt the Allied explanations program to prisoners converted to communism.

The tactic left uncertain the fate of scheduled talks with 22 Americans and a Briton who refused to come home during the big armistice repatriation. They had been expected to be called to the interview center early next week.

The 25 South Koreans were among 30 called today. The first five entered explanation tents but refused to leave when interviews were completed.

At the start of today's talks, 78 South Korean converts to Communism still remained to be interviewed, in addition to the Americans and Briton. The 250 South Koreans previously interviewed had refused to come back from the Reds.

Captives Stage Sitdown

The first two captives interviewed today chose communism. The next three, including a woman, refused to leave explanation tents.

The first two captives interviewed apparently left the explanation tents under protest. At least one was escorted out by Indian guards. The two sat down on the cold ground behind the tents in 18 degree weather. After about 15 minutes they were invited back inside.

A spokesman said the Indian custodial force was taking a "wait and see" attitude toward the captives.

Some U. S. officers speculated earlier that the Reds may be trying to force a break in the interviews before the Americans and Briton are called up.

Change Of Mind Expected

Belief persists in the Allied camp that some of the Americans can be persuaded to accept repatriation.

Speculation that the Reds are aware of this and may want to break up the interviews was based on the behavior of 30 South Koeans questioned yesterday.

Although no real pressure was exerted upon them by South Korean explainers, these prisoners tried to drag out and snarl the sessions with screaming demonstrations and sitdowns.

Mrs. Portia Howe of Alden, Minn., the mother of Pfc. Richard F. Tenneson, was due by plane in Tokyo today in hopes she may go on to Korea and personally interview her son when he is brought before explainers.

Draft Of Youths, 19, Seen In 1954

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, Texas director of Selective Service, said today after conferences at draft headquarters that his state and others will have to resume drafting of 19-year-olds in the last half of 1954.

Leaving Washington after a four-day session of state directors with Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service chief, Wakefield said in a statement:

"It boils down to a matter of supply and demand. Whether we like it or not, the realistic fact remains that the demand from the armed forces to keep our strength consistent with our national safety is diminishing the manpower pool."

He explained that slightly more than one million men will reach the age of service liability in 1954, deferments and rejections will take up about half their number. With the services needing a million replacements, another half million men will have to be found.

Churchill And Laniel Fly Home From Talks

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, Dec. 10 (AP)—British Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel of France took a plane for their European capitals tonight after the conclusion of the Big Three conference. Laniel was still shaky from his illness.

Churchill, amid the cheers of 1,000 onlookers who braved a rain to see him off, said, "I trust our work here will not go unrewarded."

Laniel was warmly bundled up to avoid a recurrence of the lung infection which kept him in bed for five days during and after the conference.

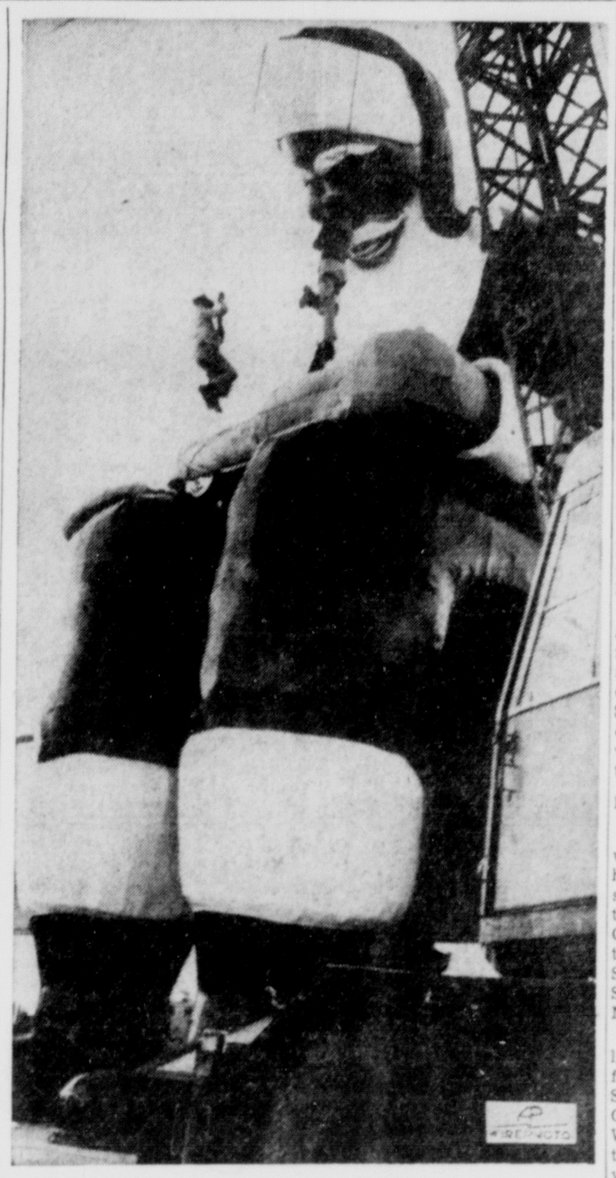
When the suitcases were checked later at a district police station the $303,720 was missing.

Hall has said that the officers left the suitcases in the room when they took him to the station.

Shoulders and Dolan have said they took the suitcases to the station along with Hall.



Death Plunge Scene

AFL President Quits As Stassen Adviser

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—AFL President George Meany resigned from the Foreign Operations Administration's public advisory board today, contending the agency was doing nothing to encourage anti-Communist labor unions abroad.

Meany's letter to FOA Administrator Harold Stassen said Congress had ordered FOA to help strengthen free labor unions over seas, yet "virtually the entire labor program of the agency has been dismantled" in recent months.

Stassen was in Europe, en route to Turkey and there was no immediate comment from his office here.

"Key" Labor Men Fired

Meany wrote that the AFL always has insisted on helping work ers in free countries because "in the final count, it is the will of the workers in the nations standing with us that will prove decisive in making the defense of the free world effective."

Military defenses "are only as strong as the will of those who man them and of the workers who back them up," he said.

Meany complained, too, that FOA has fired most of the "key labor officers" of its staff.

The AFL leader was the only labor member of FOA's advisory board, which was authorized by Congress months ago but organized only last week. CIO sources said CIO President Walter Reuther was "sounded out" last March, along with Meany, as a prospective board member but Reuther was not included when President Eisenhower appointed the group on Dec. 2.

Labor's Role Too Small

Lack of any member from the CIO or any other labor organization except the AFL apparently bothered eMany because his resignation letter said:

"In the consitution of the public advisory board itself, labor was not accorded full participation, distorting the representative character of this board. All of this leads me to conclude that the FOA is not alive to the role of labor in its program."

Plenty Of String Attached To Hobby

COLUMBUS, Kan. Dec. 10 (AP)—There's plenty of string attached to Ed Fout's hobby—338 miles of it, to be exact.

He'll have been collecting string 12 years on Dec. 12 winding it onto a ball that now measures 11 feet 8 inches around.

Unionist Blasts GE Loyalty Plan

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—An official of the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.) today denounced the new loyalty program of General Electric Co. as "anti-labor and un-American" and claimed it was dictated by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

In a letter to GE President Ralph Cordiner, Leo Jandreau, business agent of UE Local 301, said:

"It was McCarthy who demanded this policy from you and now you agree to place in the hands of McCarthy . . . the power of firing GE employes."

He said the UE would "take appropriate steps to protect the job security of all GE workers." He did not elaborate.

Jandreau claims UE is bargaining agent for 20,000 of the 40,000 GE workers in Schenectady, the company's main plant. The UE was expelled from the CIO in 1949 on the ground it was Communist-dominated.

Cordiner announced yesterday that General Electric would fire any employe who admitted communism, espionage or sabotage at a public hearing of any investigating agency. He said any employe who refused to testify would be suspended with pay for 90 days, pending an inquiry.

Balky Witness Is Tossed Out By McCarthy

Senator Refuses To Let Sobbing Man Deny Spy Charge

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — A shouting, sobbing witness was ejected from a Senate hearing today after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) refused to let him deny he ever spied for the Russians.

McCarthy declared he would listen to no speeches from a person who declined to say whether he was a Communist.

Angrily banging the table with a glass ashtray, McCarthy cut off repeated efforts by aircraft engineer Henry Nathan Shoiket, who once worked for Boeing aircraft in Seattle to volunteer the denial of espionage. In the end McCarthy waved in the capitol police and told them to "throw him out."

Refuses To Say If Red

Shoiket, who refused to say whether he is a Communist or how well he knew convicted atom spies Julius Rosenberg and Morton Sobell, was called before McCarthy's investigations subcommittee in its search for evidence of Soviet radar spying in the Army Signal Corps laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

McCarthy announced at the public hearing he will subpoena Telford Taylor, one of the United States prosecutors in the trial of German war criminals after World War II, for questioning in connection with the Ft. Monmouth investigation.

Taylor Would Respond

In New York Taylor said he would respond "to any congressional committee subpoena that may be issued to me."

Taylor, a former brigadier general in the Army, recently assailed the Ft. Monmouth probe in a speech at the U. S. Military Academy in West Point, N. Y. He said on that occasion McCarthy will be shown to be guilty of risking the nation's security if he fails to back up charges of recent spying at Ft. Monmouth.

McCarthy said Taylor has interested himself "very greatly" in the Ft. Monmouth probe and "some of his associations indicate he may be able to give us information of some value."

Parley Breakoff Delayed By Allies

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Dec. 11 (AP)—An Allied walkout appeared delayed today while United Nations negotiators do "everything possible" to set up a Korean peace conference as called for at the Bermuda Big Three meeting.

U.S. envoy Arthur Dean scheduled another session at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EST, Thursday) with Red negotiators.

Earlier this week Dean said he had authority to break off the seven-week-old preliminary talks and could wait only a "reasonable time."

Yesterday, however, he used the expression "everything possible" to newsmen, giving the impression that the impending walkout would be delayed. But even this clearly did not include any departure from the Allied stand that Russia cannot attend the peace conference as a "neutral."

Dean lashed out sharply during yesterday's two hour and 20 minute session at this Red demand which has proved the big stumbling block.

PANEL MEMBER—Ralph Seward (above), Washington attorney, has been chosen as the third and final member of a fact-finding panel that will examine terms of the New York newspaper strike settlement.

Demonstrators Mar Nobel Peace Prize Ceremony

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall received his 1953 Nobel peace prize today at a ceremony marred by Communist demonstrators who protested "his work is war and preparation for war."

"This is no peace candidate—Marshall go home!" a score of young Reds shouted in unison from the gallery of Oslo University's festival hall at the U. S. soldier statesman honored for the 17-billion-dollar Marshall Plan for European recovery.

Police pounced quickly on the group, but not before the Communists had rained leaflets titled "we protest" on a select audience headed by Norway's 18-year-old King Haakon VII.

Leaflets Denounce Marshall

The leaflets described Marshall, U. S. Army World War II chief of staff and postwar Secretary of State and Secretary of Defense, as "the man who decisively contributed to the atomic death of 100,000 people in Hiroshima and Nagasaki . . . and who contributed to the division of the world into two hostile blocs by launching his Marshall Plan and the Atlantic pact."

The interruption came as the president of the Norwegian Nobel committee, Gunnar Jahn, began reading the citation conferring the prize, one of six Nobel prizes conferred today in Oslo and in Stockholm under the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite.

When things quieted down, Jahn calmly continued. Then he handed Marshall a check for $33,840, a scroll and a gold medal encased in green leather stamped with gold.

Wife Accepts Churchill Prize

The 1952 peace prize, omitted last year, was presented in absentia to Dr. Albert Schweitzer, Alsatian-born philosopher, humanitarian and medical missionary.

Prime Minister Churchill whose writings and oratory won him the 1953 literature prize was the most notable of the group honored in Stockholm today, but his trip to Bermuda prevented him from being there to receive it.

Instead his smiling wife, Lady Churchill, stepped up to King Gustaf, curtsied, and accepted the diploma, medal and $33,840 check in his behalf at Stockholm's packed concert hall.

Fire Razes 300 Homes

TOKYO, Friday, Dec. 11 (AP)—A four-hour fire, fanned by a 40-mile wind, razed 300 homes last night at Uchinomachi, 180 miles north of Tokyo.

No casualties were reported.

Girl On Way To Store Meets Death At Hands Of Strangler

Missing all night she was found dead at 8:10 a.m. today in the back yard of the home of policeman Michael Proccacino, about two blocks from where she lived in the southwest section of the city.

Ironically, Proccacino himself had broadcast the first alarm that she was missing.

A desk officer at headquarters on the midnight to 8 a.m. shift, he handled the report that Mrs. Margaret Fiederowicz had telephoned to police about half an hour before he came on duty.

When Proccacino arrived home from work his wife called his attention to "a green and red thing" she had noticed lying by a tool shed in their back yard.

Investigating the policeman found Irene's body, her blue, red and yellow scarf knotted so tightly about her neck that it cut deeply into her flesh. A medical examiner said there was no question but that the scarf had been used to strangle her.

Her clothing was undisturbed and an autopsy showed she had not been sexually assaulted. Police, however, put the killing down tentatively as a sex crime.

A crushed and empty paper bag, such as stores use for groceries, lay beneath Irene's body. Her green purse contained 61 cents.

Mrs. Fiederowicz said she gave Irene a dollar about 7 p.m. and told her to go to a store about five blocks from their home to get some potatoes and a few other things.

Today's Chuckle

During dinner at a very proper gentleman's home, a guest was astonished to see his host pour his coffee from cup to saucer. To be polite the guest followed suit. Then the host added cream and sugar, and tasted the mixture. The guest was doing the same when the host set the saucer on the floor for his dog.

Fate Of Talks With 22 Yanks Is Uncertain

25 South Koreans Refuse To Listen To Explanations

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Dec. 11 (AP)—Twenty-five South Koreans refused "come home" interviews today and brought to a jarring halt the Allied explanations program to prisoners converted to communism.

The tactic left uncertain the fate of scheduled talks with 22 Americans and a Briton who refused to come home during the big armistice repatriation. They had been expected to be called to the interview center early next week.

The 25 South Koreans were among 30 called today. The first five entered explanation tents but refused to leave when interviews were completed.

At the start of today's talks, 78 South Korean converts to Communism still remained to be interviewed, in addition to the Americans and Briton. The 250 South Koreans previously interviewed had refused to come back from the Reds.

Captives Stage Sitdown

The first two captives interviewed today chose communism. The next three, including a woman, refused to leave explanation tents.

The first two captives interviewed apparently left the explanation tents under protest. At least one was escorted out by Indian guards. The two sat down on the cold ground behind the tents in 18 degree weather. After about 15 minutes they were invited back inside.

A spokesman said the Indian custodial force was taking a "wait and see" attitude toward the captives.

Some U. S. officers speculated earlier that the Reds may be trying to force a break in the interviews before the Americans and Briton are called up.

Change Of Mind Expected

Belief persists in the Allied camp that some of the Americans can be persuaded to accept repatriation.

Speculation that the Reds are aware of this and may want to break up the interviews was based on the behavior of 30 South Koeans questioned yesterday.

Although no real pressure was exerted upon them by South Korean explainers, these prisoners tried to drag out and snarl the sessions with screaming demonstrations and sitdowns.

Mrs. Portia Howe of Alden, Minn., the mother of Pfc. Richard F. Tenneson, was due by plane in Tokyo today in hopes she may go on to Korea and personally interview her son when he is brought before explainers.

Draft Of Youths, 19, Seen In 1954

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, Texas director of Selective Service, said today after conferences at draft headquarters that his state and others will have to resume drafting of 19-year-olds in the last half of 1954.

Leaving Washington after a four-day session of state directors with Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service chief, Wakefield said in a statement:

"It boils down to a matter of supply and demand. Whether we like it or not, the realistic fact remains that the demand from the armed forces to keep our strength consistent with our national safety is diminishing the manpower pool."

He explained that slightly more than one million men will reach the age of service liability in 1954, deferments and rejections will take up about half their number. With the services needing a million replacements, another half million men will have to be found.

Churchill And Laniel Fly Home From Talks

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, Dec. 10 (AP)—British Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel of France took a plane for their European capitals tonight after the conclusion of the Big Three conference. Laniel was still shaky from his illness.

Churchill, amid the cheers of 1,000 onlookers who braved a rain to see him off, said, "I trust our work here will not go unrewarded."

Laniel was warmly bundled up to avoid a recurrence of the lung infection which kept him in bed for five days during and after the conference.

House Unit Seen Rejecting Ike's Move To Defer Security Tax Hike

Proposal Opposed By Chairman Reed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Rep. Robert W. Kean (R-NJ) predicted today the House Ways and Means Committee almost certainly will reject President Eisenhower's request to cancel a scheduled social security tax increase.

He commented after Committee Chairman Daniel W. Reed (R-NY) issued a statement strongly opposing the proposal. At the same time, Reed pledged quick action to "broaden and strengthen" social security.

Kean, usually an administration supporter, said he sounded out five other committee Republicans some time ago and all of them were against the President's request.

The social security tax on both workers and employers jumps automatically on Jan. 1 from 1½ to 2 per cent of wages up to $3,600 annually. Eisenhower has asked that the increase be deferred for at least one year.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and House Republican Leader (R-Ind) have supported Eisenhower's proposal. The tax affects some 65 million workers.

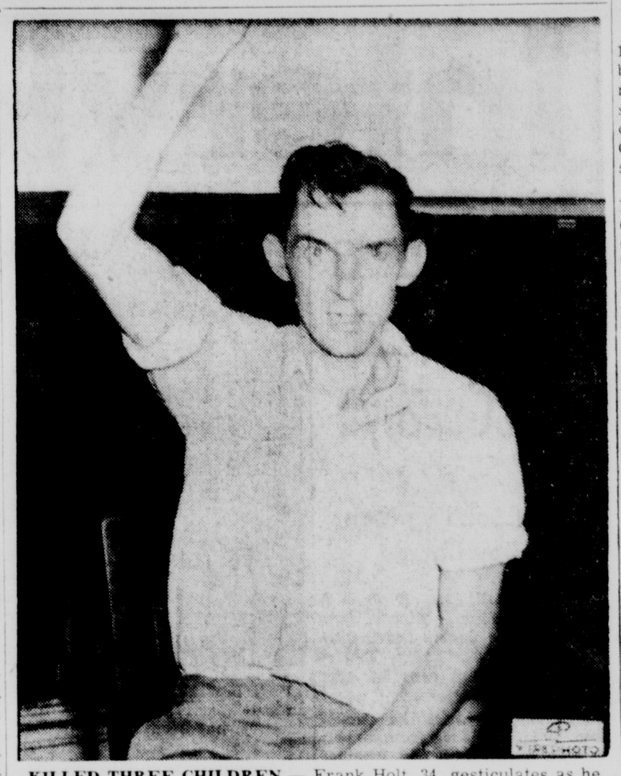
Kean said some congressmen appear to be concerned that the social security tax increase would mean a net reduction in take home pay for some low income workers, despite a 10 per cent cut in individual income tax rates also set for Jan. 1.

"The two taxes are entirely different and it is misleading to compare them that way," Kean said in an interview. "The social security tax is reserved solely for death or retirement benefits for workers, and this program must be protected and maintained on a financially sound basis.

"If we want to give more tax benefits to low income workers, we should do so through regular income taxes or other revenue laws if that is fiscally practical."

Reed, reviving his opposition to canceling the tax increase, said:

"I believe that the American people want social security and are willing to pay for it. While I strongly favor tax reduction and believe that the people are entitled to a larger reduction than that now scheduled, I do not believe that such a tax cut should be achieved at the expense of a sound social security system."



KILLED THREE CHILDREN — Frank Holt, 34, gesticulates as he is questioned by police at Steubenville, O. Deputy Sheriff Russell Wilsac said Holt went beserk, beating three of his five children to death and severely injuring the others. Plans Of Defiant Justice To Hold Court Suffer Jolt

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 10 (AP)—A counterattack in "the battle of the bench" seemed tonight to have flattened plans of the suspended Chief Justice of the U.S. court system in Germany, William Clark, to hold court despite his suspension.

Acting Chief Justice Carl W. Fulghum of Glenwood Springs, Colo., announced he had postponed until Jan. 18 the hearings that had been scheduled for next Monday in the three-judge U.S. Court of Appeals.

Defied "Return" Order

That puts the session 10 days beyond the effective date of Clark's dismissal by the State Department—announced before he was suspended yesterday on a charge of insubordination for ignoring an order to return home by Dec. 7 for consultations in Washington.

Fulghum's postponement of the session left Clark momentarily with nothing to say. The wealthy, 62-year-old jurist from Princeton, N.J., a critic of both the U.S. High Commission and State Department employes he calls "cookie pushers," told reporters he had no comment at this time.

Fireworks Anticipated

The action came after a day which saw Clark call Fulghum's appointment as his successor illegal, express hurt that Fulghum had accepted, and promise to open court Monday "even if I sit on the bench alone."

It may have only postponed until next month the fireworks expected if two justices try to preside at the same time.

For the tall, rugged Clark already has announced he will regard his dismissal with the same disdain he treated the order to return home for consultations.

West Virginia's Forest Closing Law Held Valid

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—An attorney general's opinion upheld today the validity of a 1953 legislative act permitting the conservation director to close the state's woodlands in times of forest fire danger.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert E. Magnuson said the act represented both a valid exercise of state police powers, from the standpoint of protecting public safety, and a statute within a definition of reasonableness.

The law permits the conservation director to close "any forest land or any part thereof to all entry" in case of danger from fire to life or property.

In the opinion which was requested by Hardy County Prosecutor W. D. McCuley, Magnuson noted that "industrial and other bona fide users" were permitted to enter the forests, and that such provisions also apparently extend to property owners.

Ike Fires Two Demos On War Claims Group

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — President Eisenhower today fired the two Democrats on the War Claims Commission for refusing to resign and appointed three Republicans to succeed them and to fill a vacancy.

The third member, Daniel F. Cleary, a Chicago Democrat, died last Saturday. The commission, created four years ago, adjudicates claims of American military prisoners and a civilian internees of Japan in World War II.

The President ousted, effective tomorrow, Mrs. Georgia L. Lusk, former U. S. representative from New Mexico, and Myron Wiener, New York lawyer, saying he wished to complete the work of the commission with members of his own selection.

In their place, and to fill the Cleary vacancy, he named to the $14,000 a year post:

Mrs. Pearl C. Pace, Republican national committeewoman for Kentucky and a former sheriff; Whitney Gillilland of Glenwood, Iowa, a former Republican state chairman and now an assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Benson; and Raymond T. Armbruster, Yonkers, N. Y., lawyer.

Truck And Train Crash; One Dead

ZEBULON, Ga., Dec. 10 (AP)—A giant, heavily loaded tractor trailer truck and a Southern Railway freight train crashed at a street crossing here last night, shearing off the front end of the freight's diesel engine.

The truck driver, Clem Lipford, 27, of Elizabethtown, Tenn., died in the flaming wreckage of his cab and three trainmen were hurt. The injured were engineer H. E. Allgood, brakeman E. J. Wolfe and fireman Fred Thurman, all of Atlanta.

The truck was loaded with rolls of nylon thread en route from the North American Rayon Corp. of Childersburg, Ala., to a Barnesville, Ga., textile mill.

The impact tore the truck tractor from the trailer and spun it through the air. The freight engine and two cars were hurled from the track and wreckage tossed for a block alongside the tracks. Flying debris wrecked the front of a section hand's house near the Zebulon depot.

Associate Says Webb Not Planning To Wed

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10 (AP) — An associate of Jack Webb today quoted the star of "Dragnet" as saying "I'm not marrying anybody, except my work."

He said Webb made this further comment on a New York report that he would marry TV actress Dorothy Towne:

"I work 14 hours a day and if possible I'd sleep on the stage to be nearer my work."

Webb, 33, was divorced by actress Julie London, 26, last Nov. 25 in Los Angeles. The decree will not be final for a year under California law. Miss London, who got a half million dollar settlement including support for two daughters, testified that Webb told her it would be impossible for him to continue work and his marriage, too. He did not contest the action.

Way Paved For New Baltimore Taxes

BALTIMORE, Dec. 9 (AP) — The City Council today paved the way for passage of new taxes on fuels and utilities and a cent-a-pack increase on the cigarette tax.

By adopting favorable reports on ordinances containing these levies, the council set them up for adoption at another special session tomorrow.

Ex-POW Faints Twice As He Tells Newsmen Of Russian Torture

HANNOVER, Germany, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gasping in near hysteria, British World War II paratrooper Frank James Kelly accused the Russians today of falsely imprisoning him for over seven years and torturing him "like barbarians and cannibals." He fainted twice while telling his story.

Pvt. Kelly was captured by the Germans at Arnheim in 1944 while serving with an airborne medical unit. He said the Red army liberated him the following year but then sent him to a Soviet prison.

The Russians turned him over to the British last month before his 10-year sentence expired. Today he was brought to army headquarters from Hannover military hospital in a wheelchair to tell his story to newsmen. An army doctor gave him restoratives when he collapsed during the interview.

Woman Driver Held After Wild Chase

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 10 A woman driver who "just gets excited" was in custody today after exciting a great many policemen.

The officers did the shooting. Gerald Schwartz, Miami area publicity man, complained their aim wasn't too good. One bullet broke his windshield and the glass creased his scalp.

The President ousted, effective tomorrow, Mrs. Georgia L. Lusk, former U. S. representative from New Mexico, and Myron Wiener, New York lawyer, saying he wished to complete the work of the commission with members of his own selection.

In their place, and to fill the Cleary vacancy, he named to the $14,000 a year post:

Mrs. Pearl C. Pace, Republican national committeewoman for Kentucky and a former sheriff; Whitney Gillilland of Glenwood, Iowa, a former Republican state chairman and now an assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Benson; and Raymond T. Armbruster, Yonkers, N. Y., lawyer.

Legless Korean Youngster Given New Set Of Limbs

BOYS TOWN, Neb., Dec. 10 (AP)—Song Yong Cho, 12-year-old legless Korean boy who pulled at GI heart strings until they got him to the United States, was an inch taller today, thanks to a new pair of artificial limbs.

Song, who lost his legs from frostbite in the evacuation of Seoul in the winter of 1950, was found by Sgt. Harold Douglas Hattiesburg, Miss., crawling around in a depot at Pusan shining GI's shoes.

Douglas, impressed with the spirit of the boy, "adopted" him and arranged for the fitting of a pair of temporary limbs. Then the sergeant set out to get Song admitted to Boys Town, world-famous haven for homeless boys.

When Song arrived here last May, E. V. Lucas, owner of the Twin City Artifical Limb Co. at Council Bluffs, Iowa, volunteered to keep Song in legs until the lad attained his full growth.

Lucas, an amputee himself completed an annual fitting today, increasing the Song's leg size by an inch. Each year, he said, the legs would be refitted to compensate for the boy's growth.

A Boys Town spokesman said Song had "acclimated himself well" and had even gone in for some sports—like baseball and swimming.

A Korean priest, who was in this country studying, spent a lot of time last summer tutoring the boy in English. When Song arrived he knew only "GI terms," hardly the kind of English American boys learn in a classroom.

Reds Relieve Bishop

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Most Rev. Karel Skoupy, Roman Catholic bishop of Brno, has been relieved from his office by Czechoslovakia's Communist regime, the Vienna Catholic News Service reported today.

Bishop Skoupy's duties have been taken over by the Rt. Rev. Kratochvil (no first name given) of the Brno episcopate, who is known for his friendship with the Communist regime.

Mrs. Max Goldsmith, Agoura, Calif., came upon the young squirrel, lost from its mother. She introduced them by stroking the kittens just after petting the squirrel, thus transferring his odor to the kittens. That seemed to satisfy the mother cat (left) and now they're fast friends.

CARE OF WALL TO WALL CARPETING

To maintain the new appearance of carpeting, experience proves that spots should be removed as they appear rather than doing an over-all cleaning job once or twice each year.

There is available a foam cleaner that does not leave rings when removing spots since it contains no naphtha or solvents. The use of this foam when spots appear, preserves the new appearance and life of carpeting. This cleaner known as Fina Foam may be purchased at ROSENBAUM'S.

Yule Tree Fire Extinguisher Decoration "Dangerous"

BOSTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Fire chiefs in Massachusetts were warned today by the state fire marshal that a Christmas tree decoration designed to explode at a certain temperature and extinguish blazes is dangerous, "and could cause death."

Marshal Robert F. Ulm described the ornament as a ball filled with carbon tetrachloride which "when it comes in contact with open flame produces a deadly gas (phosgene)."

Ulm said "it is recognized that vaporizing liquid extinguishers in approved type devices are suitable only for class "B" and "C" type fires," which were explained as liquid and electric.

He added that a Christmas tree is classified as class "A", ordinary combustible material, where quantities of water, or a solution with large quantities of water, are needed.

In Philadelphia, Robert T. Luff, vice-president of the Paper and Coorugated Specialities Co., which manufactures the ornaments, said: "Our extinguisher is exactly the same as any extinguisher sold throughout the country today, except that it contains eight ounces of carbon tetrachloride, one-half the amount of the smallest other extinguisher sold."

Eisenhower And The Atom

President Eisenhower's address of December 8 to the United Nations General Assembly should be read in the light of his proposals in a foreign policy speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors on April 16.

The President then proposed "the most solemn agreements" in five categories, aimed at "the reduction of the burden of armaments now weighing upon the world." The third and fourth of these agreements, in the President's words, were:

"International control of atomic energy to promote its use for peaceful purposes only, and to insure the prohibition of atomic weapons.

"A limitation or prohibition of other categories of weapons of great destruction."

Also proposed were: limitation "by absolute numbers or by an agreed international ratio" of the size of military forces, limitation of the proportion of production of certain strategic materials to be devoted to military purposes, enforcement of agreements by "adequate safeguards, including a practical system of inspection under the United Nations."

In return for these agreements, President Eisenhower offered to the world "a new kind of war." The government of the United States, said its chief executive, "is ready to ask its people to join with all nations in devoting a substantial percentage of any savings achieved by real disarmament to a fund for world aid and reconstruction." This same proposal had been broached by former President Truman before the U. N.

On the Eisenhower speech in April, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet representative to the U. N., offered only the comment that the five-point disarmament program was "interesting but not completely accurate."

The President's April address was recalled on September 17 Secretary of State Dulles, in a speech to the U. N. General Assembly. Dulles pointed out that on previous U. S. disarament proposals—which had "attracted widespread support"—this nation is "not inflexible; except that we do insist that any proposal must meet one fundamental test—there must be effective safeguards to ensure the compliance of all nations and to give adequate warning of possible evasions or violations."

Since the disclosure of atomic and hydrogen explosions in Russia, the United States has yielded to the Soviet view that the problems of atomic and of conventional weapons should be combined in a disarmament program. But the United States has taken the position that the bomb should not be outlawed until an international control system is perfected.

There have been other major areas of disagreement with Russia on atomic control. Russia wants a Security Council veto on international action on atomic energy. The United States has advocated international ownership of atomic facilities; Russia, ownership by national authorities under an international treaty. And Russia wants A-bombs destroyed before, rather than after, international control is instituted. But perhaps the biggest stumbling-block is the Russian insistence, repeated by Vishinsky at the present U. N. session with the admission that it was "old stuff," on a one-third arms cut across the board by the major powers.

Safety At Yuletide

There's nothing so cheerful as a blazing log in the fire place in the Christmas season or a good warm fire in the furnace or stove. These are friendly fires that help mankind enjoy friendly days and evenings.

But when fire breaks out of bounds, the cheering warmth quickly changes to destructive heat, and tragedy stalks through the home.

The home contains more fire hazards during the holiday season than at any other time of the year. Flammable Christmas trees, package wrappings, candles, use of additional electric cords—all of these result in an increase in the fire threat.

Few people realize that a Christmas tree is one of the most flammable objects known. It is filled with pitch and resin. Once ignited a Christmas tree is difficult to extinguish. The average tree will be consumed by flames in two minutes.

A few important Christmas tree suggestions listed by a safety expert are:

1. Do not set up the tree until a few days before Christmas.

2. Place the tree in the coolest part of the house. If necessary, shut off the radiator closest to the tree.

3. Do not, under any circumstances, use cotton or paper for decoration on the tree or around the tree.

4. Make certain that all lighting is turned off before retiring or leaving the house.

Adults should take care to provide safe toys when choosing Christmas gifts for children. Chemical sets and toys requiring alcohol, kerosene, gasoline and carbide lamps may be hazardous in juvenile hands and adults should be alert to the risks involved.

Christmas is a time for sharing—sharing things of the spirit as well as gifts. It's a time for gathering 'round the tree to share pleasure in giving with family and friends. While unwrapping gifts (and before that—when putting up the tree and buying gifts) it would be a wonderful gesture to share safety, too, this Christmas.

Indispensable

If the New York newspaper strike accomplished nothing else, it at least provided a dramatic example to 10,000,000 Americans how much a taken-for-granted product is missed when it no longer can be had.

Although the radio and television stations in New York greatly extended their news services, a large gap remained in the public's craving for complete news coverage.

Boiled down, the difference between these news mediums is the fact that people not only want to hear the news, they also want to read about it.

Radio and TV broadcasts must, of necessity, be condensed. Only the most import items can be broadcast, and even these stories must be shortened to fit the time allotted.

This, of course, is where the newspaper enters the picture. Not only are the stories covered in more minute detail; there is more variety, thereby insuring greater satisfaction of individual likes and dislikes.

These are only a few of the many reasons, as New Yorkers found out, why there is no substitute for a newspaper.

How To Keep Well

The New And Old In Arthritis

Rheumatoid arthritis is a chronic disease. It may last a lifetime but it never causes death. When the condition is incapacitating, the victims live a quiet and sedentary life and as a result rarely die of coronary thrombosis, high blood pressure, or accidents.

In the past five years, ACTH and cortisone have overshadowed all other forms of treatment. Their dramatic effects led many to believe that the problem of arthritis was solved. But not everyone is helped by these hormones and many are unable to continue taking them because reactions occur. When the product is stopped after recovery, some remain well for years whereas others have a recurrence within a few weeks.

Many of the basic treatments of arthritis have been set aside in view of the miracles that took place with ACTH and cortisone. Rheumatoid arthritis is a constitutional disease; in other words, the painful and swollen joints are external manifestations of an internal disturbance. The sufferer loses weight, is tired, and anemic. The changes in the sedimentation rate and the white blood count are signs also that a generalized infection exists.

Regardless of the miracle remedies, the arthritic still needs more rest than a well person. Rest in bed is a must when fever and active inflammation are present. Otherwise the individual may be up and about provided he obtains 10 to 12 hours of sleep at night. A well balanced, nourishing, and high caloric diet provides energy and strength and prevents further weight loss. Vitamins improve the feeling of well-being and iron may be needed to correct anemia.

The salicylates, including the lowly aspirin tablet, are capable of relieving most of the pain and make the day more pleasant and the night more restful. Physical therapy improves muscle tone and lessens stiffness. Heat in any form is beneficial. The heating pad, hot water bottle, and warm, moist dressings are simple to prepare.

Others prefer the paraffin whirlpool, or contrast baths. The infra-red lamp is a handy home remedy but diathermy, short wave, and supersonic equipment require expert supervision. Recovery is never complete unless the muscles are given attention and many exercises are designed to strengthen those that support the ankles, knees, hips, and back.

Many of the older arthritis remedies are still in vogue. Gold injections, for example, are making a comeback because there are new ways to overcome the toxic reactions to the drug. The British antilewisite (BAL) product is an excellent antidote for gold poisoning and ACTH relieves the skin reactions. Foreign protein injections are still employed occasionally and now and then blood transfusions when everything else fails. X-ray treatments for rheumatoid arthritis of the back sometimes lead to dramatic results. Vaccines, massive doses of vitamins, sex hormones, sulfur, iodides, and bee venom are of questionable value.

F. C. H. writes: I have a duodenal ulcer and would like to know if I could go on a milk or buttermilk diet as I am very fond of both.

REPLY

Milk is only a part of the treatment. Why not ask the physician who took the X-rays for a more complete ulcer diet and to prescribe one of the modern remedies that controls the acid secretion in the stomach?

BLACK AND BLUE

M. writes: What causes the small veins on the skin surface to rupture and hemorrhage?

REPLY

The bleeding may be due to fragile capillaries or a disturbance of the blood clotting mechanism.

REPLY

To my knowledge there is no evidence that it does.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

White House Surveillance Irks GOP Legislators; Cong. Curtis Lavish Spender Of Taxpayers' Money; Kefauver Gets Slim Thanks For Helping Meyner Win

WASHINGTON—Looks like trouble ahead in Congress. The White House has been asking various congressional chairman for a complete agenda of the legislation they expect to take up next year. The idea of the White House keeping such a close check on them has so rankled some chairmen that they have refused to answer the letter. Yet they're all members of the same party . . . The White House is now treating New York's cantankerous Rep. Dan Reed, allpowerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, with kid gloves. Formerly, Ike wrote letters to Reed, proposing specific legislation. Now the letters courteously ask Reed what he has in mind . . . But the 78-year-old New Yorker seems to enjoy being ornery. He even reversed his stand on the social security tax—apparently just to be obstructive. The White House has been trying to coax Congress into postponing this tax increase which will automatically counteract the income-tax decrease next month for most low-income families. Previously Reed has been against the social security tax rise. But now he's reversed himself and is fighting to keep it—in order to hamstring the President . . . If Senator McCarthy finds the crowd seems bored with what he is saying, he abruptly interrupts his speech and hauls his lovely wife up on the platform to be introduced . . . Massachusetts' grandmotherly Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers noticed several servicemen wandering around the Capitol Building the other day. She quietly rounded them up and invited all to lunch.

Fast Money-Spender

GOP Congressman Carl Curtis of Nebraska is quietly setting a new record for spending the taxpayers' money.

The gentleman from Minden, Neb., is chairman of a Ways and Means subcommittee that is probing the social security program. He was voted $100,000 for this probe, and Curtis could hardly dissipate it faster if he took a bushel basket of $10 bills and scattered them to the capital winds. For a simple study of the old-age-pension system, mostly confined to warmed-over actuarial testimony, the congressman has lined up the following fabulous payroll:

Robert Winn, an attorney, is being paid $5,000 for serving as chief counsel of the subcommittee from September 21 to December 31—or at the rate of about $20,000 a year, the same scale paid to a justice of the Supreme Court.

George R. Leighton, a magazine writer connected with the Senate GOP Policy Committee, is getting $10,000 for research and investigative work for a six-month period from July 1 to December 31—also at the rate of $20,000 a year.

The rest of the staff for this obscure little subcommittee is composed of actuaries, research workers, and clerks, including:

James E. Finke, $7,500 for six months; Howard Friend, $7,500 for six months; Howard Metz, $2,850 for three months; W. R. Williamson, $3,000 for four months; Rita Campbell, $9,543 a year; Alice Hill, $9,003 a year; George Shigekawa, $8,400.

Curtis's payroll, however, is no less astounding than the procedure at subcommittee hearings, which is carefully contrived to build up a deadly case of damaging evidence against the social security system.

Witnesses who testified against the pension-retirement program, including a few from the Department of Health and Welfare, were given advance copies of "loaded" questions they were to be asked at hearings. In some cases, the witnesses even rehearsed their answers with subcommittee staff members before testifying.

This may have been why Arthur J. Altmeyer, former social security boss, who testified in defense of the pension program, angrily remarked to Counsel Winn:

"Outside of the chairman (Rep. Curtis,) you are doing more to destroy the confidence of the American people in the social security program than anybody in the country."

Politico-Go-Round

Senator Kefauver will probably look twice before he accepts another invitation from Democratic Governor-elect Bob Meyner to speak in New Jersey. Kefauver stuck his neck out, went all the way to New Jersey to make a crusading tour of the state to elect Meyner. Then Meyner turned around, held a press conference urging Adlai Stevenson for president . . . Adlai didn't venture into New Jersey . . . Senator Duff of Pennsylvania, the Republican who first proposed Eisenhower for president, hasn't yet been invited to the White House. He has gone to the White House, but always on his own suggestion . . . Several Democrats are jockeying to run for Congress from Harry Truman's home town, now represented by Jeffrey Hillelson, the Republican who campaigned as a "poor but honest" grocery clerk, and immediately after election married into the Goetz brewing fortune. Margaret Truman has toyed with running, but now it looks as if she probably won't. Ex-Congressman George Christopher is also in the warm-up, together with Stanley Fike, assistant to Sen. Stuart Symington.

Merry-Go-Round

Marty Lacey, New York Teamster boss and a power in Tammany politics, has pledged his cooperation to the new AFL union to clean up the waterfront, but hasn't done much beyond that . . . Postmaster General Summerfield should take a look at what he's doing to the good-neighbor policy by upping second-class mail rates to Latin America. In Mexico, 150,000 U. S. magazines are sold per month, most of them to Mexicans. Some patriotic Americans, notably Albert Croissant of Occidental College, California, are collecting magazines to help build goodwill in Europe. Meanwhile the Mexicans buy them. But they won't if Summerfield's new rates for Latin America go through . . . Books are hit even harder than magazines by the new rates . . . Myer Goldman and Charles La Roche of Peterborough, N. H., propose "Fares to Moscow"—namely, one-way tickets to American Communists so they can travel to their "holy land" in Moscow . . . The National Association of Manufacturers got hung up by the McCarthy book-burning program. They offered one of their books—very safe and solid—to the State Department, finally got a reply that "no one in the State Department is in a position to take the responsibility of approving your book."

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—Eisenhower administration officials thought it out long and hard in advance before they decided that Vice President Richard M. Nixon and then Secretary of State John Foster Dulles should say the United States made a mistake by disarming Japan and Germany after World War II.

On such matters of foreign policy, the administration still wants and realizes it needs Democratic support. For Nixon and Dulles to claim the Democrats "blundered" on such a vital issue as disarmament required careful handling. That is why both of them made it a point of saying that the mistake was a justified, honest one; that it was based on the premise, logical at the time., that Russia would continue its friendly alliance with the Western world.

Of course, the statements by Nixon and Dulles were intended primarily for Japanese and German ears. The Japanese in particular have been reluctant to rebuild their armed strength. For one thing, they and many Germans couldn't see the logic of it all—for the United States to take their arms away and, seven years later, insist on rearming them.

Smith Resigning?

There is talk in congressional circles that Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith will resign next year because of ill health.

President Eisenhower is known to be highly pleased with the work of the former head of the Central Intelligence Agency and ambassador to Moscow, and it's considered likely that he will ask Smith to stay on the job. He may even ask Smith to take a prolonged rest and return to his job when he feels up to it.

Incidentally, Smith is known to be one of the principal foes in the State Department of Wisconsin's junior senator, Joseph R. McCarthy.. McCarthy, said these same congressional sources, will also be most pleased if diplomat John P. Davies Jr. is forced to resign — which they predict will happen. Smith, of course, is known to have supported Davies when he was under fire by congressional critics.

Federal Aid Needed

The Eisenhower administration made an unusually strong plea to the real estate industry recently to quit bickering over the housing program the President will submit to Congress next year.

Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole delivered the lecture to the National Association of Real Estate Boards at its annual convention in Los Angeles.

The speech served to point up a behind-the-scenes battle that has taken place inside President Eisenhower's recently appointed housing advisory committee which is headed by Cole.

There have been frequent reports that the various industry and labor committee members are poles apart in helping the administration to chart a new housing program. Such things as public housing, interest rates and credit terms have been under intense discussion.

Cole told the NAREB convention that federal assistance offers the only prospect of meeting some of the nation's housing problems. He said: "I believe that we will need to develop a considerable degree of tolerance in the housing field in order to build a housing policy that, though not fully acceptable to any one point of view, will be generally acceptable to most."

Housing experts generally believe this approach will serve to unify the committee somewhat and that in the end a unanimous report will be submitted to the President.

Ickes On Communism

We must be grateful that some public officials keep diaries and arrange to have them published. Harold Ickes was a strong-minded man who held strong opinions on many subjects. Ickes's diary consists of about 6,000,000 words, of which only a comparatively few have yet seen the light of day.

There is a conflict in what I am about to quote between the version in the book, "The Secret Diary of Harold L. Ickes," and the version in "Look" magazine. The book gives it this way:

"I had an interesting talk on Sunday with Secretary Dern as we drove down to Annapolis on our way to Jefferson Island. I have grown to like Dern a good deal and to respect his point of view. He is really a progressive, but he is the quiet, self-contained sort that does not express himself very much. But he has principles and stands by them. He feels about Red hunting as I do and thinks it is absurd to deny Communists an opportunity to express themselves or to have a ticket on the ballot. I believe he would be as unhappy in a communistic state as I would be. He feels, as I do, that it is better to bend somewhat to the wind than to be torn from the trunk of the tree and dashed to the ground."

"Look" puts it this way:

"I had an interesting talk with Secretary of War Dern on our way to Jefferson Island. He feels about Red hunting just as I do and thinks it is absurd to deny Communists an opportunity to express themselves or to have a ticket on the ballot. He thinks, as I do, that we are working toward a society of modified communism, although I believe he would be as unhappy in a Communistic state as I. He feels, as I do, that it is better to bend to the wind than be torn from the trunk of the tree and dashed to the ground."

The sentence: "He thinks, as I do, that we are working toward a society of modified communism . . .", which appeared in "Look," is omitted from the book, for what reason I do not know.

Ickes disclosed an amazingly cynical story that gives us an insight into the technique of the cover-up which has plagued this country so in recent years. It appears that in 1935, the Third International in Moscow had decided that the American Communist party should support Roosevelt in 1936 unless a more satisfactory candidate appeared. Ickes says that James W. Fawcett of the Washington Star telephoned to him to say that two copies of the minutes of this Moscow conference were in this country, an incomplete one in the State Department, a complete one in the hands of the Hearst newspapers. Ickes called Steve Early, the President's secretary, and told him about it. Then Ickes has this to say:

"Significantly enough, on Monday morning there appeared a big story indicating the possibility of the severance of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. A sharp note has gone to the Soviet government through our Ambassador Bullitt, based upon supposed encouragement by the U.S.S.R. of communistic activities in this country in spite of the assurance of that country at the time that we resumed diplomatic relations that nothing of this sort would be done. Our State Department, of course, with the full encouragement of the President, is apparently pressing this matter vigorously. This movement to sever diplomatic relations is a very sudden one. At least there was no indication of anything of the sort at the last cabinet meeting or at any preceding one. My suspicion is that this is a shrewd counterattack to destroy the effect of the anticipated Hearst blast against the President."

I wish Ickes were alive so that I might ask him what he meant by the phrase, "a society of modified communism." How do you modify communism? I should also like to know whether he kept two diaries, one for publication by Simon and Schuster and the other for publication by "Look." Which is correct? Which has been edited out and for what reason? The omission of half a sentence, the content of which is the most significant in the book, cannot be explained by the ancient excuse of saving space. That half sentence was omitted for some other reason.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — (INS) — An important book has been published in defense of American justice. It is "The Rosenberg Case—Fact And Fiction," by Dr. S. Andhil Fineberg, former Marine, president of the National Association of Jewish Community Relations Workers, and author.

Published by a firm named Oceana Publications today, it will not get a very good review in "The Daily Worker." It is a book of truth. Perhaps only one other man could have done better—Federal Judge Irving Kaufman—and it is not the desire of this man of tremendous character and nobility to write about the case.

About the last "official" statement about the Rosenbergs came from their attorney, Emanuel H. Bloch, who, in addition to shouting that he was ashamed of being a U. S. citizen also said, "This was the face of Nazism that killed the Rosenbergs. I place the murder at the door of President Eisenhower, Attorney General Brownell and J. Edgar Hoover. This is not American justice. America today is living under the heel of a military dictator garbed in civilian attire."

Lawyer Bloch, who has done pretty well in this dictatorship he speaks of, figures prominently in Dr. Fineberg's book. The Bloch who put on the show at the funeral parlor and at the grave is the same Bloch who said at the close of the trial, "I want to extend my appreciation to the court for its courtesies, and again I repeat I want to extend my appreciation for the courtesies extended to me and my staff by Mr. Saypol and the members of his staff, as well as the members of the FBI."

To the jury he said, ". . . A lawyer does not always win a case; all that a lawyer expects is a jury to decide a case on the evidence with mature deliberation. I feel satisfied by reason of the length of time that you took for your deliberations, as well as the questions asked during the course of your deliberations, that you examined very carefully the evidence and came to a certain conclusion."

Dr. Fineberg, like unto all students of this unique test of the Espionage Act of 1917, was attracted by what seemed to this reporter the most fascinating part of the story: Who tipped off the Kremlin that the Rosenbergs would not "talk" and who kept them silent while the Reds spent millions propagandizing them? You must read Dr. Fineberg's book to get the low-down.

For a full year after the arrest of the Rosenbergs they were ignored by the Communist press. "The Worker" did not cover their trial. Then, acting in concert in November, 1952, Communist papers and writers and followers of the Red line opened up a world-wide campaign to "save" the Rosenbergs. There were mass meetings in African jungles, and the propaganda program assumed so many false guises that even Pius XII, the earth's foremost opponent of Communism, felt it necessary to inform Washington the pleas for intercession he was receiving.

Dr. Fineberg calls Dr. Harold Urey, famed nuclear physicist now with the Univeristy of Chicago "the chief witness of the propaganda campaign." Dr. Urey cast public doubt on the testimony of David Greenglass, Mrs. Rosenberg's brother whose testimony helped to convict the pair, and in other ways lent his name to a movement which Dr. Fineberg finds to have been Communist inspired and Communist directed.

The Reds did a good job with the Rosenbergs, two thoroughly indoctrinated and dedicated Communists who readily entered into the machinery which led them to their deaths.

The Reds persuaded perhaps millions through the world, and a lot of people in this country, that the pair was railroaded. The Rosenbergs, Dr. Fineberg points out in great detail, were but smokescreens for the Kremlin's vicious purges of Jews behind the Iron Curtain.

It is to be hoped his book reaches at least some of the people who fell for the biggest line of hokum the Reds have dumped on the world since they posed as allies in World War II.

Arnold Should Have Waited

This writer was the first to suggest that hiding behind the Fifth Amendment was ambushing a fish in aspic.

If the answer tends to incriminate you then you are as guilty as a cat in a bird cage.

Now Congress intends to do a little thumb twiddling with boxing gloves on. But why go to all the trouble of amending an amendment? When we already have a cowcatcher on the old woodburner?

In May, 1810, Congress proposed an amendment that any citizen accepting any title, honor or pension, from a foreign power, or office or emolument therefrom, unless okayed by Congress, shall automatically cease to be a citizen.

Said amending plaster met the approval of Maryland, Kentucky, Ohio, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Vermont, Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

For some reason it was rejected by Rhode Island, New York, South Carolina and Connecticut. By the via, Connecticut, Georgia and Massachusetts never did ratify the Bill of Rights with other legislatures when the First Congress proposed it in September, 1789.

But it became a law anyway under the maxim that three-fourths of the legislatures are sufficient unto the evil thereof.

The 1810 amendment was defeated at a time when four negatives could pull the plug. Is there any reason why it shouldn't be put up again?

Can an amendment be amended? We did it to the Eighteenth, didn't we?

Eisenhower And The Atom

President Eisenhower's address of December 8 to the United Nations General Assembly should be read in the light of his proposals in a foreign policy speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors on April 16.

The President then proposed "the most solemn agreements" in five categories, aimed at "the reduction of the burden of armaments now weighing upon the world." The third and fourth of these agreements, in the President's words, were:

"International control of atomic energy to promote its use for peaceful purposes only, and to insure the prohibition of atomic weapons.

"A limitation or prohibition of other categories of weapons of great destruction."

Also proposed were: limitation "by absolute numbers or by an agreed international ratio" of the size of military forces, limitation of the proportion of production of certain strategic materials to be devoted to military purposes, enforcement of agreements by "adequate safeguards, including a practical system of inspection under the United Nations."

In return for these agreements, President Eisenhower offered to the world "a new kind of war." The government of the United States, said its chief executive, "is ready to ask its people to join with all nations in devoting a substantial percentage of any savings achieved by real disarmament to a fund for world aid and reconstruction." This same proposal had been broached by former President Truman before the U. N.

On the Eisenhower speech in April, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet representative to the U. N., offered only the comment that the five-point disarmament program was "interesting but not completely accurate."

The President's April address was recalled on September 17 Secretary of State Dulles, in a speech to the U. N. General Assembly. Dulles pointed out that on previous U. S. disarament proposals—which had "attracted widespread support"—this nation is "not inflexible; except that we do insist that any proposal must meet one fundamental test—there must be effective safeguards to ensure the compliance of all nations and to give adequate warning of possible evasions or violations."

Since the disclosure of atomic and hydrogen explosions in Russia, the United States has yielded to the Soviet view that the problems of atomic and of conventional weapons should be combined in a disarmament program. But the United States has taken the position that the bomb should not be outlawed until an international control system is perfected.

There have been other major areas of disagreement with Russia on atomic control. Russia wants a Security Council veto on international action on atomic energy. The United States has advocated international ownership of atomic facilities; Russia, ownership by national authorities under an international treaty. And Russia wants A-bombs destroyed before, rather than after, international control is instituted. But perhaps the biggest stumbling-block is the Russian insistence, repeated by Vishinsky at the present U. N. session with the admission that it was "old stuff," on a one-third arms cut across the board by the major powers.

Safety At Yuletide

There's nothing so cheerful as a blazing log in the fire place in the Christmas season or a good warm fire in the furnace or stove. These are friendly fires that help mankind enjoy friendly days and evenings.

But when fire breaks out of bounds, the cheering warmth quickly changes to destructive heat, and tragedy stalks through the home.

The home contains more fire hazards during the holiday season than at any other time of the year. Flammable Christmas trees, package wrappings, candles, use of additional electric cords—all of these result in an increase in the fire threat.

Few people realize that a Christmas tree is one of the most flammable objects known. It is filled with pitch and resin. Once ignited a Christmas tree is difficult to extinguish. The average tree will be consumed by flames in two minutes.

A few important Christmas tree suggestions listed by a safety expert are:

1. Do not set up the tree until a few days before Christmas.

2. Place the tree in the coolest part of the house. If necessary, shut off the radiator closest to the tree.

3. Do not, under any circumstances, use cotton or paper for decoration on the tree or around the tree.

4. Make certain that all lighting is turned off before retiring or leaving the house.

Adults should take care to provide safe toys when choosing Christmas gifts for children. Chemical sets and toys requiring alcohol, kerosene, gasoline and carbide lamps may be hazardous in juvenile hands and adults should be alert to the risks involved.

Christmas is a time for sharing—sharing things of the spirit as well as gifts. It's a time for gathering 'round the tree to share pleasure in giving with family and friends. While unwrapping gifts (and before that —when putting up the tree and buying gifts) it would be a wonderful gesture to share safety, too, this Christmas.

Indispensable

If the New York newspaper strike accomplished nothing else, it at least provided a dramatic example to 10,000,000 Americans how much a taken-for-granted product is missed when it no longer can be had.

Although the radio and television stations in New York greatly extended their news services, a large gap remained in the public's craving for complete news coverage.

Boiled down, the difference between these news mediums is the fact that people not only want to hear the news, they also want to read about it.

Radio and TV broadcasts must, of necessity, be condensed. Only the most import items can be broadcast, and even these stories must be shortened to fit the time allotted.

This, of course, is where the newspaper enters the picture. Not only are the stories covered in more minute detail; there is more variety, thereby insuring greater satisfaction of individual likes and dislikes.

These are only a few of the many reasons, as New Yorkers found out, why there is no substitute for a newspaper.

The New And Old In Arthritis

Rheumatoid arthritis is a chronic disease. It may last a lifetime but it never causes death. When the condition is incapacitating, the victims live a quiet and sedentary life and as a result rarely die of coronary thrombosis, high blood pressure, or accidents.

In the past five years, ACTH and cortisone have overshadowed all other forms of treatment. Their dramatic effects led many to believe that the problem of arthritis was solved. But not everyone is helped by these hormones and many are unable to continue taking them because reactions occur. When the product is stopped after recovery, some remain well for years whereas others have a recurrence within a few weeks.

Many of the basic treatments of arthritis have been set aside in view of the miracles that took place with ACTH and cortisone. Rheumatoid arthritis is a constitutional disease; in other words, the painful and swollen joints are external manifestations of an internal disturbance. The sufferer loses weight, is tired, and anemic. The changes in the sedimentation rate and the white blood count are signs also that a generalized infection exists.

Regardless of the miracle remedies, the arthritic still needs more rest than a well person. Rest in bed is a must when fever and active inflammation are present. Otherwise the individual may be up and about provided he obtains 10 to 12 hours of sleep at night. A well balanced, nourishing, and high caloric diet provides energy and strength and prevents further weight loss. Vitamins improve the feeling of well-being and iron may be needed to correct anemia.

The salicylates, including the lowly aspirin tablet, are capable of relieving most of the pain and make the day more pleasant and the night more restful. Physical therapy improves muscle tone and lessens stiffness. Heat in any form is beneficial. The heating pad, hot water bottle, and warm, moist dressings are simple to prepare.

Others prefer the paraffin whirlpool, or contrast baths. The infra-red lamp is a handy home remedy but diathermy, short wave, and supersonic equipment require expert supervision. Recovery is never complete unless the muscles are given attention and many exercises are designed to strengthen those that support the ankles, knees, hips, and back.

Many of the older arthritis remedies are still in vogue. Gold injections, for example, are making a comeback because there are new ways to overcome the toxic reactions to the drug. The British antilewisite (BAL) product is an excellent antidote for gold poisoning and ACTH relieves the skin reactions. Foreign protein injections are still employed occasionally and now and then blood transfusions when everything else fails. X-ray treatments for rheumatoid arthritis of the back sometimes lead to dramatic results. Vaccines, massive doses of vitamins, sex hormones, sulfur, iodides, and bee venom are of questionable value.

White House Surveillance Irks GOP Legislators; Cong. Curtis Lavish Spender Of Taxpayers' Money; Kefauver Gets Slim Thanks For Helping Meyner Win

WASHINGTON—Looks like trouble ahead in Congress. The White House has been asking various congressional chairman for a complete agenda of the legislation they expect to take up next year. The idea of the White House keeping such a close check on them has so rankled some chairmen that they have refused to answer the letter. Yet they're all members of the same party . . . The White House is now treating New York's cantankerous Rep. Dan Reed, all-powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, with kid gloves. Formerly, Ike wrote letters to Reed, proposing specific legislation. Now the letters courteously ask Reed what he has in mind . . . But the 78-year-old New Yorker seems to enjoy being ornery. He even reversed his stand on the social security tax—apparently just to be obstructive. The White House has been trying to coax Congress into postponing this tax increase which will automatically counteract the income-tax decrease next month for most low-income families. Previously Reed has been against the social security tax rise. But now he's reversed himself and is fighting to keep it—in order to hamstring the President . . . If Senator McCarthy finds the crowd seems bored with what he is saying, he abruptly interrupts his speech and hauls his lovely wife up on the platform to be introduced . . . Massachusetts' grandmotherly Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers noticed several servicemen wandering around the Capitol Building the other day. She quietly rounded them up and invited all to lunch.

Fast Money-Spender

GOP Congressman Carl Curtis of Nebraska is quietly setting a new record for spending the taxpayers' money.

The gentleman from Minden, Neb., is chairman of a Ways and Means subcommittee that is probing the social security program. He was voted $100,000 for this probe, and Curtis could hardly dissipate it faster if he took a bushel basket of $10 bills and scattered them to the capital winds. For a simple study of the old-age-pension system, mostly confined to warmed-over actuarial testimony, the congressman has lined up the following fabulous payroll:

Robert Winn, an attorney, is being paid $5,000 for serving as chief counsel of the subcommittee from September 21 to December 31—or at the rate of about $20,000 a year, the same scale paid to a justice of the Supreme Court.

George R. Leighton, a magazine writer connected with the Senate GOP Policy Committee, is getting $10,000 for research and investigative work for a six-month period from July 1 to December 31—also at the rate of $20,000 a year.

The rest of the staff for this obscure little subcommittee is composed of actuaries, research workers, and clerks, including:

James E. Finke, $7,500 for six months; Howard Friend, $7,500 for six months; Howard Metz, $2,850 for three months; W. R. Williamson, $3,000 for four months; Rita Campbell, $9,543 a year; Alice Hill, $9,003 a year; George Shigekawa, $8,400.

Curtis's payroll, however, is no less astounding than the procedure at subcommittee hearings, which is carefully contrived to build up a deadly case of damaging evidence against the social security system.

Witnesses who testified against the pension-retirement program, including a few from the Department of Health and Welfare, were given advance copies of "loaded" questions they were to be asked at hearings. In some cases, the witnesses even rehearsed their answers with subcommittee staff members before testifying.

This may have been why Arthur J. Altmeyer, former social security boss, who testified in defense of the pension program, angrily remarked to Counsel Winn:

"Outside of the chairman (Rep. Curtis,) you are doing more to destroy the confidence of the American people in the social security program than anybody in the country."

Politico-Go-Round

Senator Kefauver will probably look twice before he accepts another invitation from Democratic Governor-elect Bob Meyner to speak in New Jersey. Kefauver stuck his neck out, went all the way to New Jersey to make a crusading tour of the state to elect Meyner. Then Meyner turned around, held a press conference urging Adlai Stevenson for president . . . Adlai didn't venture into New Jersey . . . Senator Duff of Pennsylvania, the Republican who first proposed Eisenhower for president, hasn't yet been invited to the White House. He has gone to the White House, but always on his own suggestion . . . Several Democrats are jockeying to run for Congress from Harry Truman's home town, now represented by Jeffrey Hillelson, the Republican who campaigned as a "poor but honest" grocery clerk, and immediately after election married into the Goetz brewing fortune. Margaret Truman has toyed with running, but now it looks as if she probably won't. Ex-Congressman George Christopher is also in the warm-up, together with Stanley Fike, assistant to Sen. Stuart Symington.

Merry-Go-Round

Marty Lacey, New York Teamster boss and a power in Tammany politics, has pledged his cooperation to the new AFL union to clean up the waterfront, but hasn't done much beyond that . . . Postmaster General Summerfield should take a look at what he's doing to the good-neighbor policy by upping second-class mail rates to Latin America. In Mexico, 150,000 U. S. magazines are sold per month, most of them to Mexicans. Some patriotic Americans, notably Albert Croissant of Occidental College, California, are collecting magazines to help build goodwill in Europe. Meanwhile the Mexicans buy them. But they won't if Summerfield's new rates for Latin America go through . . . Books are hit even harder than magazines by the new rates . . . Myer Goldman and Charles La Roche of Peterborough, N. H., propose "Fares to Moscow" —namely, one-way tickets to American Communists so they can travel to their "holy land" in Moscow . . . The National Association of Manufacturers got hung up by the McCarthy book-burning program. They offered one of their books—very safe and solid—to the State Department, finally got a reply that "no one in the State Department is in a position to take the responsibility of approving your book."

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—Eisenhower administration officials thought it out long and hard in advance before they decided that Vice President Richard M. Nixon and then Secretary of State John Foster Dulles should say the United States made a mistake by disarming Japan and Germany after World War II.

On such matters of foreign policy, the administration still wants and realizes it needs Democratic support. For Nixon and Dulles to claim the Democrats "blundered" on such a vital issue as disarmament required careful handling. That is why both of them made it a point of saying that the mistake was a justified, honest one; that it was based on the premise, logical at the time., that Russia would continue its friendly alliance with the Western world.

Of course, the statements by Nixon and Dulles were intended primarily for Japanese and German ears. The Japanese in particular have been reluctant to rebuild their armed strength. For one thing, they and many Germans couldn't see the logic of it all—for the United States to take their arms away and, seven years later, insist on rearming them.

Smith Resigning?

There is talk in congressional circles that Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith will resign next year because of ill health.

President Eisenhower is known to be highly pleased with the work of the former head of the Central Intelligence Agency and ambassador to Moscow, and it's considered likely that he will ask Smith to stay on the job. He may even ask Smith to take a prolonged rest and return to his job when he feels up to it.

Incidentally, Smith is known to be one of the principal foes in the State Department of Wisconsin's junior senator, Joseph R. McCarthy. McCarthy, said these same congressional sources, will also be most pleased if diplomat John P. Davies Jr. is forced to resign — which they predict will happen. Smith, of course, is known to have supported Davies when he was under fire by congressional critics.

Federal Aid Needed

The Eisenhower administration made an unusually strong plea to the real estate industry recently to quit bickering over the housing program the President will submit to Congress next year.

Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole delivered the lecture to the National Association of Real Estate Boards at its annual convention in Los Angeles.

The speech served to point up a behind-the-scenes battle that has taken place inside President Eisenhower's recently appointed housing advisory committee which is headed by Cole.

There have been frequent reports that the various industry and labor committee members are poles apart in helping the administration to chart a new housing program. Such things as public housing, interest rates and credit terms have been under intense discussion.

Cole told the NAREB convention that federal assistance offers the only prospect of meeting some of the nation's housing problems. He said: "I believe that we will need to develop a considerable degree of tolerance in the housing field in order to build a housing policy that, though not fully acceptable to any one point of view, will be generally acceptable to most."

Housing experts generally believe this approach will serve to unify the committee somewhat and that in the end a unanimous report will be submitted to the President.

Ickes On Communism

We must be grateful that some public officials keep diaries and arrange to have them published. Harold Ickes was a strong-minded man who held strong opinions on many subjects. Ickes's diary consists of about 6,000,000 words, of which only a comparatively few have yet seen the light of day.

There is a conflict in what I am about to quote between the version in the book, "The Secret Diary of Harold L. Ickes," and the version in "Look" magazine. The book gives it this way:

"I had an interesting talk on Sunday with Secretary Dern as we drove down to Annapolis on our way to Jefferson Island. I have grown to like Dern a good deal and to respect his point of view. He is really a progressive, but he is the quiet, self-contained sort that does not express himself very much. But he has principles and stands by them. He feels about Red hunting as I do and thinks it is absurd to deny Communists an opportunity to express themselves or to have a ticket on the ballot. I believe he would be as unhappy in a communistic state as I would be. He feels, as I do, that it is better to bend somewhat to the wind than to be torn from the trunk of the tree and dashed to the ground."

"Look" puts it this way:

"I had an interesting talk with Secretary of War Dern on our way to Jefferson Island. He feels about Red hunting just as I do and thinks it is absurd to deny Communists an opportunity to express themselves or to have a ticket on the ballot. He thinks, as I do, that we are working toward a society of modified communism, although I believe he would be as unhappy in a Communistic state as I. He feels, as I do, that it is better to bend to the wind than be torn from the trunk of the tree and dashed to the ground."

The sentence: "He thinks, as I do, that we are working toward a society of modified communism . . .", which appeared in "Look," is omitted from the book, for what reason I do not know.

Ickes disclosed an amazingly cynical story that gives us an insight into the technique of the cover-up which has plagued this country so in recent years. It appears that in 1935, the Third International in Moscow had decided that the American Communist party should support Roosevelt in 1936 unless a more satisfactory candidate appeared. Ickes says that James W. Fawcett of the Washington Star telephoned to him to say that two copies of the minutes of this Moscow conference were in this country, an incomplete one in the State Department, a complete one in the hands of the Hearst newspapers. Ickes called Steve Early, the President's secretary, and told him about it. Then Ickes has this to say:

"Significantly enough, on Monday morning there appeared a big story indicating the possibility of the severance of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. A sharp note has gone to the Soviet government through our Ambassador Bullitt, based upon supposed encouragement by the U.S.S.R. of communistic activities in this country in spite of the assurance of that country at the time that we resumed diplomatic relations that nothing of this sort would be done. Our State Department, of course, with the full encouragement of the President, is apparently pressing this matter vigorously. This movement to sever diplomatic relations is a very sudden one. At least there was no indication of anything of the sort at the last cabinet meeting or at any preceding one. My suspicion is that this is a shrewd counterattack to destroy the effect of the anticipated Hearst blast against the President."

I wish Ickes were alive so that I might ask him what he meant by the phrase, "a society of modified communism." How do you modify communism? I should also like to know whether he kept two diaries, one for publication by Simon and Schuster and the other for publication by "Look." Which is correct? Which has been edited out and for what reason? The omission of half a sentence, the content of which is the most significant in the book, cannot be explained by the ancient excuse of saving space. That half sentence was omitted for some other reason.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — (INS) — An important book has been published in defense of American justice. It is "The Rosenberg Case—Fact And Fiction," by Dr. S. Andhil Fineberg, former Marine, president of the National Association of Jewish Community Relations Workers, and author.

Published by a firm named Oceana Publications today, it will not get a very good review in "The Daily Worker." It is a book of truth. Perhaps only one other man could have done better—Federal Judge Irving Kaufman—and it is not the desire of this man of tremendous character and nobility to write about the case.

About the last "official" statement about the Rosenbergs came from their attorney, Emanuel H. Bloch, who, in addition to shouting that he was ashamed of being a U. S. citizen also said, "This was the face of Nazism that killed the Rosenbergs. I place the murder at the door of President Eisenhower, Attorney General Brownell and J. Edgar Hoover. This is not American justice. America today is living under the heel of a military dictator garbed in civilian attire."

Lawyer Bloch, who has done pretty well in this dictatorship he speaks of, figures prominently in Dr. Fineberg's book. The Bloch who put on the show at the funeral parlor and at the grave is the same Bloch who said at the close of the trial, "I want to extend my appreciation to the court for its courtesies, and again I repeat I want to extend my appreciation for the courtesies extended to me and my staff by Mr. Saypol and the members of his staff, as well as the members of the FBI."

To the jury he said, ". . . A lawyer does not always win a case; all that a lawyer expects is a jury to decide a case on the evidence with mature deliberation. I feel satisfied by reason of the length of time that you took for your deliberations, as well as the questions asked during the course of your deliberations, that you examined very carefully the evidence and came to a certain conclusion."

Dr. Fineberg, like unto all students of this unique test of the Espionage Act of 1917, was attracted by what seemed to this reporter the most fascinating part of the story: Who tipped off the Kremlin that the Rosenbergs would not "talk" and who kept them silent while the Reds spent millions propagandizing them? You must read Dr. Fineberg's book to get the low-down.

For a full year after the arrest of the Rosenbergs they were ignored by the Communist press. "The Worker" did not cover their trial. Then, acting in concert in November, 1952, Communist papers and writers and followers of the Red line opened up a world-wide campaign to "save" the Rosenbergs. There were mass meetings in African jungles, and the propaganda program assumed so many false guises that even Pius XII, the earth's foremost opponent of Communism, felt it necessary to inform Washington the pleas for intercession he was receiving.

Dr. Fineberg calls Dr. Harold Urey, famed nuclear physicist now with the Univeristy of Chicago "the chief witness of the propaganda campaign." Dr. Urey cast public doubt on the testimony of David Greenglass, Mrs. Rosenberg's brother whose testimony helped to convict the pair, and in other ways lent his name to a movement which Dr. Fineberg finds to have been Communist inspired and Communist directed.

The Reds did a good job with the Rosenbergs, two thoroughly indoctrinated and dedicated Communists who readily entered into the machinery which led them to their deaths.

The Reds persuaded perhaps millions through the world, and a lot of people in this country, that the pair was railroaded. The Rosenbergs, Dr. Fineberg points out in great detail, were but smokescreens for the Kremlin's vicious purges of Jews behind the Iron Curtain.

It is to be hoped his book reaches at least some of the people who fell for the biggest line of hokum the Reds have dumped on the world since they posed as allies in World War II.

ON THE NEWS

BY ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Arnold Should Have Waited

This writer was the first to suggest that hiding behind the Fifth Amendment was ambushing a fish in aspic.

If the answer tends to incriminate you then you are as guilty as a cat in a bird cage.

Now Congress intends to do a little thumb twiddling with boxing gloves on. But why go to all the trouble of amending an amendment? When we already have a cowcatcher on the old woodburner?

In May, 1810, Congress proposed an amendment that any citizen accepting any title, honor or pension, from a foreign power, or office or emolument therefrom, unless okayed by Congress, shall automatically cease to be a citizen.

Said amending plaster met the approval of Maryland, Kentucky, Ohio, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Vermont, Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

For some reason it was rejected by Rhode Island, New York, South Carolina and Connecticut. By the via, Connecticut, Georgia and Massachusetts never did ratify the Bill of Rights with other legislatures when the First Congress proposed it in September, 1789.

But it became a law anyway under the maxim that three-fourths of the legislatures are sufficient unto the evil thereof.

The 1810 amendment was defeated at a time when four negatives could pull the plug. Is there any reason why it shouldn't be put up again?

Can an amendment be amended? We did it to the Eighteenth, didn't we?

Baby-Stealing Charge Denied By Osteopath

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 10 (AP)—An osteopathic surgeon declared today his conscience was clear about keeping babies of two unwed mothers, one of which he is charged with stealing.

Dr. Winfred T. Mooney, 48, freed on bail after his arrest yesterday, insisted to reporters that, rather than steal the baby, he and his wife saved its life.

The child, 8-months-old Bobby, who authorities said was the son of a San Diego woman bank clerk and a married U. S. Air Force captain, was in a nursing home under court guard.

The osteopath said the mother had "never asked about the baby. If she had asked for the baby she would have got it."

Dist. Atty. Don Keller said Dr. and Mrs. Mooney admitted that a year-old girl, Kathleen, was born to the wife of a serviceman in Korea who came here for the birth to avoid a scandal in her Midwest hometown.

A birth certificate had been filed showing Kathleen was born to Mrs. Mooney Dec. 3, 1952.

Mooney, prominent in practice here and leader in a hospital project, declared concerning the baby boy:

"If I hadn't saved a life, I wouldn't feel so badly about it. Then to be accused of child stealing!"

He denied telling the mother, identified in the complaint against him as Betty Loui Willis, 31, that the baby had died, after she gave birth to it three months prematurely in her apartment unaided.

Mooney said what he actually told the mother, when she called at his office for a service payment receipt recently, was intended to "make it easier on her."

His words, he said, were: "Oh, the baby didn't make the grade. Don't feel badly about it. Those six-months babies never do. You are young. You will marry and have two or three more children."

The district attorney said both the mother and the father, whom he identified as Capt. Archie Bower, now stationed at Ft. George Wright, Spokane, Wash., said they wanted the baby.

Bower was quoted as saying he and his wife wanted to adopt it.

As for the baby girl, Mooney declared that the 28-year-old mother, not identified by name, "didn't even want to know if the baby was a boy or girl, or if it was born alive or dead. She didn't want it and she gave it to us."

The Mooneys have been married seven years and have no children.

Mooney's preliminary hearing was set for Jan. 5.

He declared that opponents of his hospital project had instituted the investigation of birth certificates and disclosures that the babies were not his.

Weather Bureau Overhaul Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)— A special advisory committee told Secretary of Commerce Weeks today that as a result of penny-pinching the U. S. Weather Bureau must operate "on standards 20 to 40 years behind the times."

The United States spends about 18 cents a head yearly on weather services, exclusive of military weather programs, while Soviet Russia, according to an estimate 10 years old, spends 47 cents, the committee said.

It called for "the strongest possible support in budgetary matters" for the Weather Bureau by the Department of Commerce. The bureau is part of the Commerce Department.

The eight-man advisory committee was appointed last July and was headed by Joseph J. George, superintendent of meteorology of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., Atlanta, Ga. Besides strongly recommending more money for the Weather Bureau, the committee made these recommendations:

1. Decentralization to give more administrative and technical responsibility at lower levels in the bureau.

2. Rapid selection and training of replacements for several high-level officials of the bureau at or past retirement age.

3. Removal of all operating functions from Washington headquarters of the bureau and reorganization of headquarters as a small policy-making staff.

4. Personnel policy changes to provide for a good supply of young professional meteorologists to the bureau's staff.

5. Assumption by the Weather Bureau of weather services now being performed by the military.

Baby-Stealing Charge Denied By Osteopath

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 10 (AP)— An osteopathic surgeon declared today his conscience was clear about keeping babies of two unwed mothers, one of which he is charged with stealing.

Dr. Winfred T. Mooney, 48, freed on bail after his arrest yesterday, insisted to reporters that, rather than steal the baby, he and his wife saved its life.

The child, 8-months-old Bobby, who authorities said was the son of a San Diego woman bank clerk and a married U. S. Air Force captain, was in a nursing home under court guard.

The osteopath said the mother had "never asked about the baby. If she had asked for the baby she would have got it."

Dist. Atty. Don Keller said Dr. and Mrs. Mooney admitted that a year-old girl, Kathleen, was born to the wife of a serviceman in Korea who came here for the birth to avoid a scandal in her Midwest hometown.

A birth certificate had been filed showing Kathleen was born to Mrs. Mooney Dec. 3, 1952.

Mooney, prominent in practice here and leader in a hospital project, declared concerning the baby boy:

"If I hadn't saved a life, I wouldn't feel so badly about it. Then to be accused of child stealing!"

He denied telling the mother, identified in the complaint against him as Betty Loui Willis, 31, that the baby had died, after she gave birth to it three months prematurely in her apartment unaided.

Mooney said what he actually told the mother, when she called at his office for a service payment receipt recently, was intended to "make it easier on her."

His words, he said, were: "Oh, the baby didn't make the grade. Don't feel badly about it. Those six-months babies never do. You are young. You will marry and have two or three more children."

The district attorney said both the mother and the father, whom he identified as Capt. Archie Bower, now stationed at Ft. George Wright, Spokane, Wash., said they wanted the baby.

Bower was quoted as saying he and his wife wanted to adopt it.

As for the baby girl, Mooney declared that the 28-year-old mother, not identified by name, "didn't even want to know if the baby was a boy or girl, or if it was born alive or dead. She didn't want it and she gave it to us."

The Mooneys have been married seven years and have no children.

Mooney's preliminary hearing was set for Jan. 5.

He declared that opponents of his hospital project had instituted the investigation of birth certificates and disclosures that the babies were not his.

Weather Bureau Overhaul Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)— A special advisory committee told Secretary of Commerce Weeks today that as a result of penny-pinching the U. S. Weather Bureau must operate "on standards 20 to 40 years behind the times."

The United States spends about 18 cents a head yearly on weather services, exclusive of military weather programs, while Soviet Russia, according to an estimate 10 years old, spends 47 cents, the committee said.

It called for "the strongest possible support in budgetary matters" for the Weather Bureau by the Department of Commerce. The bureau is part of the Commerce Department.

The eight-man advisory committee was appointed last July and was headed by Joseph J. George, superintendent of meteorology of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., Atlanta, Ga. Besides strongly recommending more money for the Weather Bureau, the committee made these recommendations:

1. Decentralization to give more administrative and technical responsibility at lower levels in the bureau.
2. Rapid selection and training of replacements for several high-level officials of the bureau at or past retirement age.
3. Removal of all operating functions from Washington headquarters of the bureau and reorganization of headquarters as a small policy-making staff.
4. Personnel policy changes to provide for a good supply of young professional meteorologists to the bureau's staff.
5. Assumption by the Weather Bureau of weather services now being performed by the military.

Tobacco Shares' Strength Highlights Lower Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — Strength in tobacco shares highlighted an otherwise lower stock market today.

Wall Street observers said they were not surprised to see tobacco shares rally today in view of the severe pounding they took yesterday.

It is considered normal for shares to snap back after being subjected to concentrated selling. The shares were hit yesterday after additional reports were made linking smoking with lung cancer.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down 40 cents at $108.50. The industrial average lost 60 cents, the rail average 10 cents and the utility average 20 cents.

Among the wider gainers were Liggett & Myers, up 1¼ at 65⅜; Reynolds Tobacco "B", up 1 at 39; Texas Pacific Land Trust, ahead 1 at 116 and Sunbeam Manufacturing, up 2⅛ at 36½ following announcement of a stock dividend and special cash disbursement.

Shares losing a point or more included Goodrich, down 1⅛ at 77½; Atlantic Coast Line, off 1¼ at 87¾, and Corn Products, off 1⅞ at 72. Smaller losses were posted by General Motors, Chrysler, Republic Steel, International Telephone, Dow Chemical, American Woolen and Douglas Aircraft. Fractional advances were made by Packard, Boeing, Zenith, Southern California Edison, Westinghouse, New York Central and Twentieth Century-Fox.

GAVE RADAR DATA—An ex-member of the Young Communist League, Fred Joseph Kitty, Cranford, N. J., testifies in Washington that he supplied radar information in 1944 to Aaron H. He denied ever being a YCL member but admitted knowing Julius Rosenberg, the executed atom spy.

"Leafless Man" Irks Londoners

LONDON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Shocked residents of the Balham district started taking up a collection today to buy the "leafless man" of St. James Infirmary.

The leafless man is a nude statue—named "Recovery"—which decorates a new wing of the ultra-modern hospital. He got his name because he has no leaf where nude male statues customarily, or anyway often, have leaves.

The statue cost the hospital 500 pounds ($1,400). The neighbors hope to buy it for the same sum and banish it from the scene. Said Arthur B. Frost, one of the leaders in the collection campaign:

"The right place for such a statue is in an art gallery. No man would want his wife or daughter to see it."

School Buses Get Checking

KEYSER — Thirty-four school buses, used for transportation of students to Mineral County schools were given a complete check by members of the W. Va., State Police of the Keyser Detachment Wednesday. All were passed as efficient in every respect.

The test and checking was done by the three local police officers, Cpl. F. H. Tribett, Trooper W. Frank Bowley and Trooper D. G. Peters.

The work included a check of every part of each vehicle, mechanism and body, including tires, wheels, safety door mechanism, and each item that has a part in full safety of the vehicles when in operation, the minute pieces of equipment as well as the customary mechanism and light beams. All were passed as in good condition.

L. A. Huffman, superintendent of transportation for the Board of Education was present during the full day's checking.

Ammo Explosion Brings Embargo

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Army and the Navy today banned the use of trucks operated by Watson Bros., of Omaha, to haul ammunition after a collision and explosion yesterday near Glenwood, Iowa.

The embargo action was taken by the military services following a request for action made by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Chairman J. Monroe Johnston of the ICC said earlier today that the agency is "much exercised" over a series of explosions involving munition-laden trucks on Midwest highways.

An earlier embargo against the Watson shipping firm was lifted Nov. 27. That temporary ban had been ordered by the Army and the Navy following an explosion of one of the company's trucks in Nebraska.

The ICC has asked the defense department and its military services to embargo use of Watson Bros. as a shipper of ammunition and explosives until further notice.

Lt. Col. Sellers Assigned To Far East Post By Army

Lt. Col. William W. Sellers of Cumberland, deputy chief of staff of The Infantry Center at Fort Benning since July, will leave Fort Benning in January for assignment to the Far East, Maj. Gen. G. S. Meloy Jr., commander, announced.

He will be succeeded by Lt. Col. D. V. Smart of Fairhope, Ala., former executive officer of The Infantry School's Staff Department.

Col. Sellers arrived at Fort Benning August 21, 1951, and was head of the G-1 (personnel) Section before assuming his present post.

While at Fort Benning, Col. Sellers has been a member in post organizations and Columbus, Ga., civic affairs.

He has served as president of the Greater Columbus Little League Baseball Association, board member and chairman of the building committee of the Fort Benning Dad's Club which he was instrumental in organizing and as a member of the special problems and promotions subcommittee of the Citizens-Military Council.

His other memberships include the Columbus Lions Club, Better Business Bureau of the Columbus Merchants Association, Holy Family School's Parent-Teacher Association and the Fort Benning Boy Scout Council.

During World War II, he served with the 331st Infantry Regiment of the 83rd Division in Europe where he fought in five campaigns, and in 1946, he was an instructor in The Infantry School's Tactical Department.

From 1946 to 1947, Col. Sellers commanded the 712th Military Police Battalion at the Army War College in Washington, D. C., before attending the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. County Bond Debt To Increase 60 Per Cent

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners through the enactment of the school bond issue bill in the 1953 legislature will soon have to increase the county's bonded indebtedness by nearly 60 per cent.

To finance the extensive school construction program during the next two years a total of $3,500,000 in bonds must be issued.

Coupled with this will be a possible request by Cumberland for an additional $246,000 issue for the completion of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

As of November 30, the total bonded indebtedness of the county was $5,271,000.

Annually for the past two years the county has been retiring these debts by $316,000. Last year the interest on the bonds totaled $141,405. This year, the interest, dropping steadily, amounted to $132,197.50.

The county commissioners of past administrations floated bonds in 1939 and 1943 for which payment was postponed for as much as 24 years. However, during that time, interest has been paid.

The total number of all types of bonds and the amount outstanding are:

School of 1920	$ 35,000
School of 1921	35,000
School of 1923	100,000
School of 1928	50,000
School of 1933	231,000
School of 1939	465,000
School of 1939 (Additional)	85,000
School of 1941	320,000
School of 1948	1,680,000
Savage River Dam of 1939	1,000,000
Road Improvement Bonds of 1939	80,000
Infirmary and Nursing Home of 1947	190,000
Flood of 1952	960,000

Payments Scheduled

Payments on the extra school bonds of 1939 totaling $85,000 will not start until 1965. On November 1 of that year the first of a series of $10,000 annual payments will be made. These will continue until 1972.

Interest on the 1943 Memorial Hospital Bonds is being paid but premiums will not start until 1962 when the $40,000 will be paid back at the rate of $5,000 annually.

Premiums on the Savage River Dam issue of $1,000,000 will be started July 1, 1956, at the rate of $50,000 annually.

This is the same for the $10,000 road improvement bonds of 1939. Payments will begin September 1, 1965, at the rate of $10,000 annually.

All of the rest of the county bonds are being reduced substantially annually.

Mrs. Cross said some of the veterans hospitalized due to war wounds or illnesses do not receive any visitors or mail all year long and the VFW auxiliary hopes to cheer them up on Christmas by distribution of gifts. The auxiliary is making up gifts on its own but hopes the general public will aid in the program.

County Bond Debt To Increase 60 Per Cent

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners through the enactment of the school bond issue bill in the 1953 legislature will soon have to increase the county's bonded indebtedness by nearly 60 per cent.

To finance the extensive school construction program during the next two years a total of $3,500,000 in bonds must be issued.

Coupled with this will be a possible request by Cumberland for an additional $246,000 issue for the completion of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

As of November 30, the total bonded indebtedness of the county was $5,271,000.

Annually for the past two years the county has been retiring these debts by $316,000. Last year the interest on the bonds totaled $141,405. This year, the interest, dropping steadily, amounted to $132,197.50.

The county commissioners of past administrations floated bonds in 1939 and 1943 for which payment was postponed for as much as 24 years. However, during that time, interest has been paid.

The total number of all types of bonds and the amount outstanding are:

School of 1920	$ 35,000
School of 1921	35,000
School of 1923	100,000
School of 1928	50,000
School of 1933	231,000
School of 1939	465,000
School of 1939 (Additional)	85,000
School of 1941	320,000
School of 1948	1,680,000
Savage River Dam of 1939	1,000,000
Road Improvement Bonds of 1939	80,000
Infirmary and Nursing Home of 1947	190,000
Flood of 1952	960,000

Payments Scheduled

Payments on the extra school bonds of 1939 totaling $85,000 will not start until 1965. On November 1 of that year the first of a series of $10,000 annual payments will be made. These will continue until 1972.

Interest on the 1943 Memorial Hospital Bonds is being paid but premiums will not start until 1962 when the $40,000 will be paid back at the rate of $5,000 annually.

Premiums on the Savage River Dam issue of $1,000,000 will be started July 1, 1956, at the rate of $50,000 annually.

This is the same for the $10,000 road improvement bonds of 1939. Payments will begin September 1, 1965, at the rate of $10,000 annually.

All of the rest of the county bonds are being reduced substantially annually.

Knotty Problem

Where Does Statue Of Liberty Lift Torch—Over New York Or Jersey?

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Just where does the Statue of Liberty lift her famed lamp—over New York or New Jersey? If she was a taxpayer, to whom would she address her check?

This knotty problem arose as suddenly as a harbor squall today to confront the State Supreme Court.

The world-renowned statue proudly points the torch of liberty 305 feet aloft from Bedloe's Island, a little dot of land in the harbor 2,950 yards southwest of New York City.

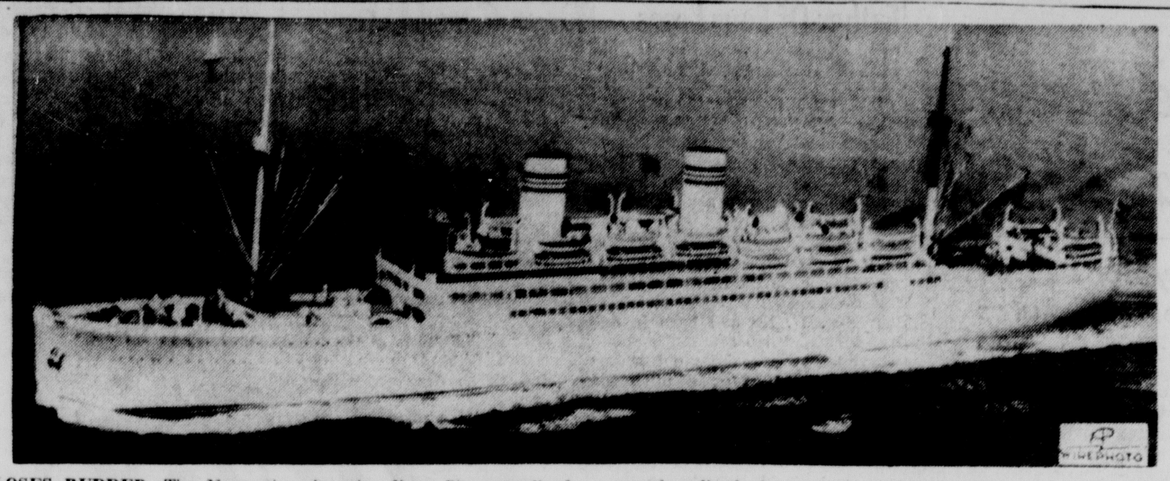
The city claims the island is in New York.

"A mistaken belief," insists Mrs. Evelyn Hill, who brought the question to a head. She runs a souvenir and food concession of the island and claims New York has no right to assess her $2,802 in sales and business taxes.

Her attorney, Victor R. Wolder, argued before State Supreme Court Justice Thomas L. J. Corcoran:

"It is undisputed that Bedloe's island is west of the middle of the Hudson River and it is unquestionably clear that since Sept. 16, 1833, Bedloe's island has been located in the State of New Jersey.

"The City of New York has its own official land map and Bedloe's Island does not appear on that map."



LOSES RUDDER—The Norwegian America liner Stavangerfjord (above) crawled through the wind-buffeted North Atlantic without a rudder yesterday, the Coast Guard reported. The 13,300-ton vessel radioed she was proceeding at 10 knots toward Bergen, Norway, but that she did not require assistance. She carries 644 passengers.

Lawyer Wolder traced the history of the island, from original 17th century land grants of the Duke of York and England's Charles II. Territorial arguments between New York and New Jersey, he contended, were settled with the 1833 agreement placing Jersey's boundary west of the middle of the Hudson River and New York Bay.

The lady, herself, was not involved in these early legal duels. She came along in 1886—a gift from France to the people of America.

Knotty Problem

Where Does Statue Of Liberty Lift Torch—Over New York Or Jersey?

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Just where does the Statue of Liberty lift her famed lamp—over New York or New Jersey? If she was a taxpayer, to whom would she address her check?

This knotty problem arose as suddenly as a harbor squall today to confront the State Supreme Court.

The world-renowned statue proudly points the torch of liberty 305 feet aloft from Bedloe's Island, a little dot of land in the harbor 2,950 yards southwest of New York City.

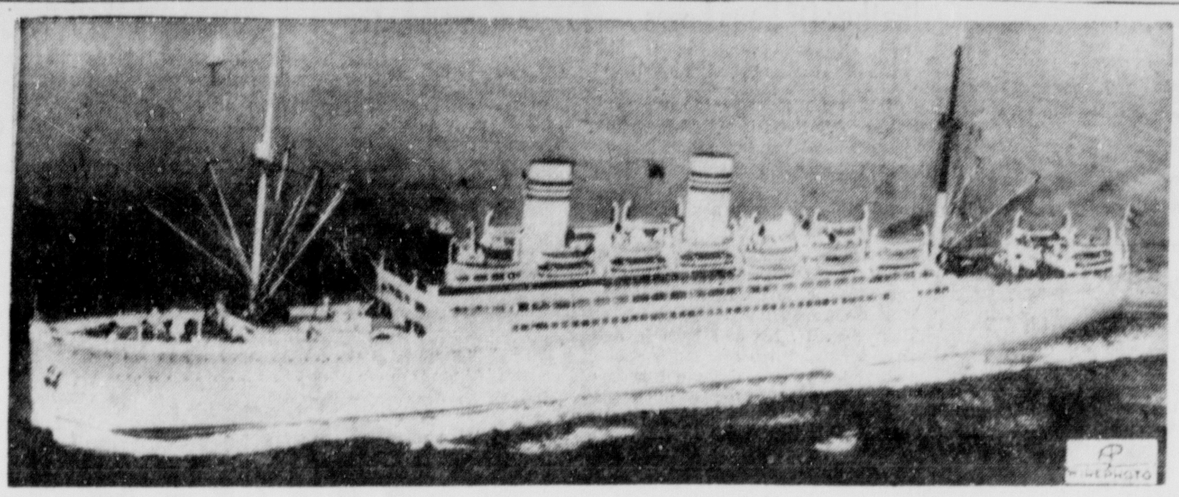
The city claims the island is in New York.

"A mistaken belief," insists Mrs. Evelyn Hill, who brought the question to a head. She runs a souvenir and food concession of the island and claims New York has no right to assess her $2,802 in sales and business taxes.

Her attorney, Victor R. Wolder, argued before State Supreme Court Justice Thomas L. J. Corcoran:

"It is undisputed that Bedloe's island is west of the middle of the Hudson River and it is unquestionably clear that since Sept. 16, 1833, Bedloe's island has been located in the State of New Jersey.

"The City of New York has its own official land map and Bedloe's Island does not appear on that map."



LOSES RUDDER—The Norwegian America liner Stavangerfjord (above) crawled through the wind-buffeted North Atlantic without a rudder yesterday, the Coast Guard reported. The 13,300-ton vessel radioed she was proceeding at 10 knots toward Bergen, Norway, but that she did not require assistance. She carries 644 passengers.

Lawyer Wolder traced the history of the island, from original 17th century land grants of the Duke of York and England's Charles II. Territorial arguments between New York and New Jersey, he contended, were settled with the 1833 agreement placing Jersey's boundary west of the middle of the Hudson River and New York Bay.

The lady, herself, was not involved in these early legal duels. She came along in 1886—a gift from France to the people of America.

McKeldin Says:

World Role Should Take Federal Government Out Of Local Affairs

Would Increase State Expenses

FREDERICK, Dec. 10 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin said tonight global responsibilities should take the federal government out of "lesser affairs" even though it will increase expenses for Maryland and the other states.

"Centralized government over domestic affairs always has been a threat to our freedoms," McKeldin said in a speech prepared for the Civitan Club.

President Eisenhower's proposal for a world-wide atomic pool emphasized this country's "role on the stage of the world struggle," the governor said. The President suggested nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain cooperate in developing atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Russia's unofficial response was to declare Eisenhower had "threatened atomic war." McKeldin said this "was exactly what was expected." But he predicted the President's proposal would gain backing if State Department officials "cultivate and nourish the seed."

"With its growing role of cooperation with and its seeking of cooperation from the other nations of the world, the federal government, now more than ever before, must get out of the lesser affairs of government which, properly and historically, belong to the states and their subdivisions," McKeldin said.

"President Eisenhower has realized this from the beginning and the federal government already is moving in that direction."

The trend will show up in next year's state budget, he added.

"Part of the increase in the mental hygiene department funds, for example, will result from the reduction of federal funds in this field," he said. "There will be other examples from year to year, if not this year."

The governor said highway construction and maintenance is properly a field for the states, which are reacting to "popular pressures and the evident needs for better roads and road systems." He said this state's 12-year program indicated "the people of Maryland have taken the lead in this matter."

Result Unexpected

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 10 (AP)—Jimmy Crisman, 7, and his pal, Jerry Keyes watched a wrestling match on television.

They later decided to try out some of the grappling holds. Result: One broken leg for Jimmy.

Young Farmer Who Burned His Baby Sentenced

FREDERICK, Dec. 10 (AP) — A young Frederick County farmer was sentenced to three years in the Maryland Reformatory today on charges of burning his baby son on the leg with a hot cake turner.

Charles Lewis Crumbie, 22, who worked a tenant farm on the Libertytown-New Windsor road, was acquitted of two other assault and battery charges involving the 9-month-old boy.

A doctor said the baby had suffered a skull fracture and other injuries. There was testimony the baby had fallen recently. Crumbie pleaded innocent to all three charges.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Ann Fink Crumbie, 17, now living at Westminster, testified Crumbie became irritated one day because breakfast was not ready. She said he was going to burn her but instead put the hot instrument on the baby's leg and pressed on it.

She said "I got burned when I tried to stop him from burning the baby more."

Crumbie said the child was burned after he missed his wife with the cake turner. He said he slapped the infant lightly in the mouth because it was crying.

State's Attorney Charles U. Price had filed a criminal information listing three counts of assault and battery against Crumbie.

One accused the father of slapping the baby in the mouth Oct. 15; another with burning him on Oct. 29 and a third with striking him on the head Nov. 1.

Both parents said the child, Charles Edward Crumbie, had fallen from a car Oct. 31 and from a coach several days later.

Dr. Thomas Reichlerderfer of Johns Hopkins Hospital said the infant had a skull fracture, was bleeding under the scalp and had a black eye when admitted Nov. 5.

Circuit Judge Patrick N. Schnauffer imposed the three-year sentence on the burning charge, but ruled there was a lack of evidence in the other two.

Boy Boasts He Has Stolen 27 Autos

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP) — Sixteen-year-old William F. Eisner said today the charge that he stole 13 automobiles was right.

"But that's really nothing at all," he boasted to Magistrate John A. Janetzke who ordered him held for the grand jury. "I've taken more than 27."

He told the magistrate he "wanted to build up a reputation as the biggest car thief."

Man Who Held Down Two Jobs Gets Prison

BARNET, England, Dec. 10 (AP) — A man who worked at two jobs day and night for a year was sentenced to 12 months yesterday for embezzlement.

Robert F. Swan, 49, said he worked from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. as a clerk and from 6 p.m. to 8 a.m. the following morning as a telephone operator. He had a total of an hour off for meals and slept on Sundays.

Swan's lawyer said it was his over-industriousness which led to his downfall: "He found the strain of the simultaneous jobs too much for him and stimulated himself with gin."

The hard worker pleaded guilty to swiping 330 pounds (924) from the firm where he was a clerk.

Father Of Four Loses His Battle With Polio

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP)—Edward P. Robertson, 34-year-old telephone worker from Hagerstown and father of four children, died today after a month-long battle with polio. His wife also is hospitalized with polio.

Robertson, maintenance repairman for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. had been making progress since being stricken last Nov. 17. He had been in an iron lung and had reached a point where he was remaining out of the lung for as much as 35 minutes.

Then he took a turn for the worse and died today at Baltimore City Hospitals.

His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Robertson, is at Washington County Hospital, most of her body paralyzed.

Tear Gas Halts Riot By Students

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP) —A fighting mob of between 500 and 600 University of Florida students, was dispersed early today by 20 city, county and state officers using tear gas.

The riot, started originally by a group who attempted to paint the concrete lion on the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity's lawn, kept growing, with sporadic street fights, paint throwing, yelling and fireworks.

Police and deputy sheriffs were powerless to stop the outbreak which blocked traffic for two hours while the crowd seethed back and forth.

Tear gas and loud dispersion shells finally ended the riot.

Dr. Max Wise, dean of student personnel, said the university has begun an investigation.

Four university students were arrested on misdemeanor charges. They spent the night in city jail, and the cases against them will go before Municipal Court.

There are about 36 million dairy cattle in the United States.

Bishop Martin Plans Trip Of Spiritual Fence-Mending On Military Bases Front

By GEORGE W. CORNWELL

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—The nation's top-ranking Protestant, Bishop William C. Martin, is taking off on a trip of spiritual fence-mending—on a front he sees as a "new, crucial church responsibility."

The task? maintaining religious ties with the far-flung members of the United States armed forces.

"The present situation is one we have never had to face before," the bishop said. "It involves millions of our young men and women, and will continue to do so for an indefinite period."

Gradually, he said, the churches are becoming "more alert to this unaccustomed and wider responsibility.

"We haven't done all we could, and what we have done hasn't been as prompt as it ought to have been. But we're now doing more than we've ever done before. And the tempo of the work is increasing."

If the challenge isn't fully met, he added, the "possibilities are tragic" for society.

Methodist Bishop Martin, of Dallas, who heads the 30-denomination National Council of Churches, leaves next Tuesday to visit military bases in the far East and Korea.

He will be the first emissary to the area representing a majority of American Orthodox and Protestant Christians—35 million of them.

Bishop Martin, a ruggedly built, six-foot man who was an Army sergeant in World War —, also heads the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church, the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

In an interview, he said the present international climate has created conditions which demand that the churches learn to reach beyond their old perimeters.

"If the churches do not effectively sustain their ministry to the servicemen and women, the loss to them—and to our country—of inner spiritual resources can be tragic," the bishop said.

Noting that some 3½ million now are in uniform, many with their families overseas, all of them cut off from homes and churches, he added:

"The obligation takes a high priority, not only because of the numbers involved, but because of the important place these men and women have both as our representatives abroad and as a large part of future civilians."

Historically, he said, the problem has been confined to temporary periods of war. Now it is projected into a long-term period of uneasy peace.

"We must devise new means and new ways of dealing with a task different from any we've ever known," he said.

In a way, the bishop said, the military services have superseded the college campus as a pivotal point where the church must exert its influence.

He said the need is accentuated by the fact that youths, removed from the restraining effects of their home communities, are more often subject to distorted values.

"If the churches fall down on their job, the harm can have a long-range impact on our communities and the whole American scene," the bishop said.

But with growing awareness of the responsibility, he said, nearly every denomination has launched special programs to reinforce the bonds with their members away from home.

He observed that the General Board of the National Council recently devoted an entire session to the problem, and that the council has stepped up activity of its commission on chaplains.

"Some of the highest type of men in the ministry today now are going into the chaplaincy as a life work," he said. "They have been challenged by the tremendous opportunity, and have accepted it."

World War One Vets To Receive Dividends Totaling $21,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—World War I veterans holding 375,000 permanent plan U. S. Government Insurance policies will receive regular dividends totaling 21 million dollars next year.

The Veterans Administration, announcing this today, said about 24,000 World War I holders of USGLI term insurance will not share in the payment.

A VA official said no figures were available on the range of the dividend payments. Pointing out that the permanent plan policies could have been taken out at various times, he said this results in a "tremendous variation in the dividend rates for individual policies."

To be eligible for a dividend, a USGLI policy must have been in force for a full year before the 1954 anniversary date.

The VA announced yesterday that World War II veterans holding about five million National Service Life Insurance policies will receive 1954 dividends totaling 211 million dollars.

With next year's payments, World War I holders of USGLI policies will have received a total of $357,148,886, while payments of NSLI dividends to World War II veterans will reach $4,035,000,000.

Lawyers Argue Inquiry Committees Necessary But Some Abuse Powers

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 10 (AP)—Four lawyers said yesterday that congressional investigative committees are necessary, but argued that some have abused their powers and the rights of some witnesses before these committees have been violated.

They said also that Congress has important rights in the investigative progress, but that witnesses need definite protection and vindication for their rights.

The lawyers were Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, former Democratic administrator in Washington; Rep. Kenneth Keating (R-NY); Abe Fortas, former under secretary of the Interior during part of the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration, and George Morris Fay, U. S. attorney for the District of Columbia from 1946 to 1951.

They spoke at a University of Notre Dame College of Law symposium on the "safeguards which should be available to witnesses legislative investigations."

Taylor said investigative committees had to respect the rights of individuals. An avowed Democrat, he said he agreed with a proposal by Rep. Frelinghuysen (R-NJ) to set up a non-partisan joint congressional committee on internal security.

This group, he said, "would replace the Jenner, McCarthy and Velde committees and would put an end to radical and destructive investigations "to the leadership of able, moderate and responsible members of the House and Senate."

"These are not partisan political matters," Taylor said. "Republicans and Democrats, Conservatives and Liberals must all stand on conservative ground against radicals who sow suspicion and fear in our land at a time when foreign perils urgently require that we be of one mind."

Keating, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, said "no congressional investigation is justified unless it can be directly related to gathering facts about proposed legislation and to inquire into the workings of existing federal laws."

He said he disagreed "with those who argue Congress is responsible for informing and educating the public. Headline-making should be left strictly to newsmen and public agencies charged with the detection of wrong-doing."

Lawyers Argue Inquiry Committees Necessary But Some Abuse Powers

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 10 (AP)—Four lawyers said yesterday that congressional investigative committees are necessary, but argued that some have abused their powers and the rights of some witnesses before these committees have been violated.

They said also that Congress has important rights in the investigative progress, but that witnesses need definite protection and vindication for their rights.

The lawyers were Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, former Democratic administrator in Washington; Rep. Kenneth Keating (R-NY); Abe Fortas, former under secretary of the Interior during part of the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration, and George Morris Fay, U. S. attorney for the District of Columbia from 1946 to 1951.

They spoke at a University of Notre Dame College of Law symposium on the "safeguards which should be available to witnesses legislative investigations."

Taylor said investigative committees had to respect the rights of individuals. An avowed Democrat, he said he agreed with a proposal by Rep. Frelinghuysen (R-NJ) to set up a non-partisan joint congressional committee on internal security.

This group, he said, "would replace the Jenner, McCarthy and Velde committees and would put an end to radical and destructive investigations "to the leadership of able, moderate and responsible members of the House and Senate."

"These are not partisan political matters," Taylor said. "Republicans and Democrats, Conservatives and Liberals must all stand on conservative ground against radicals who sow suspicion and fear in our land at a time when foreign perils urgently require that we be of one mind."

Keating, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, said "no congressional investigation is justified unless it can be directly related to gathering facts about proposed legislation and to inquire into the workings of existing federal laws."

He said he disagreed "with those who argue Congress is responsible for informing and educating the public. Headline-making should be left strictly to newsmen and public agencies charged with the detection of wrong-doing."

Gov. McKeldin Says More Data Needed Before Decision On Slum Clearance-Office Building Project

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said tonight the state still needs more information before deciding whether to combine construction of its new office buildings with slum clearance in Baltimore.

In a letter to the Legislative Council, he said the Board of Public Works "long has favored" such a joint project. But he added more study is necessary to determine how long it would take, how much it would cost and how it would be financed.

McKeldin sent the letter to House Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th), chairman of the council's Budget and Finance Committee. The legislative group met to look further into state and city plans for a 10-million-dollar office center.

Last winter the Board of Public Works, which will contract for the buildings, said it favored a 15-acre area near the 5th Regiment Armory at the edge of Baltimore's shopping district. In the last few weeks McKeldin has said uncertainty about federal aid to clear the land caused the board to consider other locations.

Mayor D'Alesandro yesterday reminded the governor that the City Council begins a six-week recess after meeting next Monday. He said action toward condemning the area might be undertaken by then.

The Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency had indicated it was ready to help finance the project, but requested assurance that state funds would be available. This prompted Luber to ask the governor exactly where the state wanted to build.

Going into the financial aspects, McKeldin used a "theoretical instance" in his letter to the council under which federal aid would amount only to a million dollars. Estimates of cost to the state have ranged from two to five millions for the land alone.

State engineers figure the four projected buildings for the office center would require virtually all of the allotted 10 millions.

"The primary obligation of the state is the construction of a state office building in Baltimore City, convenient to a large segment of the state's population and to a considerable number of the state's employes, whose homes are in the Baltimore area," McKeldin said.

Christmas Is Cookie Time

Merry Christmas time has a trick of sneaking up on a cook, doesn't it? The shopping and mailing of packages to dear ones who are away, the cards to write, tree to trim, and so on and on, leaves little time for planning those elegant goodies that are really a part of traditional Christmas cheer. Here are three delightful Christmas recipes, all tried and tested and calling for dried figs. These new-crop, sugar-plumped figs add a magic touch to Christmas cooking because they are so richly flavorful.

Gelatin Fruit Cake

20 California Dried Figs; ½ cup hot water; 2 tsps. instant coffee; 1 ½ squares unsweetened chocolate; 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin; 1 cup cold water; ¾ cup beet or cane sugar; 2 tsps. powdered cinnamon; 1 tsp. Vanilla; ½ tsp. almond extract; ½ cup sweet sherry or muscatel wine; 12 marshmallows; ½ cup diced pecans or walnuts; 1 cup rice crispies; heavy cream.

Cover the California Dried Figs with boiling water and let stand for 10 minutes. Drain. With scissors, snip off their stems. Then snip the figs into tiny pieces. Combine the hot water, the coffee and the chocolate. Stir and heat until chocolate melts. Meanwhile, add the gelatin to the cold water and let stand for 5 minutes. Add to the hot chocolate and coffee. Then add all the remaining ingredients except the cream. Stir together. Place in a beautiful big mold or in individual molds and chill. Turn out. Serve on chilled plates. Garnish with holly leaves and glace' cherries or any lovely holiday trimming. Top with sweetened, vanilla flavored whipped cream sprinkled with cinnamon. Serves 10-12.

Fig, Mincemeat Cobbler For Christmas Eve Supper

About 14 California Dried Figs; 1 package or can mince meat; 3 fresh, peeled apples; biscuit mix or your favorite biscuit recipe; 1 egg; butter.

Cover the California Dried Figs with cold water, bring to a boil and simmer for 10 minutes. Pour off liquid for later use in punch or to drink for breakfast. With scissors, snip off the stems of the figs. Then snip figs into small pieces and add to the mince meat. Peel and dice the apples into tiny pieces. Add brandy or bourbon if desired. Make your biscuit recipe, add the egg and a little extra milk to make a very soft dough. Drop the dough into a generously buttered shallow baking dish. With a spoon spread it evenly over the bottom and sides of the dish. Fill the "crust" with the mince meat mixture. Dot the top generously with butter or margarine. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) for 12 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350°F.) for about 20 minutes or until crust is deep brown and quite done in center under the mince meat(test it with a fork). Serve hot with heavy, unwhipped cream if desired or whip the cream and top it with maraschino cherries and holly leaves. A lovely supper for Christmas Eve is creamed, chicken Pattes, peas, chopped apple, celery and raw cranberries in gelatin on lettuce for salad, and for dessert serve Fig and Mincemeat Cobbler with good coffee. Eat it by candlelight after you've sung a few carols! Wonderful.

Plump Fig And Chocolate Surprises

Select beautiful and fancy California Dried Figs. Straighten the stems and press the Fig into stand-up positions. Toast unblanched almonds in a moderate oven (350°F.) until they are crisp. Press an almond into the center of each Fig. Then melt semi-sweet chocolate over hot water. Dip the figs into the chocolate and then stand them on aluminum foil or a buttered platter until cold. (Overnight is best). A quick and wonderful candy.

Economy Meat Buys

These are the days when budget short cuts are in order. With every penny needed for Christmas shopping and holiday entertaining, ideas for simple, inexpensive meals are in demand.

Three economy meats to keep in mind these days are beef short ribs, beef stew meat and pork shoulder roast. Here's a brief review of cooking pointers:

1. Short Ribs: Cut off excess fat and fry out in a heavy utensil. Sprinkle ribs with salt and pepper and dip in flour. Brown ribs in the hot fat, add some chopped onions, a sprinkle of herbs or a little Worcestershire sauce (or both), and partially cover with tomato juice or water. Cover and cook over low heat about three hours, or until very tender.

2. Beef Stew Meat: An interesting way to prepare stew meat is to add soy sauce to the cooking liquid. Flour and brown cubes, add some sliced onions and a small quantity of water plus a few tablespoons of soy sauce. Cover and cook slowly until tender.

3. Pork Shoulder Roast: Place on a rack in a shallow open pan and roast in a 325° F. oven 50 minutes per pound.

Buffet Star

Coincidental with the arrival of Jack Frost's annual visit comes an increased interest in entertaining. Pot luck suppers, Sunday morning brunches and informal buffet dinners are the rule of the season.

Here's just the main dish to feature at a Saturday night buffet supper. It's a delectable-tasting casserole of spaghetti with meat sauce and cheese.

Italian Spaghetti Casserole

1 pound ground beef
½ cup minced onion
No. 2 can tomatoes (2½ cups)
1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
7 or 8 ounce package spaghetti

Brown ground beef and onion in 1 tablespoon hot fat. Break up tomatoes with a fork and add with tomato paste, seasonings and cheese to ground beef. Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water until almost tender. Combine meat mixture with spaghetti and pour into greased 2 quart casserole. Bake at 350° F. for 30 minutes. Eight servings.

If duck is your choice for dinner, nothing — but nothing — could be more delicious relish with it than a big bowl of canned apple sauce. Apple sauce is light, refreshing, and really glorifies duck.

Quick Fudge Variations You Can Make Yourself

Candy made in your own kitchen always seems to taste better. When you're fixing refreshments for your next bridge party, make a batch of homemade fudge to nibble on "between hands".

Smooth, creamy fudge is so easy to make with "precooked" quick fudge mix. It takes just 4 minutes. So, you have that much more time to make luscious variations.

Add nuts, marshmallows or cherries to any of the 3 flavors of quick fudge mix. Cut fudge in squares, roll it into balls, or shape it into fudge rolls. Or, fill pitted dates with nut fudge. The variety of candies you can make will equal the finest you can buy.

Try these easy to make confections the next time you entertain:

CHOCOLATE NUT FUDGE

Use double boiler. Keep water boiling in bottom part. Into top part put 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Measure water in paper measure in package — fill once to fudge mark (3½ tablespoons). Add water to butter. When butter has melted, add entire contents of package of chocolate quick fudge mix. Stir over boiling water 3 to 4 minutes . . . until glossy. Do not beat. Stir in ¾ cup chopped walnuts, if desired. Pour at once onto buttered pan or plate. Cut in squares when cool.

Chocolate-Mallow Rolls

Make fudge as directed above. Before pouring, stir in 1 teaspoon rum extract. When cool, work 6 quartered marshmallows and 2 tablespoons chopped candied cherries into fudge. Do this with your hands (well greased so fudge won't stick). When cherries and marshmallows are well distributed, shape fudge into a roll. Wrap in wax paper. Chill. Cut in slices ½ to 1 inch thick.

Coconut Bon Bons

PENUCHE NUT FUDGE

Use double boiler. Keep water boiling in bottom part. Into top part put 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Measure water in paper measure in package — fill once to fudge mark (3½ tablespoons). Add water to butter. When butter has melted, add entire contents of package of penuche quick fudge mix. Stir over boiling water 3 to 4 minutes . . . until glossy. Do not beat. Stir in ¾ cup chopped pecans, if desired. Pour at once onto buttered pan or plate. Cut in squares when cool.

Stuffed Dates

Make penuche as directed above. Do not pour; instead, remove from heat and cool fudge slightly. Fill pitted dates with a teaspoonful of penuche. Enough for 40-50 dates.

Pecan Bon Bons

Make penuche as directed, but omit nuts. When cool, shape into balls. (Keep hands well greased so fudge doesn't stick.) Press pecan half into each Bon Bon.

Penuche Cherry Roll

Make penuche fudge as directed above. Before pouring, stir in 2 tablespoons chopped, candied cherries. When fudge is cool, shape into roll. Keep hands well greased so fudge does not stick. Cover roll with finely cut coconut. Wrap in wax paper. Chill, Cut in ½ to 1 inch slices.

Appetite Appeaser

These are the days when a hearty beef pot roast really hits the spot! Appetites stimulated by crisp air respond to the flavor of beef pot roast and its rich gravy. What's more, beef supplies continue good, so pot roast still is tops in economy meat buys.

Here's the kitchen-tested recipe for an interestingly seasoned herb pot roast.

Herb Pot Roast

4 pounds chuck pot roast
Flour, salt, pepper, lard
½ teaspoon each basil, marjoram and rosemary
Bouillon
2 medium onions
2 celery stalks with leaves

Dredge roast with flour and brown slowly in a little hot lard in a Dutch oven or other heavy utensil. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and slip a rack under the roast. To ½ cup hot bouillon add herbs and pour over and around roast. Place sliced onions and chopped celery on roast, and cook covered, over low heat until tender, 2½ to 3 hours. Add more bouillon as needed. When tender, remove roast to serving platter and make gravy from liquid and drippings.

Christmas Is Cookie Time

Merry Christmas time has a trick of sneaking up on a cook, doesn't it? The shopping and mailing of packages to dear ones who are away, the cards to write, tree to trim, and so on and on, leaves little time for planning those elegant goodies that are really a part of traditional Christmas cheer. Here are three delightful Christmas recipes, all tried and tested and calling for dried figs. These new-crop, sugar-plumped figs add a magic touch to Christmas cooking because they are so richly flavorful.

Gelatin Fruit Cake

20 California Dried Figs; ½ cup hot water; 2 tsps. instant coffee; 1 ½ squares unsweetened chocolate; 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin; 1 cup cold water; ¾ cup beet or cane sugar; 2 tsps. powdered cinnamon; 1 tsp. Vanilla; ½ tsp. almond extract; ½ cup sweet sherry or muscatel wine; 12 marshmallows; ½ cup diced pecans or walnuts; 1 cup rice crispies; heavy cream.

Cover the California Dried Figs with boiling water and let stand for 10 minutes. Drain. With scissors, snip off their stems. Then snip the figs into tiny pieces. Combine the hot water, the coffee and the chocolate. Stir and heat until chocolate melts. Meanwhile, add the gelatin to the cold water and let stand for 5 minutes. Add to the hot chocolate and coffee. Then add all the remaining ingredients except the cream. Stir together. Place in a beautiful big mold or in individual molds and chill. Turn out. Serve on chilled plates. Garnish with holly leaves and glace' cherries or any lovely holiday trimming. Top with sweetened, vahilla flavored whipped cream sprinkled with cinnamon. Serves 10-12.

Fig, Mincemeat Cobbler For Christmas Eve Supper

About 14 California Dried Figs; 1 package or can mince meat; 3 fresh, peeled apples; biscuit mix or your favorite biscuit recipe; 1 egg; butter.

Cover the California Dried Figs with cold water, bring to a boil and simmer for 10 minutes. Pour off liquid for later use in punch or to drink for breakfast. With scissors, snip off the stems of the figs. Then snip figs into small pieces and add to the mince meat. Peel and dice the apples into tiny pieces. Add brandy or bourbon if desired. Make your biscuit recipe, add the egg and a little extra milk to make a very soft dough. Drop the dough into a generously buttered shallow baking dish. With a spoon spread it evenly over the bottom and sides of the dish. Fill the "crust" with the mince meat mixture. Dot the top generously with butter or margarine. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) for 12 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350°F.) for about 20 minutes or until crust is deep brown and quite done in center under the mince meat(test it with a fork). Serve hot with heavy, unwhipped cream if desired or whip the cream and top it with maraschino cherries and holly leaves. A lovely supper for Christmas Eve is steamed, chicken Pattes, peas, chopped apple, celery and raw cranberries in gelatin on lettuce for salad, and for dessert serve Fig and Mincemeat Cobbler with good coffee. Eat it by candlelight after you've sung a few carols! Wonderful.

Plump Fig And Chocolate Surprises

Select beautiful and fancy California Dried Figs. Straighten the stems and press the Fig into stand-up positions. Toast unblanched almonds in a moderate oven (350°F.) until they are crisp. Press an almond into the center of each Fig. Then melt semi-sweet chocolate over hot water. Dip the figs into the chocolate and then stand them on aluminum foil or a buttered platter until cold. (Overnight is best). A quick and wonderful candy.

Economy Meat Buys

These are the days when budget short cuts are in order. With every penny needed for Christmas shopping and holiday entertaining, ideas for simple, inexpensive meals are in demand.

Three economy meats to keep in mind these days are beef short ribs, beef stew meat and pork shoulder roast. Here's a brief review of cooking pointers:

1. Short Ribs: Cut off excess fat and fry out in a heavy utensil. Sprinkle ribs with salt and pepper and dip in flour. Brown ribs in the hot fat, add some chopped onions, a sprinkle of herbs or a little Worcestershire sauce (or both), and partially cover with tomato juice or water. Cover and cook over low heat about three hours, or until very tender.

2. Beef Stew Meat: An interesting way to prepare stew meat is to add soy sauce to the cooking liquid. Flour and brown cubes, add some sliced onions and a small quantity of water plus a few tablespoons of soy sauce. Cover and cook slowly until tender.

3. Pork Shoulder Roast: Place on a rack in a shallow open pan and roast in a 325° F. oven 50 minutes per pound.

Buffet Star

Coincidental with the arrival of Jack Frost's annual visit comes an increased interest in entertaining. Pot luck suppers, Sunday morning brunches and informal buffet dinners are the rule of the season.

Here's just the main dish to feature at a Saturday night buffet supper. It's a delectable-tasting casserole of spaghetti with meat sauce and cheese.

Italian Spaghetti Casserole

1 pound ground beef
½ cup minced onion
No. 2 can tomatoes (2½ cups)
1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
7 or 8 ounce package spaghetti

Brown ground beef and onion in 1 tablespoon hot fat. Break up tomatoes with a fork and add with tomato paste, seasonings and cheese to ground beef. Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water until almost tender. Combine meat mixture with spaghetti and pour into greased 2 quart casserole. Bake at 350° F. for 30 minutes. Eight servings.

She's Rose Queen

SELECTED from many candidates, Barbara Schmidt, 17-year-old Pasadena City College student and a brunette, will rule as queen of the Rose Bowl fete at Pasadena, January 1. She's 5'6" tall and weighs 118 pounds. Michigan State and U.C.L.A. meet in the Rose Bowl game. (International)

If duck is your choice for dinner, nothing — but nothing — could be more delicious relish with it than a big bowl of canned apple sauce. Apple sauce is light, refreshing, and really glorifies duck.

Quick Fudge Variations You Can Make Yourself

Candy made in your own kitchen always seems to taste better. When you're fixing refreshments for your next bridge party, make a batch of homemade fudge to nibble on "between hands".

Smooth, creamy fudge is so easy to make with "precooked" quick fudge mix. It takes just 4 minutes. So, you have that much more time to make luscious variations.

Add nuts, marshmallows or cherries to any of the 3 flavors of quick fudge mix. Cut fudge in squares, roll it into balls, or shape it into fudge rolls. Or, fill pitted dates with nut fudge. The variety of candies you can make will equal the finest you can buy.

Try these easy to make confections the next time you entertain:

CHOCOLATE NUT FUDGE

Use double boiler. Keep water boiling in bottom part. Into top part put 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Measure water in paper measure in package — fill once to fudge mark (3½ tablespoons). Add water to butter. When butter has melted, add entire contents of package of chocolate quick fudge mix. Stir over boiling water 3 to 4 minutes . . . until glossy. Do not beat. Stir in ¾ cup chopped walnuts, if desired. Pour at once onto buttered pan or plate. Cut in squares when cool.

Chocolate-Mallow Rolls

Make fudge as directed above. Before pouring, stir in 1 teaspoon rum extract. When cool, work 6 quartered marshmallows and 2 tablespoons chopped candied cherries into fudge. Do this with your hands (well greased so fudge won't stick). When cherries and marshmallows are well distributed, shape fudge into a roll. Wrap in wax paper. Chill. Cut in slices ½ to 1 inch thick.

Coconut Bon Bons

PENUCHE NUT FUDGE

Use double boiler. Keep water boiling in bottom part. Into top part put 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Measure water in paper measure in package — fill once to fudge mark (3½ tablespoons). Add water to butter. When butter has melted, add entire contents of package of penuche quick fudge mix. Stir over boiling water 3 to 4 minutes . . . until glossy. Do not beat. Stir in ¾ cup chopped pecans, if desired. Pour at once onto buttered pan or plate. Cut in squares when cool.

Stuffed Dates

Make penuche as directed above. Do not pour; instead, remove from heat and cool fudge slightly. Fill pitted dates with a teaspoonful of penuche. Enough for 40-50 dates.

Pecan Bon Bons

Make penuche as directed, but omit nuts. When cool, shape into balls. (Keep hands well greased so fudge doesn't stick.) Press pecan half into each Bon Bon.

Penuche Cherry Roll

Make penuche fudge as directed above. Before pouring, stir in 2 tablespoons chopped, candied cherries. When fudge is cool, shape into roll. Keep hands well greased so fudge does not stick. Cover roll with finely cut coconut. Wrap in wax paper. Chill, Cut in ½ to 1 inch slices.

Appetite Appeaser

These are the days when a hearty beef pot roast really hits the spot! Appetites stimulated by crisp air respond to the flavor of beef pot roast and its rich gravy. What's more, beef supplies continue good, so pot roast still is tops in economy meat buys.

Here's the kitchen-tested recipe for an interestingly seasoned herb pot roast.

Herb Pot Roast

4 pounds chuck pot roast
Flour, salt, pepper, lard
½ teaspoon each basil, marjoram and rosemary
Bouillon
2 medium onions
2 celery stalks with leaves

Dredge roast with flour and brown slowly in a little hot lard in a Dutch oven or other heavy utensil. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and slip a rack under the roast. To ½ cup hot bouillon add herbs and pour over and around roast. Place sliced onions and chopped celery on roast, and cook covered, over low heat until tender, 2½ to 3 hours. Add more bouillon as needed. When tender, remove roast to serving platter and make gravy from liquid and drippings.

Hot Chicken Pie Is "Cock-A-Doodle" Dandy

Bubbling hot chicken pie is abou as nice a second-day way as yo can find to use up the Christma bird . . . be it chicken or turkey

All the old-fashioned goodness o this dish can be captured in a strictly new-fashioned recipe. The modern trend is to use creamy condensed soups for cooking sauces. And what could be more perfect than cream of mushroom or chicken soup in chicken pie. Just mix this luscious sauce with chunks of cooked chicken, onion, peas and green pepper. Put it into a cesserole, top with feathery biscuits and slide it into the oven. Vary the biscuits by cutting them into crescent shapes — diamonds or "doughnuts." Or cut biscuits with animal cooky cutters—if little folks are partaking of your chicken pie.

As company for the pie, feed your flock a colorful fruit salad and hot broccoli with lemon-butter sauce. Here's the new-fashioned recipe for the pie.

Dandy Chicken (Or Turkey) Pie

4 small white onions, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper.
2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom or chicken soup
½ cup milk or light cream
1 cup cubed, cooked chicken
½ cup diced cooked carrots (or cooked peas)
1 cup biscuit mix

Cook onion and green pepper until soft in shortening in a skillet. Combine with soup, ¼ cup milk, chicken and carrots; pour into an 8-inch pie plate or a shallow baking dish. Add remaining ¼ cup milk to biscuit mix; roll out dough about ½ inch thick. Cut biscuits. Place on top of chicken mixture. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) for 15 minutes. 4 servings.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

Good Company For Calories

A well-known food scientist made the statement recently that a "calorie should be judged by the company it keeps." If one is trying to lose weight by cutting down on foods, those fewer calories must be in the good company of proteins, minerals and vitamins.

That non-seen calorie is a term of measuring the energy-giving, or fuel, value of a food. The senior citizen of over 60 years of age who is doing less strenuous work needs fewer calories in a day than when he or she was more active. If more food is eaten than necessary for daily activities, the excess calories are converted into body fat.

Every food has some caloric value. Beverages like water, tea and coffee have none; they get a count only from added foods. The foods with a relatively low caloric count are those with a high amount of water and cellulose or little fat. These, and most are needed daily, include: fruits, vegetables, lean meat, fish with little oil, poultry, skim milk, cottage cheese and eggs. Cereals, and bread made from cereals, are not as low in calories as the foregoing foods. But they are inexpensive sources of energy, supplementary protein, and some of the B vitamins. It's usually the fats and sweeteners used with them that raises their caloric total.

Fats, pastries, frosted cakes and other rich desserts are the weight adders. They should be eaten in moderation and only after protein, mineral and vitamin food needs have been met.

The fewer calories permitted on a weight-watching diet can be maintained if one avoids second helpings. When a person can not be satisfied with a normal serving, part of this ravenous appetite can be appeased by a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack of unflavored gelatine in fruit juice or water. Unflavored gelatine is all-protein, and an envelope of this gelatine only contains 29 calories. Fruits or salads could start the meal and take the nip off a too hearty appetite.

Those fewer calories can also be made more exciting by attractive service. For example, the two cups of milk required a day for the senior citizen can be taken in coffee, tea, egg nogs, cream soups or custards.

Sip Vegetable Juices As Holiday Toast

While everyone waits for Christmas dinner, they'll enjoy sipping on cold mixed vegetable juices. Get the large-size can (6¼ cups) of 8 mixed juices and chill well before the feast. Give a Christmasy green garnish to the red drink this way. Fill glasses; then perch 2 or 3 stuffed olives on edge of each glass; cut halfway into each olive so it fits over rim. Another garnish could be a curled strip of green pepper (held together with toothpick) and perched on edge of glass. Pass a tray with the glasses of lively flavored juices and a basket of crisp rye wafers or melba toast. This makes a nourishing refresher—and doesn't dull anyone's appetite.

Favorite Pork Cuts For Happy Eating

The good news these days is that there will be more pork roasts to brighten your fall and winter menus. Supplies of pork are on the increase and you'll find all your favorite cuts on the market.

Loin roast is a popular pork buy, especially for Sunday or special occasion dinners. End-cut loin roasts are more economical than center cut, and they have the same good flavor and high quality protein as the fancier roasts.

Here's an intriguing way to prepare pork loin roast, barbecue style. The easy, kitchen-tested recipe follows. The barbecue sauce is a whiz to make — there's no onion chopping or precooking of the sauce; just mix and pour over the roast.

Barbecued Pork Loin Roast

- 4 to 5 pound end-cut pork loin roast
- 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce
- 1½ teaspoons bottled or fresh onion juice
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

Have the backbone loosened from the roast at the meat market. Place roast, fat side up in a shallow pan. Roast, uncovered, at 325 degrees F. for 50 minutes per pound (40 minutes per pound for a center-cut roast). Combine tomato sauce and other ingredients. 1½ hours before end of roasting time, pour barbecue sauce over roast. Continue roasting and baste every 20 minutes with sauce, spooning it up from bottom of pan. If sauce begins to stick, add a little water. When roast is done (185 degrees F. on roast meat thermometer), remove to platter. Spoon off fat and pour barbecue sauce into a small bowl; add hot water to dilute, if necessary. Carve pork roast by slicing downward between bones to make chop-size servings. (Carving will be somewhat more difficult toward the large end of the roast.) Serve meat topped with hot barbecue sauce.

For Holiday Fare

Royal fare for holiday feasts is a crown roast of pork. This unusual pork roast makes for interesting conversation as well as good eating. To add a festive note, top the bones with paper frills and garnish the platter with orange shells filled with cranberry relish.

Have meat man prepare crown roast from rib section of pork loin. Roast in a shallow open pan at 325 dergees F. for 30 minutes per pound. One hour before roast is done, fill the center of the "crown" with your favorite bread dressing. Return to oven and continue cooking the remaining hour.

Pork On A Budget

Another tasty pork cut to highlight your dinner menus is economical pork shoulder steaks. Prepare them with the interesting flavor accent of apple juice, raisins and nutmeg. Here's the home-kitchen tested recipe:

Fruity Pork Steaks

- 4 pork steaks
- 1 cup sliced onions
- 1½ cups apple juice
- ½ cup seedless raisins
- Salt, pepper, nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch

Trim some of the fat from edges of pork steaks and fry out in a heavy skillet; remove pieces. In the hot fat, brown pork steaks; remove and lightly brown onions. Drain off fat. Return steaks to skillet, add apple juice and raisins. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Cover and simmer over low heat 1 hour, or until meat is tender. Remove meat. Mix cornstarch to a smooth paste with 2 tablespoons cold water. Add to liquid and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Season to taste. Serve steaks with fluffy rice topped with some of the sauce. 4 servings.

Delicious "pass around" refreshments to offer guests over weekend are fingers of fruit cake accompanied by glasses of refreshing apple juice, well chilled. No trouble, either!

The finish of a new automobile is about three thousands of an inch thick.

Simmer Chops In Rich Brown Gravy

The rich brown beef gravy that comes in cans is a heavenly sauce to use in cooking pork chops with stuffing. Start with 4 chops (about 1 pound). For stuffing, mix 2 cups bread cubes with 2 tablespoons minced onion, ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning, 2 tablespoons melted butter and 2 tablespoons water. Brown chops on both sides in a skillet; also brown some wedges of apple around the chops. Then heap about ½ cup stuffing on top each chop; tuck apple wedges around stuffing. Pour on 1 can (1 ¼ cups) beef gravy and cover pan. Simmer about ½ hour or until chops are cooked through. This is a complete dinner with buttered broccoli or green beans.

A Dish That's Different

Cranberry Meat Balls

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- 1 egg
- 3 tablespoons chopped onion
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 (16 ounce) can cranberry sauce
- ¼ cup vinegar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch

Soak bread crumbs in milk; add slightly beaten egg, onion and seasonings. Mix with ground beef. Shape into 20 balls; roll in flour and brown in ¼ cup lard or other fat. Drain off excess fat. Break up cranberry sauce with a fork and combine with vinegar. Add to meat balls, cover and cook over low heat for 5 minutes, turning once. Remove balls to hot platter and thicken liquid with cornstarch mixed with 1½ tablespoons cold water. Top balls with hot sauce. 4 servings.

Golden Apple Sauce Pudding With Toasted Coconut Top For Dessert

Some day soon when it's raw and cheerless outdoors, treat the members of your family to this comforting, warm and cinnamony apple sauce pudding. A fine satisfying finish to a meal, they'll think, as they relax into a contented glow.

It's a pudding rich but light. Apple-fragrant, crunchy with walnuts and coconut, it looks and smells delicious. And it owes the lovely apple flavor to canned apple sauce. You can, of course, depend on the flavor of canned apple sauce — because apple sauce is made from crisp, extra juicy apples grown and picked specially for this very purpose. Canned apple sauce is also the big work-saving reason you can whisk this pudding together and have it on the table in a scant half-hour, cooking time and all included. Delicious to serve with it are tall glasses of apple juice, very cold, as lively contrast to the warm pudding.

Golden Apple Sauce Pudding With Toasted Coconut Top

2 cups canned apple sauce; 2 teaspoons grated orange rind; ¼ cup orange juice; 1½ cups graham cracker crumbs; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; ¼ cup brown sugar; ¼ cup melted butter or margarine; ½ cup broken walnuts; ¾ cup shredded coconut. Light cream.

Combine apple sauce, orange rind and juice. Combine graham cracker crumbs, cinnamon, sugar, butter or margarine and walnuts; mix. Arrange alternate layers of apple sauce mixture, crumb mixture and coconut in greased 8"x8"x2" baking dish, ending with coconut layer. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold with cream. Yields 4-6 servings.

(This is an original recipe tested by Gertrude Lynn, nationally known Home Economist.)

Lima Beans And Shrimp New And Exciting Dish

For something a little different in casserole dishes, try this combination of lima beans and shrimp. Easy-to-do and quick — it's a fine meal-in-a-dish combination for busy days. Cream of mushroom soup is used for the sauce. Lemon juice and horseradish are the special seasonings. For fine piquant flavor, the combination is outstanding!

Lima Beans And Shrimp

- 1 package lima beans
- 1 cup cooked shrimp
- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 2 tablespoons horseradish
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Salt and pepper to taste

Cook lima beans according to instructions on package; drain. Mix all ingredients well and put in 1 qt. casserole. Heat in oven. Temperature: 350 degrees. Time: 30 minutes. Amount: 4 servings.

Tips For Good Eating

An up-to-the-minute tip to the homemaker who makes it her business to know good meat buys is to buy beautiful, bountiful beef. Another tip is to get acquainted with flank steak. Here's a hint for cooking flank steak—cut it into individual servings and prepare like this:

- 1 flank steak
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Have meat man score flank steak; cut into four pieces. Combine flour, salt, pepper and dry mustard; pound into steak, using a meat pounder or the edge of a heavy saucer. Brown on all sides in a little hot fat. Mix Worcestershire sauce with ½ cup water; add to meat. Cover and cook over low heat until tender, about 2 hours, adding more water as needed. Four servings.

Holiday Treat

Just the thing for holiday entertaining, from Thanksgiving to New Year's, is a glazed canned ham. Everyone likes ham and it makes a handsome main dish on a holiday buffet table, especially when garnished with fruit or sprigs of holly.

An orange glazed ham has an interesting flavor. Choose a 6 to 7 pound ham. This will serve around 20 persons. Refrigerate ham until ready to use, then remove from can. Place ham, fat side up, on a rack in a shallow pan. Heat, uncovered, in a 325° F. oven for one hour. Score fat, stick with cloves, if desired, and cover with a glaze made by combining one cup of brown sugar with the juice and grated rind of one orange. Return to oven until well glazed, about half an hour. Serve hot or cold.

Great News For Those Who Like Mincemeat!

For people whose eyes light up at the mere thought of a mince pie — dark, rich, moist and full of flavor — this will be like getting a coveted Christmas present. For here's a new way to enjoy mincemeat. Cupcakes made with it! Doesn't that sound exciting? And talk about gilding the lily. These cupcakes are frosted with a creamy lemon icing, their perfect cool, complement.

Not only do these little cakes rejoice in having mincemeat in them, but they're crammed with other good things to make them doubly tempting.

With this treasure of a recipe you can make three dozen small cupcakes, or a dozen and a half larger ones. If you've been wondering what to give some friend, as a really personal sort of Christmas gift, why not do this. Pack a pretty, festive-looking box with these little creations. You can decorate the cakes to your liking, for even more Christmas atmosphere, with colored gumdrops, cinnamon candies or bits of angelica. Or you might add a tiny candle, set upright in a life saver as holder.

If yours is a traditional sort of household, about the Holidays, faithfully having turkey and pumpkin pie for Thanksgiving, and turkey (or perhaps goose?) and mince pie for Christmas — here's your chance to stay loyal to tradition, but with an appealing difference. Especially after a big dinner these little mincemeat cupcakes, served with a good strong brew of coffee, make an ideal dessert.

Mincemeat Cup Cakes

⅓ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar (packed tightly)
¾ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
¾ cup moist mincemeat
1¾ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ cup milk
¼ cup chopped nutmeats
¼ cup currants or raisins

Blend shortening, sugar, salt and eggs. Add mincemeat, stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Add nutmeats and raisins. Drop into lines or greased cup cake tins and bake at 350 degrees F. for 20-25 minutes. Ice when cool with Creamy Lemon Frosting. Decorate as desired — perhaps with a tiny candle with a life-saver holder, or a Christmas tree designed with gum drops.

Creamy Lemon Frosting

2⅓ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup granulated sugar
½ cup shortening
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind

Mix confectioners' sugar, salt and egg. Boil the lemon juice and granulated sugar together for one minute, then blend with the sugar and egg mixture. Add shortening and grated lemon rind. Beat until creamy.

An easy—and economical—meat dish to serve for one of your weekend dinners is well browned sausage patties topped by canned apple slices that have been lightly frizzled in the fat from the patties. Tasty and a nice change-off from cold turkey.

Popular Pork Hocks

With pork supplies on the increase, favorite pork dishes are making their dinner debuts. One old-fashioned pork dish which goes easy on the budget is pork hocks.

Cooked to juicy tenderness, with subtle touches of just-right seasonings, pork hocks can't be beat for a fall or winter dinner.

Savory Pork Hocks: Brown fresh pork hocks in a little hot fat; sprinkle with salt and add ½ teaspoon thyme, ¼ teaspoon sage, ¼ teaspoon savory and several peppercorns. Add 1 large onion, sliced, and 1 cup of water. Cover and simmer over low heat until meat is very tender, about 2 hours. Add more water as needed during cooking.

Handy Meat Buy

A smoked boneless pork butt (sometimes called a cottage roll) is about as handy a meat as you can find. First of all, it's so easy to prepare. Just cover it with water, add a few seasonings such as a garlic bud, a few whole cloves and a bay leaf, and let it cook slowly for two to three hours. Then it's all ready to slice and serve hot or cold.

Smoked butt leftovers are as easy to use as leftover ham. Thinly sliced smoked butt and rye bread sandwiches are tasty in the lunch box. Small pieces of the leftover butt may be ground and used in a "different" breakfast dish. Make a medium thick white sauce and to it add ground smoked butt and diced hard cooked eggs. Cook over low heat, stirring carefully; season to taste and serve over hot buttered toast.

REDOUBLE ON STRENGTH

FOLLOWING an immediate takeout double, the fine partner of an opening suit bidder does not redouble nowadays just because he sees that the original bid could be made without difficulty. Such action is used only to show good general high card strength and the possibility that any takeout by the opponents might be doubled and punished. With a hand not generally strong, but splendidly fitted to the opening suit, over a double the partner of the opener tries to erect a barrier against the stronger side, by raising to two or three, or maybe even four.

North, expecting South to have a hand of pretty good honor power outside of the diamonds, naturally passed to see if his partner wanted to double the 4-Hearts. South had no such desire, so passed. The contract was made without great difficulty, West losing only a single trick in each side suit. Then both North and South were sorry they had not sacrificed at 5-Diamonds, which could not have been beaten for as many points as the vulnerable game was worth, not over three tricks, and might have been set only two.

You surely couldn't expect North to make that sacrifice, after South's redouble had in effect told him not to. It was South's move, if anybody was to sacrifice.

Actually South fumbled the ball at every important spot in the auction. When he heard North's 1-Diamond, only a third-hand not vulnerable opening, he should have realized that his total lack of outside strength, except the club A, made his hand weak generally on the defense against some other suit. He therefore should have tried to impede his opponents, even going to the extent of overbidding a bit. The truly fine bid in his situation would have been 4-Diamonds, not a mere two or three, since a raise to two could not have interfered much and a raise to three might have made North think he had a bit more general strength, whereas 4-Diamonds would be clearly a stretch.

Popular Pork Hocks

With pork supplies on the increase, favorite pork dishes are making their dinner debuts. One old-fashioned pork dish which goes easy on the budget is pork hocks.

Cooked to juicy tenderness, with subtle touches of just-right seasonings, pork hocks can't be beat for a fall or winter dinner.

Savory Pork Hocks: Brown fresh pork hocks in a little hot fat; sprinkle with salt and add ½ teaspoon thyme, ¼ teaspoon sage, ¼ teaspoon savory and several peppercorns. Add 1 large onion, sliced, and 1 cup of water. Cover and simmer over low heat until meat is very tender, about 2 hours. Add more water as needed during cooking.

Handy Meat Buy

A smoked boneless pork butt (sometimes called a cottage roll) is about as handy a meat as you can find. First of all, it's so easy to prepare. Just cover it with water, add a few seasonings such as a garlic bud, a few whole cloves and a bay leaf, and let it cook slowly for two to three hours. Then it's all ready to slice and serve hot or cold.

Smoked butt leftovers are as easy to use as leftover ham. Thinly sliced smoked butt and rye bread sandwiches are tasty in the lunch box. Small pieces of the leftover butt may be ground and used in a "different" breakfast dish. Make a medium thick white sauce and to it add ground smoked butt and diced hard cooked eggs. Cook over low heat, stirring carefully; season to taste and serve over hot buttered toast.

REDOUBLE ON STRENGTH

FOLLOWING an immediate takeout double, the fine partner of an opening suit bidder does not redouble nowadays just because he sees that the original bid could be made without difficulty. Such action is used only to show good general high card strength and the possibility that any takeout by the opponents might be doubled and punished. With a hand not generally strong, but splendidly fitted to the opening suit, over a double the partner of the opener tries to erect a barrier against the stronger side, by raising to two or three, or maybe even four.

North, expecting South to have a hand of pretty good honor power outside of the diamonds, naturally passed to see if his partner wanted to double the 4-Hearts. South had no such desire, so passed. The contract was made without great difficulty, West losing only a single trick in each side suit. Then both North and South were sorry they had not sacrificed at 5-Diamonds, which could not have been beaten for as many points as the vulnerable game was worth, not over three tricks, and might have been set only two.

You surely couldn't expect North to make that sacrifice, after South's redouble had in effect told him not to. It was South's move, if anybody was to sacrifice.

Actually South fumbled the ball at every important spot in the auction. When he heard North's 1-Diamond, only a third-hand not vulnerable opening, he should have realized that his total lack of outside strength, except the club A, made his hand weak generally on the defense against some other suit. He therefore should have tried to impede his opponents, even going to the extent of overbidding a bit. The truly fine bid in his situation would have been 4-Diamonds, not a mere two or three, since a raise to two could not have interfered much and a raise to three might have made North think he had a bit more general strength, whereas 4-Diamonds would be clearly a stretch.

How should South play for 7-Spades if West leads the club 3 instead of the diamond suit, which both his stretching partner and he had bid?

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10 (INS)—My friend of many years, Ronald Reagan, who hasn't made a movie in far too long, has been hustled into "Prisoner of War" at MGM, and I mean hustled. He starts next week, with Dewey Martin and Steve Forrest.

Seldom has a feature production been prepared with the speed with which Producer Henry Berman has readied this tale of Korea and the Commies. It was only last Aug. 12 that the first liberated GIs arrived in San Francisco. Allen Rivkin interviewed many of them and wrote his script as he heard their stories of life in the prison camps and the Red atrocities.

Very nice to have Ronnie back on the screen. He's one of our leading citizens, as well as a fine actor.

I had an early morning visitor who looked so much like Marilyn Monroe that as soon as I got my eyes open I took a second look at her.

She was Pat Orsatti, the beautiful wife of Victor Orsatti, the agent. Pat came to tell me that she's been signed by Victor Saville for two more Mickey Spillane pictures. One is "The Silver Chalice" and the other "Kiss Me Deadly."

She is taking her real name of Dolores Donlon because she thinks it's so euphoneous. She's the only one of these so-called beauties who trade on their resemblance to Marilyn, who really looks like her in figure and face.

Corinne Calvet is a smart French gal. When John Bromfield cabled her that he wouldn't be finished on "Ring of Fear" in time to join her and her family in Paris for Christmas, Corinne cabled back "I'll join you."

Gossip is sure to start when married couple are apart for too long, particularly through the holidays.

So, Corinne will fly to Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 20 to celebrate the holidays with her husband and Clyde Beatty and Mickey Spillane—who are on location there.

Two people happy to be back in Hollywood to spend Christmas with the children are John Ireland and Joanne Dru who have been in London for months while John made "The Good Die Young."

Packed in the top of John's suitcase is a story he bought in England, "The Ballerina and the Bruiser," a novelette by Margaret Jameson. The two top characters are a prizefighter and a ballet dancer.

John will play the fighter, himself, but casting the ballerina will take a bit of doing for the lady has to dance as well as act.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

A note from Thomas Cornwall Jackson, Jr., tells me he's joined the family of Gail Patrick Jackson and Corny Jackson. He's the little brother of Miss Jenny Jackson. He asked me to come and see him. I'll be there, Tommy.

Jane Powell at Ciro's with Jerry Davis. Where, oh, where was Pat Nerney, who has been her every night date?

Mervyn Leroy lunching with Jack Warner brought a lot of telephone calls, but Merv had also seen Howard Hughes, 20th, William Goetz and 10 or 12 others. Jack is very frant to say he would like to have Mervyn but who wouldn't? He's only one of the best!

At Chasen's, Irving Fein brought over Sylvia St. Clair, who said she had sung "C'est So Bon" over a year in London. Well, Johnny Desmond and Eartha Kitt have sung it that long, too.

Arlene Dahl, happy over her big success in New York, was at the Saratoga with Fernando Lamas. With all the attention Arlene had on Broadway, she's still crazy for the Argentine actor.

No truth in the story that Bill (Hopalong) Boyd will play Moses in C. B. De Mille's "Ten Commandments." C. B. tells me no one is set yet, and he is still looking.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Regular followers of this column know that I have always stressed the importance of treating the neck as part of the face. The consequences of not doing so are brought out clearly by the following letter:

"When I look at my face I'm usually pretty pleased by the way my age isn't showing. But then I look down at my neck and how it does give me away. It is wrinkling and withering and keeping track of my days and years better than any calendar could. What can I do?"

Whenever a reader writes me complaining about the withering of her neck, I know that though she has creamed her face with some regularity and probably worn a foundation cream under her make-up which further lubricates the skin on her face, she has ignored the fact that her neck also is exposed to drying influences—and also to view!

Wrinkle-free Neck

If you want a smooth, soft, wrinkle-free skin through the years, you must lubricate the skin well and constantly. In fact, especially in winter, the whole body should be lubricated once a week and the face, neck, hands and elbows daily.

Good neck care is carried out as follows: Each night before retiring, wash thoroughly with a mild soap and warm but not-too-hot water. Use a complexion brush on the back of the neck and especially around the hair line. Rinse, wash and rinse well again.

Dip the fingers of both hands in your richest cream — one of lanolin is excellent. Now massage your neck, starting with the fingers of both hands placed where a "dowager's hump" sometimes occurs. Stroke upward from the base of your neck to the hair line—never, never stroke downward.

Then move to the sides of your neck and massage lightly with the palms of your hands—again with plenty of rich cream. Keep your strokes on the sides and front feather light. Stretching or "pushing" the skin is damaging. For the sides, stroke from shoulder up to ear.

For Supple Smoothness

Next treat the front, starting low on your chest and stroking up to your chin. Cover each part of your neck with several strokes.

It is best to perform this treatment just before taking your bath. Allow the cream to remain and the heat will tend to increase its effectiveness.

Before retiring, tissue off the excess lubricant but allow a thin film to remain on until morning. On arising, splash some skin freshener or cold water on your neck; tissue it again and you'll find no residue of lubricant.

Be faithful and supple smoothness will be your reward!

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS OFFER

Pigeon Has News Conference Preceding Flight With $1,000

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Everything happens in this crazy, mixed-up town. Today a pigeon held a news conference.

She held it shortly before she took off for her home in Jersey City, N. J., with a thousand-dollar bill taped to her leg.

The gimmick: The money was held in place by Texcel cellophane tape, whose makers footed the bill for the stunt. Press agents eagerly explained that the tape company was betting $1,000 its product wouldn't come unstuck.

It was obvious from the start that the pigeons didn't cotton to the idea.

Reporters arrived to find that the swank presidential suite of the Statler Hotel—where Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower and MacArthur have stayed—had been turned into a temporary pigeon loft.

These historical distinctions failed to impress the pigeons. Several, in small cardboard boxes in the big room, were muttering to each other. And outside, on a sort of front porch overlooking the House, a batch in a coop appeared to be holding an indignation meeting.

Fluttering anxiously from coop to box were two men identified as William Indyk, who owned the birds, and Otto Meyer of Fair Haven, N. J., who used to be a pigeon expert for the armed services.

"The Army still has hundreds of pigeons," Meyer said.

"These are young birds," Indyk said. "We race the young ones in the fall, so these were already in shape. I'd say the one carrying the money is around 8 months old. We'll release 18 because they like to fly in flocks."

"A pigeon can race until he's seven or eight years old," Meyer said. "Pigeons mate for life. The females are extremely faithful. The males"—here he looked roguish—"Well, you know how males are."

A pigeon, sex unidentified cooed indignantly.

"We figure," Indyk said, "that it will take from four and a half to five hours for the pigeons to reach home. It's exactly 198.023 miles from here."

"A pigeon can fly 600 miles in a day," Meyer said. "Usually they fly only 100 to 150 feet high, but we've had planes follow them up as high as 1,500 feet. They hunt out the best wind conditions."

Indyk said more people are becoming interested in pigeons all the time, that he owns 125 birds and that he works hard selling furniture to help support them. "They're part of my family," he said.

The expedition moved out on the front porch. Some one wanted to know where the model was. Where there's a gimmick, there's usually a model. "She hates pigeons," some one else said.

But Helene Poireaux was located, the thousand-dollar bill was tied on the bird's leg and it was handed to her. They posed for pictures, eyeing each other suspiciously.

Miss Poireaux turned the bird loose; it darted toward the White House. Then the others were released and as they made a half circle, she hurried to join them.

Within seconds they were out of sight; obviously glad the press conference was over.

Later, a check with Jersey City showed the pigeons squandered neither time nor money by loitering along the way. They made it home in 3 hours, 19 minutes and 17 seconds for an average speed of 60 miles an hour.

The thousand dollar bill was still intact.

Approximately 10 inches of snow equals one inch of rain.

Fish flour has been considered as a possible substitute for milk in countries where cows are scarce. Odorless and tasteless when properly prepared, it can be used in biscuits, soups or mixed with corn meal.

STARTING MONDAY

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10 (INS)—My friend of many years, Ronald Reagan, who hasn't made a movie in far too long, has been hustled into "Prisoner of War" at MGM, and I mean hustled. He starts next week, with Dewey Martin and Steve Forrest.

Seldom has a feature production been prepared with the speed with which Producer Henry Berman has headied this tale of Korea and the Commies. It was only last Aug. 12 that the first liberated GIs arrived in San Francisco. Allen Rivkin interviewed many of them and wrote his script as he heard their stories of life in the prison camps and the Red atrocities.

Very nice to have Ronnie back on the screen. He's one of our leading citizens, as well as a fine actor.

I had an early morning visitor who looked so much like Marilyn Monroe that as soon as I got my eyes open I took a second look at her.

She was Pat Orsatti, the beautiful wife of Victor Orsatti, the agent. Pat came to tell me that she's been signed by Victor Saville for two more Mickey Spillane pictures. One is "The Silver Chalice" and the other "Kiss Me Deadly."

She is taking her real name of Dolores Donlon because she thinks it's so euphoneous. She's the only one of these so-called beauties who trade on their resemblance to Marilyn, who really looks like her in figure and face.

Corinne Calvet is a smart French gal. When John Bromfield cabled her that he wouldn't be finished on "Ring of Fear" in time to join her and her family in Paris for Christmas, Corinne cabled back "I'll join you."

Gossip is sure to start when married couple are apart for too long, particularly through the holidays.

So, Corinne will fly to Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 20 to celebrate the holidays with her husband and Clyde Beatty and Mickey Spillane—who are on location there.

Two people happy to be back in Hollywood to spend Christmas with the children are John Ireland and Joanne Dru who have been in London for months while John made "The Good Die Young."

Packed in the top of John's suitcase is a story he bought in England, "The Ballerina and the Bruiser," a novelette by Margaret Jameson. The two top characters are a prizefighter and a ballet dancer.

John will play the fighter, himself, but casting the ballerina will take a bit of doing for the lady has to dance as well as act.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

A note from Thomas Cornwall Jackson, Jr., tells me he's joined the family of Gail Patrick Jackson and Corny Jackson. He's the little brother of Miss Jenny Jackson. He asked me to come and see him. I'll be there, Tommy.

Jane Powell at Ciro's with Jerry Davis. Where, oh, where was Pat Nerney, who has been her every night date?

Mervyn Leroy lunching with Jack Warner brought a lot of telephone calls, but Merv had also seen Howard Hughes, 20th, William Goetz and 10 or 12 others. Jack is very frant to say he would like to have Mervyn but who wouldn't? He's only one of the best!

At Chasen's, Irving Fein brought over Sylvia St. Clair, who said she had sung "C'est So Bon" over a year in London. Well, Johnny Desmond and Eartha Kitt have sung it that long, too.

Arlene Dahl, happy over her big success in New York, was at the Saratoga with Fernando Lamas. With all the attention Arlene had on Broadway, she's still crazy for the Argentine actor.

No truth in the story that Bill (Hopalong) Boyd will play Moses in C. B. De Mille's "Ten Commandments." C. B. tells me no one is set yet, and he is still looking.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Regular followers of this column know that I have always stressed the importance of treating the neck as part of the face. The consequences of not doing so are brought out clearly by the following letter:

"When I look at my face I'm usually pretty pleased by the way my age isn't showing. But then I look down at my neck and how it does give me away. It is wrinkling and withering and keeping track of my days and years better than any calendar could. What can I do?"

Whenever a reader writes me complaining about the withering of her neck, I know that though she has creamed her face with some regularity and probably worn a foundation cream under her make-up which further lubricates the skin on her face, she has ignored the fact that her neck also is exposed to drying influences—and also to view!

Wrinkle-free Neck

If you want a smooth, soft, wrinkle-free skin through the years, you must lubricate the skin well and constantly. In fact, especially in winter, the whole body should be lubricated once a week and the face, neck, hands and elbows daily.

Good neck care is carried out as follows: Each night before retiring, wash thoroughly with a mild soap and warm but not-too-hot water. Use a complexion brush on the back of the neck and especially around the hair line. Rinse, wash and rinse well again.

Dip the fingers of both hands in your richest cream — one of lanolin is excellent. Now massage your neck, starting with the fingers of both hands placed where a "dowager's hump" sometimes occurs. Stroke upward from the base of your neck to the hair line—never, never stroke downward.

Then move to the sides of your neck and massage lightly with the palms of your hands—again with plenty of rich cream. Keep your strokes on the sides and front feather light. Stretching or "pushing" the skin is damaging. For the sides, stroke from shoulder up to ear.

For Supple Smoothness

Next treat the front, starting low on your chest and stroking up to your chin. Cover each part of your neck with several strokes.

It is best to perform this treatment just before taking your bath. Allow the cream to remain and the heat will tend to increase its effectiveness.

Before retiring, tissue off the excess lubricant but allow a thin film to remain on until morning. On arising, splash some skin freshener or cold water on your neck; tissue it again and you'll find no residue of lubricant.

Be faithful and supple smoothness will be your reward!

Woman Charged With Murder Of 51-Year-Old Man

GRAFTON, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Myrtle Currence, 41, was arrested on a murder warrant today in the death of a 51-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe, Sheriff Guy W. Cole said.

The arrest followed a coroner's jury report that Delbert George Williams died as the result of wounds from a butcher knife allegedly wielded by Mrs. Currence last Nov. 22.

Williams died Dec. 1 in Grafton Hospital.

Coroner Ona C. Jeffreys impaneled a jury Dec. 2 but dismissed it the same day pending an autopsy report. The report, received today, showed that death was due to the stabbing wound, Prosecutor Richard Bord said.

Sheriff Cole said the stabbing followed an argument between Williams and Mrs. Currence, his housekeeper, at the victim's home. Mrs. Currence allegedly stabbed Williams, the sheriff said, after he refused to release his hold on a baby she was carrying in her arms.

Mrs. Currence had been released on $1,500 bond on a felonious assault charge pending the report from the coroner's jury. She now is confined to Taylor County jail.

No date for the preliminary hearing has been set, Cole said.

Woman Charged With Murder Of 51-Year-Old Man

GRAFTON, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Myrtle Currence, 41, was arrested on a murder warrant today in the death of a 51-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe, Sheriff Guy W. Cole said.

The arrest followed a coroner's jury report that Delbert George Williams died as the result of wounds from a butcher knife allegedly wielded by Mrs. Currence last Nov. 22.

Williams died Dec. 1 in Grafton Hospital.

Coroner Ona C. Jeffreys impaneled a jury Dec. 2 but dismissed it the same day pending an autopsy report. The report, received today, showed that death was due to the stabbing wound, Prosecutor Richard Bord said.

Sheriff Cole said the stabbing followed an argument between Williams and Mrs. Currence, his housekeeper, at the victim's home. Mrs. Currence allegedly stabbed Williams, the sheriff said, after he refused to release his hold on a baby she was carrying in her arms.

Mrs. Currence had been released on $1,500 bond on a felonious assault charge pending the report from the coroner's jury. She now is confined to Taylor County jail.

No date for the preliminary hearing has been set, Cole said.

Owen Retires As New York Giants Coach

Will Head Scouting System; Lombardi May Be Successor

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Steve Owen, the big, ruddy-faced Oklahoman whose name has been synonomous with the New York Football Giants for 26 years, today announced his retirement as coach of the National Football League club.

Owen's resignation becomes effective after Sunday's game with the champion Detroit Lions at the Polo Grounds and that fact could spell bad news for the Lions.

The Giants will be primed to "win one for Steve" and it could cost the Lions the Western Conference title. Detroit needs to win its final game of the regular season to sew up the division flag. If the Lions lose and San Francisco beats Baltimore, the two clubs will be tied and a playoff will be necessary.

Lombardi Mentioned

President Jack Mara didn't mention the names of prospective candidates for Owen's job but there was an unconfirmed report it might go to Vinnie Lombardi, former Fordham star and now backfield coach of Army. Mara said the new man would be appointed in time to attend the NFL draft meetings next month.

Big Steve won't sever his attachments with the club, however. He will head an expanded scouting system and will start hunting talent shortly after the season closes. He will coach one of the teams in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., Jan. 9, as he has done for several years.

The gravel-voiced, 55-year old Owen, born at Cleo Springs, Okla., made his first visit to the big town in 1926 with the touring Kansas City football cowboys. He has been a part of the New York scene since.

Was All-League Tackle

A 6-3, 250-pounder, Owen was an all-league tackle with the giants for four straight years. He took over as coach of the Giants in 1931 and led them to eight eastern titles and two league championships. His overall record as coach was 146-101-17.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

FRANK LEAHY says that the 1953 Notre Dame football team was "the greatest" because it "succeeded against a terrific schedule."

Could be. And it could be, also, that Frank, miffed at Maryland getting No. 1 rating in national polls, wanted to let everyone know he thought his team was the best in the land.

Frank has no argument with us on the No. 1 rating, for, in our system, the Irish were the tops, with Maryland third behind Michigan State.

The 1953 Notre Dame team, without a doubt, was one of the finest ever fielded at South Bend. The schedule was rough, too, week after week, but Frank's covering a lot of ground and passing up some great squads of the past when he calls his 1953 production the "greatest ever."

Of course, it's all a matter of opinion.

THE GREATNESS of the Irish, this year, was that the team was a perfectly-balanced squad with all-around perfection. The assertion is borne out by the overall season play in which the offense had everything, including running, passing, power and alertness and the defense speed and power.

Only one man, Johnny Lattner, made most of the All-American teams, accenting the overall ability of the squad as a team unit. For example, Neil Worden, the fullback, probably ranked as one of the all-time greats and yet he failed to make any All-American first team.

The 1953 club also had the benefit of help from the newcomers.

Overlooked in the whole picture of the Irish was the quarterbacking of Ralph Guglielmi, who began the season on even terms with Bob Carey and then won the job for himself.

While Leahy never said so, he was disappointed in the development of the two at the time of fall practice and felt that this was one of his weak spots.

Guglielmi, however, came on during the season and played a remarkable brand of ball.

THERE IS plenty of talent coming back, including Carey and Guglielmi, Don Schaefer, Dick Fitzgerald, Dan Shannon, Joe Heap and Ray Lemek. If Leahy's health holds out, he'll be back, too.

Looks like the Irish will be riding high again in '54.

White Sox Send Rogovin, Ryan, Krsnich To Reds For Marshall

Players Are Waived By Both Loops Before Trade Is Negotiated

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today obtained outfielder Willard Marshall from the Cincinnati Redlegs in exchange for three players—pitcher Saul Rogovin and infielders Connie Ryan and Rocky Krsnich.

Sox General Manager Frank Lane announced from New York at the major league winter meetings it was a straight trade without cash consideration.

All four players had to be waived by their respective leagues—Marshall in the National and Rogovin, Ryan and Krsnich in the American—before the trade could be negotiated.

Marshall, 32, who also played for the New York Giants and Boston Braves, batted .266 last season, drove across 62 runs and hit 17 home runs.

Rogovin was one of Sox Manager Paul Richard's pet pitchers, but after he led the American League in earned run average with 2.78 in 1951 with a 12-8 record and had a 14-9 record in 1952, big Saul slipped to 7-12 last season.

Third baseman Krsnich came up from the Sox farm system in 1952,

Saul Rogovin — Rocky Krsnich

Connie Ryan — Willard Marshall

hitting .231. This year Krsnich batted .202 in 64 games. Ryan, who has played third base and second base, was acquired this year from the Philadelphia Phils. He batted .222 in 17 games.

Lane said Marshall would give the Sox a solid left-handed hitting outfielder which would help in the proposed shift of Minnie Minoso from left field to third base.

Beagle Club Will Stage Ham, Turkey Shoot On Sunday

The Allegany Beagle Club will sponsor a ham and turkey shoot at its new traps on the Barton Dairy Farm, McMullen Highway, Sunday, commencing at 12 noon.

The program will include trapshooting, target shooting and scatter cards.

It will be the second shoot of the season held by the club.

Racing Commission Stalled Third Time On Dates For 1954

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP) — The Maryland Racing Commission stalled for the third time today on the dates for 1954.

The commission had scheduled a meeting for this morning to announce the dates for all the tracks, although the only ones unsettled are for Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie.

The meeting was called off and scheduled again for tomorrow.

The commission originally said it would announce the dates Dec. 2.

But D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman, revealed instead that the three - man commission couldn't agree on a schedule for the three mile tracks.

The main issue is the second and third weeks in November. All three tracks are asking to run then.

Hemmis Highly Rated — Ed Shuck Honored — Don Moran Is Hero — May Pilots Reading

By C. V. BURNS

MOTORCYCLE hill climbing did a fadeout locally several years ago but the performances of a Baltimore and Ohio railroad clerk continues to keep Cumberland in slant riding's national spotlight.

Joseph W. Hemmis, 111 Humbird Street, was the fourth highest point getter in the nation this year with a total of 62 tallies.

The name Hemmis has occupied a prominent place in the cycle hill climbing sport since 1946. That was the year Joe's dad — Clarence W. "Tan" Hemmis — copped two national titles at Muskegon, Mich., and broke the course record with the remarkable achievement of 7.91 seconds.

In 1948, Joe and his brother, Clarence "Tee" Hemmis, shared a pair of national titles at Muskegon.

Joe participated in the national event for the seventh straight time this year. Bethlehem, Pa., was the scene of the contests in September. Riding an English Triumph, an imported bike, and the only one of its kind in competition in this country, Hemmis struck a rock on his first run, broke a rear axle and finished in fifth place.

In the seven national meets in which Hemmis has participated, here is how he fared:

Hemmis has participated in a total of 12 meets this year and he finished on top eight times. The tests were staged at York, Johnstown, Summerhill, McKeesport, Washington, Williamsport and Bethlehem, Pa., Conesus Lake and Weedsport, N. Y., and East Palestine, Circleville and Dayton, Ohio.

Joe is a clerk in the B&O scale office on the Eastbound Hump. His dad, "Tan," is now employed in the experimental lab of the Westinghouse Electric Company, Pittsburgh, while his brother "Tee" is with the Glenn L. Martin Company at Baltimore.

DON MORAN, former Bruce High and University of Maryland star, was the hero as the Hagerstown Cabineers defeated the St. Louis Bombers Sunday afternoon in Hagerstown by the score of 66-64.

Moran sank two free throws to win the game for Kenny Ridenour's aggregation. Don paced the scorers with 18 points on six field goals and six free throws. Lee Brawley,

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY NEW CAR—
ASK YOURSELF THESE 5 QUESTIONS

Does it match the Aero Willys on...

ECONOMY...

An independent auto-testing organization drove three AERO WILLYS cars, with overdrive, through all 48 states, covering more than 90,000 miles. On gas, they averaged better than 30 miles per gallon. And total operating cost was less than a penny a mile!

SAFETY...

"Motor Trend" magazine has published ratings of 20 leading American automobiles on safety. They picked AERO WILLYS as the safest car of them all! Modern, aeroframe construction... good visibility... low center of gravity ...all make AERO WILLYS safer for you!

CONSTRUCTION...

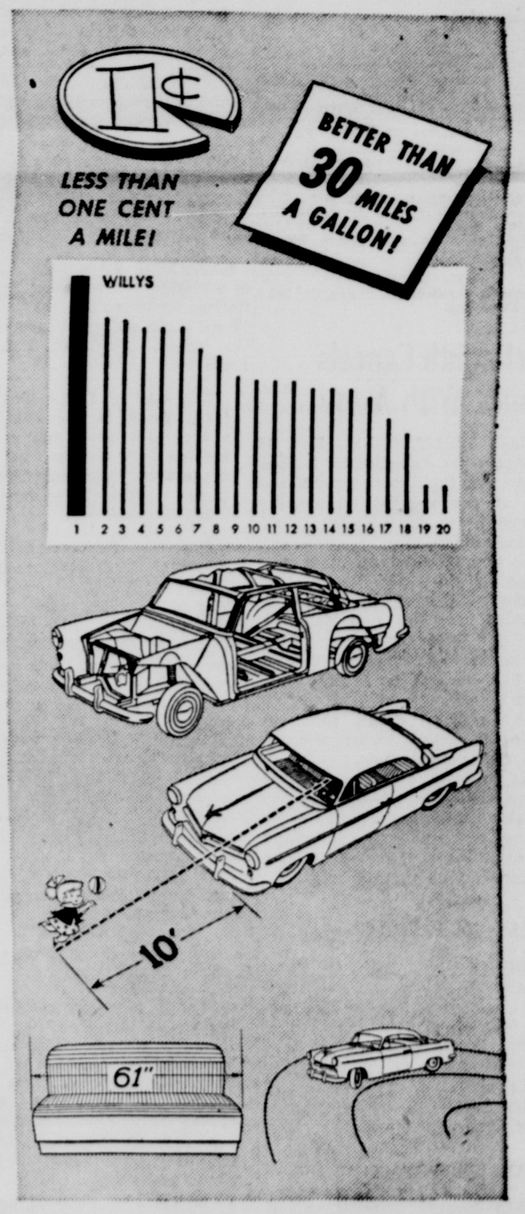
Most automobiles are still made the old-fashioned, "two-piece" way—by just dropping a body onto a frame and bolting them together. AERO WILLYS is made the modern "aeroframe" way—one sturdy unit, for greater strength and safety, less body noise.

VISIBILITY...

From the driver's seat of an AERO WILLYS you can see all four fenders. This means safer driving, and much easier parking. Visibility forward is another big safety factor—you can actually see the road ahead of you as close as 10 feet in front of the car.

COMFORT...

AERO WILLYS gives you "small-car" economy—but "big-car" comfort! You get more than five full feet of seating width in both front and rear seats. And you can drive around curves without that uncomfortable feeling of sway or roll you get in most ordinary cars.



CAN ANY CAR IN AMERICA AT ANY PRICE GIVE YOU ALL THESE ADVANTAGES....

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

FRANK LEAHY says that the 1953 Notre Dame football team was "the greatest" because it "succeeded against a terrific schedule."

Could be. And it could be, also, that Frank, miffed at Maryland getting No. 1 rating in national polls, wanted to let everyone know he thought his team was the best in the land.

Frank has no argument with us on the No. 1 rating, for, in our system, the Irish were the tops, with Maryland third behind Michigan State.

The 1953 Notre Dame team, without a doubt, was one of the finest ever fielded at South Bend. The schedule was rough, too, week after week, but Frank's covering a lot of ground and passing up some great squads of the past when he calls his 1953 production the "greatest ever."

Of course, it's all a matter of opinion.

THE GREATNESS of the Irish, this year, was that the team was a perfectly-balanced squad with all-around perfection. The assertion is borne out by the overall season play in which the offense had everything, including running, passing, power and alertness and the defense speed and power.

Only one man, Johnny Lattner, made most of the All-American teams, accenting the overall ability of the squad as a team unit. For example, Neil Worden, the fullback, probably ranked as one of the all-time greats and yet he failed to make any All-American first team.

The 1953 club also had the benefit of help from the newcomers.

Overlooked in the whole picture of the Irish was the quarterbacking of Ralph Guglielmi, who began the season on even terms with Bob Carey and then won the job for himself.

While Leahy never said so, he was disappointed in the development of the two at the time of fall practice and felt that this was one of his weak spots.

Guglielmi, however, came on during the season and played a remarkable brand of ball.

THERE IS plenty of talent coming back, including Carey and Guglielmi, Don Schaefer, Dick Fitzgerald, Dan Shannon, Joe Heap and Ray Lemek. If Leahy's health holds out, he'll be back, too.

Looks like the Irish will be riding high again in '54.

Owen Retires As New York Giants Coach

Will Head Scouting System; Lombardi May Be Successor

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Steve Owen, the big, ruddy-faced Oklahoman whose name has been synonomous with the New York Football Giants for 26 years, today announced his retirement as coach of the National Football League club.

Owen's resignation becomes effective after Sunday's game with the champion Detroit Lions at the Polo Grounds and that fact could spell bad news for the Lions.

The Giants will be primed to "win one for Steve" and it could cost the Lions the Western Conference title. Detroit needs to win its final game of the regular season to sew up the division flag. If the Lions lose and San Francisco beats Baltimore, the two clubs will be tied and a playoff will be necessary.

Lombardi Mentioned

President Jack Mara didn't mention the names of prospective candidates for Owen's job but there was an unconfirmed report it might go to Vinnie Lombardi, former Fordham star and now backfield coach of Army. Mara said the new man would be appointed in time to attend the NFL draft meetings next month.

Big Steve won't sever his attachments with the club, however. He will head an expanded scouting system and will start hunting talent shortly after the season closes. He will coach one of the teams in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., Jan. 9, as he has done for several years.

The gravel-voiced, 55-year old Owen, born at Cleo Springs, Okla., made his first visit to the big town in 1926 with the touring Kansas City football cowboys. He has been a part of the New York scene since.

Was All-League Tackle

A 6-3, 250-pounder, Owen was an all-league tackle with the giants for four straight years. He took over as coach of the Giants in 1931 and led them to eight eastern titles and two league championships. His overall record as coach was 146-101-17.

White Sox Send Rogovin, Ryan, Krsnich To Reds For Marshall

Players Are Waived By Both Loops Before Trade Is Negotiated

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today obtained outfielder Willard Marshall from the Cincinnati Redlegs in exchange for three players—pitcher Saul Rogovin and infielders Connie Ryan and Rocky Krsnich.

Sox General Manager Frank Lane announced from New York at the major league winter meetings it was a straight trade without cash consideration.

All four players had to be waived by their respective leagues—Marshall in the National and Rogovin, Ryan and Krsnich in the American—before the trade could be negotiated.

Marshall, 32, who also played for the New York Giants and Boston Braves, batted .266 last season, drove across 62 runs and hit 17 home runs.

Rogovin was one of Sox Manager Paul Richard's pet pitchers, but after he led the American League in earned run average with 2.78 in 1951 with a 12-8 record and had a 14-9 record in 1952, big Saul slipped to 7-12 last season.

Third baseman Krsnich came up from the Sox farm system in 1952,

Saul Rogovin — Rocky Krsnich
Connie Ryan — Willard Marshall

hitting .231. This year Krsnich batted .202 in 64 games. Ryan, who has played third base and second base, was acquired this year from the Philadelphia Phils. He batted .222 in 17 games.

Racing Commission Stalled Third Time On Dates For 1954

BALTIMORE, Dec. 10 (AP) — The Maryland Racing Commission stalled for the third time today on the dates for 1954.

The commission had scheduled a meeting for this morning to announce the dates for all the tracks, although the only ones unsettled are for Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie.

The meeting was called off and scheduled again for tomorrow.

The commission originally said it would announce the dates Dec. 2.

But D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman, revealed instead that the three - man commission couldn't agree on a schedule for the three mile tracks.

The main issue is the second and third weeks in November. All three tracks are asking to run then.

Hemmis Highly Rated — Ed Shuck Honored — Don Moran Is Hero — May Pilots Reading

By C. V. BURNS

MOTORCYCLE hill climbing did a fadeout locally several years ago but the performances of a Baltimore and Ohio railroad clerk continues to keep Cumberland in slant riding's national spotlight.

Joseph W. Hemmis, 111 Humbird Street, was the fourth highest point getter in the nation this year with a total of 62 tallies.

The name Hemmis has occupied a prominent place in the cycle hill climbing sport since 1946. That was the year Joe's dad — Clarence W. "Tan" Hemmis — copped two national titles at Muskegon, Mich., and broke the course record with the remarkable achievement of 7.91 seconds.

In 1948, Joe and his brother, Clarence "Tee" Hemmis, shared a pair of national titles at Muskegon.

Joe participated in the national event for the seventh straight time this year, Bethlehem, Pa., was the scene of the contests in September. Riding an English Triumph, an imported bike, and the only one of its kind in competition in this country, Hemmis struck a rock on his first run, broke a rear axle and finished in fifth place.

In the seven national meets in which Hemmis has participated, here is how he fared:

Hemmis has participated in a total of 12 meets this year and he finished on top eight times. The tests were staged at York, Johnstown, Summerhill, McKeesport, Washington, Williamsport and Bethlehem, Pa., Conesus Lake and Weedsport, N. Y., and East Palestine, Circleville and Dayton, Ohio.

Joe is a clerk in the B&O scale office on the Eastbound Hump. His dad, "Tan," is now employed in the experimental lab of the Westinghouse Electric Company, Pittsburgh, while his brother "Tee" is with the Glenn L. Martin Company at Baltimore.

DON MORAN, former Bruce High and University of Maryland star, was the hero as the Hagerstown Cabineers defeated the St. Louis Bombers Sunday afternoon in Hagerstown by the score of 66-64.

Moran sank two free throws to win the game for Kenny Ridenour's aggregation. Don paced the scorers with 18 points on six field goals and six free throws. Lee Brawley,

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY NEW CAR—
ASK YOURSELF THESE 5 QUESTIONS

Does it match the Aero Willys on...

ECONOMY...

An independent auto-testing organization drove three AERO WILLYS cars, with overdrive, through all 48 states, covering more than 90,000 miles. On gas, they averaged better than 30 miles per gallon. And total operating cost was less than a penny a mile!

SAFETY...

"Motor Trend" magazine has published ratings of 20 leading American automobiles on safety. They picked AERO WILLYS as the safest car of them all! Modern, aeroframe construction . . . good visibility . . . low center of gravity . . . all make AERO WILLYS safer for you!

CONSTRUCTION...

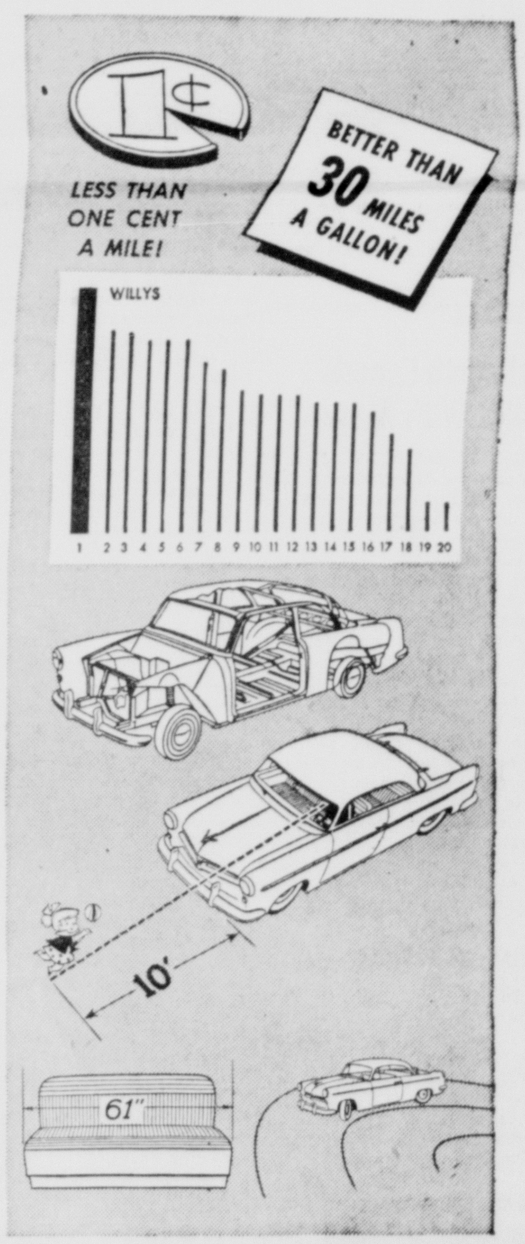
Most automobiles are still made the old-fashioned, "two-piece" way—by just dropping a body onto a frame and bolting them together. AERO WILLYS is made the modern "aeroframe" way—one sturdy unit, for greater strength and safety, less body noise.

VISIBILITY...

From the driver's seat of an AERO WILLYS you can see all four fenders. This means safer driving, and much easier parking. Visibility forward is another big safety factor—you can actually see the road ahead of you as close as 10 feet in front of the car.

COMFORT...

AERO WILLYS gives you "small-car" economy—but "big-car" comfort! You get more than five full feet of seating width in both front and rear seats. And you can drive around curves without that uncomfortable feeling of sway or roll you get in most ordinary cars.



CAN ANY CAR IN AMERICA AT ANY PRICE GIVE YOU ALL THESE ADVANTAGES....

EXCEPT THE BEAUTIFUL

Allegany County Deer Kills Hit All-Time Record Of 233

Hunters Slay Seven On 4th Day Of Season

Kill Is Week's Low; Leonard Martin Puts New Record On Books

Leonard Martin, 613 Fairview Avenue, helped establish a new record for deer kills in Allegany County yesterday when the 122-pound whitetail with eight points, bagged on Green Ridge, was the seventh and final of the day and sent the four-day total soaring to 233.

Martin's deer was checked last night at the LaVale sub-station of the Maryland State Police. Prior to his arrival the record had been tied at 232, established last year in six days. The 1953 season ends on Saturday at 5 p. m.

Yesterday's kill was a new low for the current season which opened on Monday. The opening day's bag was 132 followed by 69 kills on Tuesday and 25 Wednesday. The 6-day record of 232 was established last year.

Reports received yesterday from five checking stations were as follows:

Station	Total	Alle'y
LaVale State Police	4	4
Lewis' Store, Oldtown	2	2
Shipway's, Green Ridge	1	1
Westernport Police	3	0
Bridge Diner, Hancock	3	0
Total	7

The weight of the animals slain yesterday ranged from 145 to 102 pounds.

The three bucks checked at the Bridge Diner, Hancock, fell in Washington county, while a like number checked at the Westernport Police Station were slain in Garrett county.

Graydon (Ace) Dunlap, checker at Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge, said there were less hunters in the woods yesterday than on the first three days of the season and he attributed the smaller turnout to the cold and windy weather.

Yesterday's successful nimrods were:

George Shaffer, 215 Pear Street, 7-110, Will's Mountain.

Dartmouth Cancels Games With Army

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—Army has cancelled its football games with Dartmouth for 1955 and 1956 at the request of the Ivy League school, the Military Academy said today.

The two schools will meet next season.

Unless a suitable game can be scheduled for the 1955 date vacated by Dartmouth, the Cadets will be limited to an eight-game schedule for the first time since World War II.

The academy didn't say why Dartmouth asked to be released from its commitments.

It is believed, however, that the Ivy schools, who now have an informal organization, plan to formalize a football league this winter and each team will play at least six games within the loop.

former Maryland scoring ace, collected 13 points for the Cabineers.

The Bombers also lost to the Old Germans here Sunday night, 88-84.

FORT HILL'S invasion of Parsons tonight brings back memories of other days when the Sentinels visited Tucker county.

That's when Davis High School was on the Fort Hill schedule in February and the weather man usually threw the book at the traveling Fort Hill team.

Several times the Fort Hill boys were "macarooned" in the hills of West Virginia due to the heavy snow and ice storms.

Fort Hill finally called off those visits to Tucker County in February because Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh didn't like the idea of taking his team to Davis by dog sled. Being a New Englander, the Major liked his mush but he doesn't care for "mushing."

KENNETH BABCOCK, director of athletics at Frostburg Teachers College, informs us that Edward Shuck is the second athlete to crash the school's Hall of Fame for Seniors.

The Hall of Fame idea was inaugurated at the Frostburg school last year and it will include only seniors who have made outstanding contributions in the various sports over four years' competition.

Leadership, sportsmanship, playing skill, etc., enter into the selection.

Wayne Layman, who was outstanding in his four years of soccer, was named for the Hall of Fame last year. Shuck also was recognized for his outstanding performances on the soccer field.

MERRELL (Pinky) May, who played in the outfield with the Colts of 1932, Cumberland's last team in organized baseball, will manage Reading, Pa., farm team of the Cleveland Indians, during the 1954 season. He succeeds Kerby Farrell.

May played in 86 games for the Colts, batted .264 and fielded .968 twenty-one years ago.

The following year he was converted into a third baseman at Durham in the Piedmont League.

"Pinky" also played at Binghamton in the New York-Penn League, Newark of the International and Oakland of the Pacific Coast League. He was drafted by the Phillies after hitting .331 at Newark and stayed in the National League for five years, 1939 through 1943. His best year with the Phils was 1940 when he batted .293 in 136 games.

May was the leading third sacker in the Pacific Coast League in 1937 and earned the same honor in the National League in 1939 and 1941.

PROOF that there is a scarcity of good boxers nowadays is contained in the fact that "Red Top" Davis is scheduled to fight Tony DeMarco in Boston on Saturday night.

On October 30, this same Davis and George Araujo put on one of the worst fights ever seen in Madison Square Garden.

Referee Ruby Goldstein issued an unprecedented total of seven "official" warning to the lightweights and the fans booed persistently and yelled for Goldstein to stop the nationally televised bout "and throw them out."

Instead of telling Davis to "go get lost" he is rewarded with another main go a month later in Boston. How do you like that?

A reader writes:

"Would you please print the basketball scores of my alma mater, the University of Connecticut, in your basketball results. I am new here and I like your paper outside the fact you miss the scores of my college. The Yale-Connecticut game of Saturday was not carried. Neither was the Colby-Connecticut game of Tuesday night. I think the AP should give you all scores and not some of them."

The reason we are unable to carry all the scores is because we have an early deadline. We try our darndest to get as many scores as possible from the AP and INS wires but many of them come after our deadline and it is impossible to do anything about it. If you've ever been around a newspaper office you'll better understand what "deadline" means. However, we'll keep an eye on Connecticut scores.

FROM Minneapolis, where the weekly "line" comes from, is this comment on the Georgia Tech-West Virginia game set for New Year's Day:

"You could put into an oversized telephone booth the number of people who can understand why this particular game was scheduled. Dozens of better games than this are scheduled around the country every week at regular admission prices."

Bi-State League To Meet Sunday

Any team desiring to obtain a franchise in the league is invited to file an application at this meeting. Franchise fees must be posted at the January meeting when the annual election of officers will be held.

Wall Posts 65, Five-Under-Par, In Miami Open

Brosch Shoots 65, Sam Snead Has 70

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP)—Slender Art Wall Jr., a comparative new comer to the professional golf trail, gave a brilliant putting display on the back nine today to capture the first round lead in the $10,000 Miami Open tournament with a 5 under par 65.

The 30-year-old former Duke University star ran into a hot putting streak at the 11th after making the nine-hole turn in 34, one under par. He birdied three holes in a row, starting at the 11th, and covered the back nine in 31, four under par and the best nine-hole score of the day.

160 Players Compete

Wall, who turned pro three years ago and plays out of Pocono Manor, Pa., was one of the first players in the 160-man field to finish the first round. But his score stood up all day against the challenge of the big name players.

Al Brosch, veteran from Garden City, L. I., came closest to overtaking the young Pennsylvanian with a 34-32—66. Par for the 6,570 yard course is 35-35—70.

Ed Furgol, St. Louis, posted a 67 for third place.

There was a big fourth place jam among 11 players with 68s. The group included Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., and Doug Ford, Yonkers, N.Y.

Snead Posts 70

They call the Miami Open "Sam Snead's Tournament" because the West Virginia Slammer has won it five times and is usually at his best here. But this wasn't Snead's day. Sammy smacked two tee shots into the woods and bogeyed the last two holes to finish far down in the standings with a par 70.

Bob Toski, of Northampton, Mass., winner of last week's $15,000 Havana Country Club Invitational, and Frank Stranahan, Toledo, only amateur ever to win the Miami Open, also shot even pars.

Jeff Cravath, Former USC Coach, Dies

Injuries In Highway Mishap Prove Fatal

CALEXICO, Calif., Dec. 10 (AP)—Bluff, friendly Jeff Cravath, who guided the University of Southern California football teams into four Rose Bowl games, died today of injuries received in a traffic smashup yesterday.

The end came at 11:30 a.m. (PST), just a few hours after it had appeared the 50-year-old former coach might rally from an emergency operation at Calexico Hospital.

Retired In 1950

Cravath retired from football in 1950 after losing a bout with alumni of USC, his alma mater where he had starred as an All-Pacific Coast Conference center in the 1920's. From 1942 through 1950 his Trojans won 76, lost 37 and tied 20. Lately, he was engaged in the cattle and produce business in El Centro, a few miles north of this California-Mexico border town.

Death was attributed to a basal skull fracture and severe chest injuries, including multiple rib fractures.

He was thrown from his light pickup truck when it collided with an asphalt dump truck at the intersection of a country road and Highway 111 yesterday morning.

Cravath is survived by his widow, Margaret, better known as Peggy, who was his campus sweetheart in undergraduate days at USC, and two daughters.

Messages of condolence started coming to the Cravath home from all parts of the nation soon after his death.

After quitting the football scene in 1950, Cravath remained frankly bitter about many aspects of his career, particularly the alumni move that overpowered the USC athletic department in forcing his resignation.

Upset Notre Dame

But he carried away many fine thoughts of football, including his four trips to the famed Rose Bowl and the final heart tugging scene of the last game he coached. That was in the final game of 1950 when his underrated Trojans defeated a fine Notre Dame team, 9-7, and the Trojan players carried Jeff off the field on their shoulders.

The week before, however, USC had taken a 39-0 beating from UCLA, the local rival, and Cravath's tenure was soon to end. It did, during the ensuing Christmas holidays.

Ever ready for a battle, Cravath aroused a fine furor this fall in a magazine piece. It was entitled, "The Hypocrisy of College Football" and was aimed at athletic recruiting and proselyting.

The B. F. Whitakers' racing stable will return to Hialeah this winter for the first time since World War II. Heading their line-up is Grecian Queen, champion filly of the year.

Duquesne Plays Wake Forest In Steel Bowl Tilt

Pitt Opposes Bradley In Four-Team Tourney

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10 (AP)—Duquesne University, picked by some experts as the No. 1 basketball team in the nation, gets its first tournament test of the season tomorrow in the third annual Steel Bowl.

The Dukes, ranked third in the Associated Press poll, play undefeated Wake Forest (4-0) and Pitt (0-1) tangles with Bradley (1-1) in the opening round at the new Pitt field house. The two winners meet Saturday for the bowl title. Duquesne's won five, three of them exhibitions.

Coach Dudey Moore, usually a cautious soul, makes no bones he's got one of the best Duquesne teams in years. He figures potentially it's the best squad he's ever coached.

But Moore, borrowing a phrase from Doc Carlson, the former Pitt mentor, says he doesn't think "we'll win 'em all." Barring any upsets, the Dukes should better their 18-7 slate of last season.

Moore's goal is 20 victories in 27 games, 22 "if we're lucky." Last season the Dukes reached the semi-finals of the National Invitational Tournament before losing to St. John's and settled for consolation honors with a win over Manhattan.

Mountaineers Own 3-0 Record In Bowl Games

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 10—West Virginia University will be playing its fourth post-season football game this coming New Year's Day when it meets Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La. and it has yet to lose.

The Mountaineers climaxed an undefeated season in 1922 by defeating Gonzaga 21-13 on Christmas Day at San Diego, Calif. Their other two post-season appearances were in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. They defeated Texas Tech 7-6 there Jan. 1, 1938, and Texas Western by 21-12 on New Year's Day, 1949.

Allegany County Deer Kills Hit All-Time Record Of 233

Hunters Slay Seven On 4th Day Of Season

Kill Is Week's Low; Leonard Martin Puts New Record On Books

Leonard Martin, 613 Fairview Avenue, helped establish a new record for deer kills in Allegany County yesterday when the 122-pound whitetail with eight points, bagged on Green Ridge, was the seventh and final of the day and sent the four-day total soaring to 233.

Martin's deer was checked last night at the LaVale sub-station of the Maryland State Police. Prior to his arrival the record had been tied at 232, established last year in six days. The 1953 season ends on Saturday at 5 p. m.

Yesterday's kill was a new low for the current season which opened on Monday. The opening day's bag was 132 followed by 69 kills on Tuesday and 25 Wednesday. The 6-day record of 232 was established last year.

Reports received yesterday from five checking stations were as follows:

Station	Total	Alle'y
LaVale State Police	4	4
Lewis' Store, Oldtown	2	2
Shipway's, Green Ridge	1	1
Westernport Police	3	0
Bridge Diner, Hancock	3	0
Total	7

The weight of the animals slain yesterday ranged from 145 to 102 pounds.

The three bucks checked at the Bridge Diner, Hancock, fell in Washington county, while a like number checked at the Westernport Police Station were slain in Garrett county.

Graydon (Ace) Dunlap, checker at Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge, said there were less hunters in the woods yesterday than on the first three days of the season and he attributed the smaller turnout to the cold and windy weather.

Yesterday's successful nimrods were:

LAVALE STATE POLICE (4)
Virgil McKenzie, Fairgo, 6-120, Dan's Mountain near Triple Lakes.
George Shaffer, 215 Pear Street, 7-110, Will's Mountain.

Dartmouth Cancels Games With Army

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—Army has cancelled its football games with Dartmouth for 1955 and 1956 at the request of the Ivy League school, the Military Academy said today.

The two schools will meet next season.

Unless a suitable game can be scheduled for the 1955 date vacated by Dartmouth, the Cadets will be limited to an eight-game schedule for the first time since World War II.

The academy didn't say why Dartmouth asked to be released from its commitments.

It is believed, however, that the Ivy schools, who now have an informal organization, plan to formalize a football league this winter and each team will play at least six games within the loop.

former Maryland scoring ace, collected 13 points for the Cabineers.

The Bombers also lost to the Old Germans here Sunday night, 88-84.

FORT HILL'S invasion of Parsons tonight brings back memories of other days when the Sentinels visited Tucker county.

That's when Davis High School was on the Fort Hill schedule in February and the weather man usually threw the book at the traveling Fort Hill team.

Several times the Fort Hill boys were "macarooned" in the hills of West Virginia due to the heavy snow and ice storms.

Fort Hill finally called off those visits to Tucker County in February because Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh didn't like the idea of taking his team to Davis by dog sled. Being a New Englander, the Major liked his mush but he doesn't care for "mushing."

KENNETH BABCOCK, director of athletics at Frostburg Teachers College, informs us that Edward Shuck is the second athlete to crash the school's Hall of Fame for Seniors.

The Hall of Fame idea was inaugurated at the Frostburg school last year and it will include only seniors who have made outstanding contributions in the various sports over four years' competition.

Leadership, sportsmanship, playing skill, etc., enter into the selection.

Wayne Layman, who was outstanding in his four years of soccer, was named for the Hall of Fame last year. Shuck also was recognized for his outstanding performances on the soccer field.

MERRELL (Pinky) May, who played in the outfield with the Colts of 1932, Cumberland's last team in organized baseball, will manage Reading, Pa., farm team of the Cleveland Indians, during the 1954 season. He succeeds Kerby Farrell.

May played in 86 games for the Colts, batted .264 and fielded .968 twenty-one years ago.

The following year he was converted into a third baseman at Durham in the Piedmont League.

"Pinky" also played at Binghamton in the New York-Penn League, Newark of the International and Oakland of the Pacific Coast League. He was drafted by the Phillies after hitting .331 at Newark and stayed in the National League for five years, 1939 through 1943. His best year with the Phils was 1940 when he batted .293 in 136 games.

May was the leading third sacker in the Pacific Coast League in 1937 and earned the same honor in the National League in 1939 and 1941.

PROOF that there is a scarcity of good boxers nowadays is contained in the fact that "Red Top" Davis is scheduled to fight Tony DeMarco in Boston on Saturday night.

On October 30, this same Davis and George Araujo put on one of the worst fights ever seen in Madison Square Garden.

Referee Ruby Goldstein issued an unprecedented total of seven "official" warning to the lightweights and the fans booed persistently and yelled for Goldstein to stop the nationally televised bout "and throw them out."

Instead of telling Davis to "go get lost" he is rewarded with another main go a month later in Boston. How do you like that?

A reader writes:

"Would you please print the basketball scores of my alma mater, the University of Connecticut, in your basketball results. I am new here and I like your paper outside the fact you miss the scores of my college. The Yale-Connecticut game of Saturday was not carried. Neither was the Colby-Connecticut game of Tuesday night. I think the AP should give you all scores and not some of them."

The reason we are unable to carry all the scores is because we have an early deadline. We try our darndest to get as many scores as possible from the AP and INS wires but many of them come after our deadline and it is impossible to do anything about it. If you've ever been around a newspaper office you'll better understand what "deadline" means. However, we'll keep an eye on Connecticut scores.

FROM Minneapolis, where the weekly "line" comes from, is this comment on the Georgia Tech-West Virginia game set for New Year's Day:

"You could put into an oversized telephone booth the number of people who can understand why this particular game was scheduled. Dozens of better games than this are scheduled around the country every week at regular admission prices."

Bi-State League To Meet Sunday

Any team desiring to obtain a franchise in the league is invited to file an application at this meeting. Franchise fees must be posted at the January meeting when the annual election of officers will be held.

Wall Posts 65, Five-Under-Par, In Miami Open

Brosch Shoots 65, Sam Snead Has 70

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP)—Slender Art Wall Jr., a comparative new comer to the professional golf trail, gave a brilliant putting display on the back nine today to capture the first round lead in the $10,000 Miami Open tournament with a 5 under par 65.

The 30-year-old former Duke University star ran into a hot putting streak at the 11th after making the nine-hole turn in 34, one under par. He birdied three holes in a row, starting at the 11th, and covered the back nine in 31, four under par and the best nine-hole score of the day.

160 Players Compete

Wall, who turned pro three years ago and plays out of Pocono Manor, Pa., was one of the first players in the 160-man field to finish the first round. But his score stood up all day against the challenge of the big name players.

Al Brosch, veteran from Garden City, L. I., came closest to overtaking the young Pennsylvanian with a 34-32—66. Par for the 6,570 yard course is 35-35—70.

Ed Furgol, St. Louis, posted a 67 for third place.

There was a big fourth place jam among 11 players with 68s. The group included Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., and Doug Ford, Yonkers, N.Y.

Snead Posts 70

They call the Miami Open "Sam Snead's Tournament" because the West Virginia Slammer has won it five times and is usually at his best here. But this wasn't Snead's day. Sammy smacked two tee shots into the woods and bogeyed the last two holes to finish far down in the standings with a par 70.

Bob Toski, of Northampton, Mass., winner of last week's $15,000 Havana Country Club Invitational, and Frank Stranahan, Toledo, only amateur ever to win the Miami Open, also shot even pars.

Jeff Cravath, Former USC Coach, Dies

Injuries In Highway Mishap Prove Fatal

CALEXICO, Calif., Dec. 10 (AP)—Bluff, friendly Jeff Cravath, who guided the University of Southern California football teams into four Rose Bowl games, died today of injuries received in a traffic smashup yesterday.

The end came at 11:30 a.m. (PST), just a few hours after it had appeared the 50-year-old former coach might rally from an emergency operation at Calexico Hospital.

Retired In 1950

Cravath retired from football in 1950 after losing a bout with alumni of USC, his alma mater where he had starred as an All-Pacific Coast Conference center in the 1920's. From 1942 through 1950 his Trojans won 76, lost 37 and tied 20. Lately, he was engaged in the cattle and produce business in El Centro, a few miles north of this California-Mexico border town.

Death was attributed to a basal skull fracture and severe chest injuries, including multiple rib fractures.

He was thrown from his light pickup truck when it collided with an asphalt dump truck at the intersection of a country road and Highway 111 yesterday morning.

Cravath is survived by his widow, Margaret, better known as Peggy, who was his campus sweetheart in undergraduate days at USC, and two daughters.

Messages of condolence started coming to the Cravath home from all parts of the nation soon after his death.

Upset Notre Dame

But he carried away many fine thoughts of football, including his four trips to the famed Rose Bowl and the final heart tugging scene of the last game he coached. That was in the final game of 1950 when his underrated Trojans defeated a fine Notre Dame team, 9-7, and the Trojan players carried Jeff off the field on their shoulders.

The week before, however, USC had taken a 39-0 beating from UCLA, the local rival, and Cravath's tenure was soon to end. It did, during the ensuing Christmas holidays.

Ever ready for a battle, Cravath aroused a fine furor this fall in a magazine piece. It was entitled, "The Hypocrisy of College Football" and was aimed at athletic recruiting and proselyting.

The B. F. Whitakers' racing stable will return to Hialeah this winter for the first time since World War II. Heading their lineup is Grecian Queen, champion filly of the year.

Duquesne Plays Wake Forest In Steel Bowl Tilt

Pitt Opposes Bradley In Four-Team Tourney

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10 (AP) — Duquesne University, picked by some experts as the No. 1 basketball team in the nation, gets its first tournament test of the season tomorrow in the third annual Steel Bowl.

The Dukes, ranked third in the Associated Press poll, play undefeated Wake Forest (4-0) and Pitt (0-1) tangles with Bradley (1-1) in the opening round at the new Pitt field house. The two winners meet Saturday for the bowl title. Duquesne's won five, three of them exhibitions.

Coach Dudey Moore, usually a cautious soul, makes no bones he's got one of the best Duquesne teams in years. He figures potentially it's the best squad he's ever coached.

Moore's goal is 20 victories in 27 games, 22 "if we're lucky." Last season the Dukes reached the semi-finals of the National Invitational Tournament before losing to St. John's and settled for consolation honors with a win over Manhattan.

College Football Is Now 30 Million Dollar Business

Attendance Is Twelve Million For 514 Games

Trojans, Notre Dame, Minnesota, Maryland Hoist 1953 Total

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — The popular appeal of such teams as Notre Dame, Southern California, Maryland and Minnesota offset the losers' lack of attractiveness to the cash customers and kept major college football attendance unchanged during the 1953 season.

Figures compiled today by the Associated Press, covering the home games of all major conference teams and comparable "independents", show that over-all attendance in 1953 was "up. 'But the change was so small as to be insignificant.

It is rather significant, however, that the success of a few teams hoisted the national total to the right side of the ledger.

Trojans Set Pace

Southern California, for instance, drew 412,772 spectators at six home games, as compared to 242,466 in 1952. The fact that USC was the "home" team for its annual intracity struggle with UCLA and that it entertained such popular teams as Notre Dame, Minnesota and Stanford helps to explain this big increase.

All-winning Maryland and unbeaten Notre Dame, staging a tight race for the nation's No. 1 ranking, also pulled in the fans in large numbers. Notre Dame's attendance at five home games this year was 286,406, as compared to 215,681 at four games last year. Minnesota's revival as a Big Ten contender brought an average home attendance of 59,540 per game, one of the highest in the nation.

Terps Attract 165,000

The formation of the Atlantic Coast Conference, with Maryland setting the pace, apparently brought fresh interest into that area although the rest of the old Southern Conference suffered.

Topped by Maryland's 165,000 at five games, the seven ACC teams drew 648,749 spectators at 31 games, a jump of 13.09 per cent over last year's total of 481,106 at 26 games. The Southern Conference lost a total of about 20,500 spectators—or 14 per cent—from the 280,478 it drew in 1952.

Other changes were explained mainly by the weather and whether the home team was winning or losing. And the overall increase figured out to 487 spectators per game for 514 games, an average of 0.004 percent over last year's average attendance of 23,742.

514 Games Drew 12 Million

Nevertheless, college football again proved that it is a business in the 30 million dollar class. Total attendance for 514 games was approximately 12,500,000—and at an estimated price of $2.50 per ticket this would run over the 30 million dollar mark without counting the small college games.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (INS) — The Pirates appear doomed to renew their lease on the National League basement for 1954.

The chief reason for this grim tenancy of the cellar lies in the fact that the Pirates are the most poorly paid lot of peons in the majors.

At the same time they have the highest paid general manager in the game. Branch Rickey is reportedly drawing $100,000 a year, plus expenses, under a five-year contract.

His son, Branch Jr., is reportedly getting $25,000 a year, plus expenses, as his father's assistant, which is probably as much, if not more, than the Pirates' able manager, Fred Haney, draws.

In the first two years of the Rickey regime in Pittsburgh, the club is said to have lost $1,200,000 and his past season the loss will add another $300,000 to that figure.

One of the laughs of the league meeting this week was the statement that the Pirates were eager to trade.

Every time we asked any one of the other club managers about a possible deal with the Pirates, the response would run something like this:

"What have they got to trade? There are only three pros on the club—Danny O'Connell, Murry Dickson, who is 37 years old, and Frank Thomas, who has had only one year in the majors.

"And if you had ever dealt with Rickey you'd know he probably wouldn't want more than Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst plus a bundle of dough for any one of his three pros or maybe Roy Campanella and Duke Snider and cash. He might even be willing to take Warren Spahn and Eddie Matthews for one of his men."

It is apparent that the other clubs have become almost as cold to Rickey trades as the Pittsburgh fans are to Rickey himself and his Pirates.

The Rickeys between them probably draw as much as 15 or 20 of their players combined and it also is probable that the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League have a higher payroll than the Pirates.

You will note that the winning ball clubs are invariably the clubs with the highest payrolls. They have the highest payrolls because they get the best players and they get the best because they are willing to pay for them.

We don't believe Rickey actually is eager to trade. We think he would like to sell one or two of his pros for important money, as he sold Ralph Kiner, to get some much needed cash in the till.

Of course, if he did sell one of them, the purchaser would throw in some unwanted bench warmers or minor leaguers to make the deal look good to the Pirate fans.

Furman, W. & L. Would Rescind Freshman Rule

Generals In Favor Scholarship Limit

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—The Southern Conference holds its annual winter meeting here tomorrow with a move afoot to scrap the freshman rule, which bars first year students from varsity competition in any sport.

On the eve of the get-together of the 10 conference colleges, it appeared that the proposal to eliminate the rule—sponsored by Furman University—will be in for tough sledding. It needs a 7-3 majority to pass.

Must Be Convinced

While not coming out definitely against the Furman suggestion, most of the conference representatives indicated they will need to be convinced that the freshman rule is undesirable. The burden of proof thus will be on those desiring the change.

Freshmen were made temporarily eligible for varsity play in the conference in the hectic years of World War II when manpower was an acute problem. But the wartime waiver expired last year and no move was made to keep it from dying.

One college that will support Furman in its effort to rescind the rule is Washington and Lee, whose athletic director, R. A. Smith, also plans to call for a new bylaw limiting to 20 the number of scholarships awarded to freshman athletes in any one sport.

The Citadel, Furman's South Carolina neighbor, also is believed to be ready to support an attack on the rule. Both the Citadel and Furman include Southeastern Conference teams on their football schedules and since the Southeastern does not impose the freshman rule, there have been complaints that Southern Conference teams are at a disadvantage.

Smith's proposal to limit freshman athletic scholarships is not likely to receive serious consideration unless the freshman rule is junked and a green light given for freshmen to rejoin the varsity.

Proposal Is Explained

The W&L proposal, Smith says, is intended to prevent any conference college from awarding scholarships to numerous freshmen without considering their scholastic standing. Smith's reasoning is that with unlimited scholarships, there is a temptation to pass them out to freshmen who can't pass their classes but would remain eligible for football for one full season before their classroom deficiencies caught up with them.

The ancient custom of blessing animals in church is still annually observed in parts of England, Switzerland, Austria, Spain, Mexico and the United States.

Court Of Appeals Upholds Conviction Of Glickfield

Approves $1,000 Fine, 18 Months' Sentence

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 10 (AP)—The court of appeals today upheld the conviction of a former University of Maryland student for trying to bribe a football player and declared "fair play" is basic to this country's law.

The court found no error in the trial of Louis L. Glickfield, 22, of Washington, who was charged with attempting to hold down the "point spread" in Maryland's 1952 game with Louisiana State.

Glickfield was found guilty of offering center Tom Cosgrove a roll of $100 bills if he would make sure Maryland won by fewer than 21 points. The Terrapins beat Louisiana State, 34-6.

The unanimous decision by five appellate judges approved a $1,000 fine and 18-month reformatory sentence imposed in Prince George's County Court last spring.

Glickfield has been on indefinite leave from the Army while he appealed the verdict.

Two other players testified Glickfield had made them offers. They were All America Jack Scarbath, now quarterback for the professional Washington Redskins, and Frank Novarro, a guard on the 1952 team which lost only two games.

"It is commonly understood that players are under at least a moral duty to exert their honest efforts for their side," Judge William L. Henderson said for the court of appeals.

"Indeed, it might be said that the sporting concept of fair play is not only commonly understood but is one of the basic tenets of Anglo-American jurisprudence."

All three players said they reported Glickfield's overtures and no money changed hands.

College Football Is Now 30 Million Dollar Business

Attendance Is Twelve Million For 514 Games

Trojans, Notre Dame, Minnesota, Maryland Hoist 1953 Total

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — The popular appeal of such teams as Notre Dame, Southern California, Maryland and Minnesota offset the losers' lack of attractiveness to the cash customers and kept major college football attendance unchanged during the 1953 season.

Figures compiled today by the Associated Press, covering the home games of all major conference teams and comparable "independents", show that over-all attendance in 1953 was "up. 'But the change was so small as to be insignificant.

It is rather significant, however, that the success of a few teams hoisted the national total to the right side of the ledger.

Trojans Set Pace

Southern California, for instance, drew 412,772 spectators at six home games, as compared to 242,466 in 1952. The fact that USC was the "home" team for its annual intra-city struggle with UCLA and that it entertained such popular teams as Notre Dame, Minnesota and Stanford helps to explain this big increase.

All-winning Maryland and unbeaten Notre Dame, staging a tight race for the nation's No. 1 ranking, also pulled in the fans in large numbers. Notre Dame's attendance at five home games this year was 286,406, as compared to 215,681 at four games last year. Minnesota's revival as a Big Ten contender brought an average home attendance of 59,540 per game, one of the highest in the nation.

Terps Attract 165,000

The formation of the Atlantic Coast Conference, with Maryland setting the pace, apparently brought fresh interest into that area although the rest of the old Southern Conference suffered.

Topped by Maryland's 165,000 at five games, the seven ACC teams drew 648,749 spectators at 31 games, a jump of 13.09 per cent over last year's total of 481,106 at 26 games. The Southern Conference lost a total of about 20,500 spectators—or 14 per cent—from the 280,478 it drew in 1952.

Other changes were explained mainly by the weather and whether the home team was winning or losing. And the overall increase figured out to 487 spectators per game for 514 games, an average of 0.004 percent over last year's average attendance of 23,742.

514 Games Drew 12 Million

Nevertheless, college football again proved that it is a business in the 30 million dollar class. Total attendance for 514 games was approximately 12,500,000—and at an estimated price of $2.50 per ticket this would run over the 30 million dollar mark without counting the small college games.

You will note that the winning ball clubs are invariably the clubs with the highest payrolls. They have the highest payrolls because they get the best players and they get the best because they are willing to pay for them.

We don't believe Rickey actually is eager to trade. We think he would like to sell one or two of his pros for important money, as he sold Ralph Kiner, to get some much needed cash in the till.

Of course, if he did sell one of them, the purchaser would throw in some unwanted bench warmers or minor leaguers to make the deal look good to the Pirate fans.

Furman, W. & L. Would Rescind Freshman Rule

Generals In Favor Scholarship Limit

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—The Southern Conference holds its annual winter meeting here tomorrow with a move afoot to scrap the freshman rule, which bars first year students from varsity competition in any sport.

On the eve of the get-together of the 10 conference colleges, it appeared that the proposal to eliminate the rule—sponsored by Furman University—will be in for tough sledding. It needs a 7-3 majority to pass.

Must Be Convinced

While not coming out definitely against the Furman suggestion, most of the conference representatives indicated they will need to be convinced that the freshman rule is undesirable. The burden of proof thus will be on those desiring the change.

Freshmen were made temporarily eligible for varsity play in the conference in the hectic years of World War II when manpower was an acute problem. But the wartime waiver expired last year and no move was made to keep it from dying.

One college that will support Furman in its effort to rescind the rule is Washington and Lee, whose athletic director, R. A. Smith, also plans to call for a new bylaw limiting to 20 the number of scholarships awarded to freshman athletes in any one sport.

The Citadel, Furman's South Carolina neighbor, also is believed to be ready to support an attack on the rule. Both the Citadel and Furman include Southeastern Conference teams on their football schedules and since the Southeastern does not impose the freshman rule, there have been complaints that Southern Conference teams are at a disadvantage.

Smith's proposal to limit freshman athletic scholarships is not likely to receive serious consideration unless the freshman rule is junked and a green light given for freshmen to rejoin the varsity.

Proposal Is Explained

The W&L proposal, Smith says, is intended to prevent any conference college from awarding scholarships to numerous freshmen without considering their scholastic standing. Smith's reasoning is that with unlimited scholarships, there is a temptation to pass them out to freshmen who can't pass their classes but would remain eligible for football for one full season before their classroom deficiencies caught up with them.

The ancient custom of blessing animals in church is still annually observed in parts of England, Switzerland, Austria, Spain, Mexico and the United States.

Court Of Appeals Upholds Conviction Of Glickfield

Approves $1,000 Fine, 18 Months' Sentence

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 10 (AP)—The court of appeals today upheld the conviction of a former University of Maryland student for trying to bribe a football player and declared "fair play" is basic to this country's law.

The court found no error in the trial of Louis L. Glickfield, 22, of Washington, who was charged with attempting to hold down the "point spread" in Maryland's 1952 game with Louisiana State.

Glickfield was found guilty of offering center Tom Cosgrove a roll of $100 bills if he would make sure Maryland won by fewer than 21 points. The Terrapins beat Louisiana State, 34-6.

The unanimous decision by five appellate judges approved a $1,000 fine and 18-month reformatory sentence imposed in Prince George's County Court last spring.

Glickfield has been on indefinite leave from the Army while he appealed the verdict.

Two other players testified Glickfield had made them offers. They were All America Jack Scarbath, now quarterback for the professional Washington Redskins, and Frank Novarro, a guard on the 1952 team which lost only two games.

"It is commonly understood that players are under at least a moral duty to exert their honest efforts for their side," Judge William L. Henderson said for the court of appeals.

"Indeed, it might be said that the sporting concept of fair play is not only commonly understood but is one of the basic tenets of Anglo-American jurisprudence."

All three players said they reported Glickfield's overtures and no money changed hands.

To Honor Caroline

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 10 (AP)—A city celebration to honor native son J. C. Caroline, Illinois' sensational football carrier, is being planned here for Dec. 18 or 19.

Caroline, who broke Red Grange's rushing record, will be home for the Christmas holidays then.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

The Popular Song Falls On Evil Days

The popular song dodge has fallen on strange and, I think, evil days. Turn on the "Hit Parade" and you'll hear a song called "You You You" or another song called "Oh," neither of which resemble the songs my mother used to sing to me. You will hear a lot of hillbilly songs with lines like "I see the moon, the moon sees me. Down through the leaves of the old crabtree" and you'll probably hear "Ebb Tide," which, I think, is the only good tune of the lot.

John Crosby

More interesting than what you will hear is what you won't hear. In "Billboard's" last rating of the 10 more popular songs, there is not a single song by any of the gentlemen generally considered our greatest songwriters — Irving Berlin, Rodgers and Hammerstein, Cole Porter, Harold Arlen, Frank Loesser, Arthur Schwartz—well, name anybody.

And why is this? A group of songwriters charge, in a $150,000,000 triple damage suit, that the broadcasting industry has set up its own outfit, BMI (Broadcast Music, Inc.), which has such complete control of the songs broadcast on radio and television that it is throttling the songs of its competitor, ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers). Virtually the last story I covered, before entering the Army in 1941, was the formation of BMI by the broadcasting industry. At the time it didn't look as if BMI stood much chance as a serious competitor because ASCAP owned all the reputable composers.

ASCAP still does. Yet its members, the greatest songwriters we have, don't have hit songs any more. And BMI, heavily subsidized by the broadcasters, has grown into a huge octopus with 1,300 music publishers which seems like more music publishers than anyone conceivably needs. BMI members are turning out some perfectly terrible songs which nevertheless are recorded and juke-boxed and played on the air. ASCAP composers have trouble even getting their songs recorded.

Of course, it's conceivable that American tastes have decomposed to the extent where Americans only want to listen to "You You You." But I doubt it. It is the contention of the composers filing the suit that the broadcasting industry is systematically keeping ASCAP tunes off the air so the public never has a chance to make hits of them.

Whether this is true or not, the court will have to determine but certainly there have been some vast and not very pleasant changes in the music business. For one thing Broadway and Hollywood (most of whose composers are ASCAP) almost never produce a hit song any more, whereas in the old days they produced all of them.

In the last three years, for example, there have been many hit musicals but only three hit songs from Broadway shows—Irving Berlin's "You're Just In Love," Harold Rome's "Wish You Were Here," and Richard Rodgers "No Other Love." Every one of those three shows was either wholly or partially backed by RCA which owns NBC and is a big stockholder in BMI—and therefore presumably allowed them to become hits on the air.

In the old days before BMI, a single picture by, say, Irving Berlin would produce as many as three song hits. Yet in the last three years, during which the picture business produced at least 50 major musical pictures, there have been not more than four or five song hits. Two of these hits, incidentally, were plugged into fame by Mario Lanza and one of these "Loveliest Night Of The Year," is based on an old tune in the public domain.

Many good songwriters such as Arthur Schwartz, Harold Arlen, Dorothy Fields, and Mack Gordon have written musical pictures which didn't result in a single hit song. "The Bandwagon," for example, a smash at the box office didn't produce a single hit song. Years ago, it would probably have had at least three. Our greatest songwriter, Irving Berlin, wrote two good songs in the last year—"For The Very First Time" and "Sittin' In The Sun." Neither got off the ground. "Sittin' In The Sun" was recorded by Frankie Laine, who is normally pretty hot at pushing songs. But it wasn't a hit. The song on the other side of the record was a hit though. It was a BMI song.

Radio And Television by John Crosby

The Popular Song Falls On Evil Days

The popular song dodge has fallen on strange and, I think, evil days. Turn on the "Hit Parade" and you'll hear a song called "You You You" or another song called "Oh," neither of which resemble the songs my mother used to sing to me. You will hear a lot of hillbilly songs with lines like "I see the moon, the moon sees me. Down through the leaves of the old crabtree" and you'll probably hear "Ebb Tide," which, I think, is the only good tune of the lot.

John Crosby

More interesting than what you will hear is what you won't hear. In "Billboard's" last rating of the 10 more popular songs, there is not a single song by any of the gentlemen generally considered our greatest songwriters — Irving Berlin, Rodgers and Hammerstein, Cole Porter, Harold Arlen, Frank Loesser, Arthur Schwartz—well, name anybody.

And why is this? A group of songwriters charge, in a $150,000,000 triple damage suit, that the broadcasting industry has set up its own outfit, BMI (Broadcast Music, Inc.), which has such complete control of the songs broadcast on radio and television that it is throttling the songs of its competitor, ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers). Virtually the last story I covered, before entering the Army in 1941, was the formation of BMI by the broadcasting industry. At the time it didn't look as if BMI stood much chance as a serious competitor because ASCAP owned all the reputable composers.

ASCAP still does. Yet its members, the greatest songwriters we have, don't have hit songs any more. And BMI, heavily subsidized by the broadcasters, has grown into a huge octopus with 1,300 music publishers which seems like more music publishers than anyone conceivably needs. BMI members are turning out some perfectly terrible songs which nevertheless are recorded and juke-boxed and played on the air. ASCAP composers have trouble even getting their songs recorded.

Of course, it's conceivable that American tastes have decomposed to the extent where Americans only want to listen to "You You You." But I doubt it. It is the contention of the composers filing the suit that the broadcasting industry is systematically keeping ASCAP tunes off the air so the public never has a chance to make hits of them.

Whether this is true or not, the court will have to determine but certainly there have been some vast and not very pleasant changes in the music business. For one thing Broadway and Hollywood (most of whose composers are ASCAP) almost never produce a hit song any more, whereas in the old days they produced all of them.

In the last three years, for example, there have been many hit musicals but only three hit songs from Broadway shows—Irving Berlin's "You're Just In Love," Harold Rome's "Wish You Were Here," and Richard Rodgers "No Other Love." Every one of those three shows was either wholly or partially backed by RCA which owns NBC and is a big stockholder in BMI—and therefore presumably allowed them to become hits on the air.

In the old days before BMI, a single picture by, say, Irving Berlin would produce as many as three song hits. Yet in the last three years, during which the picture business produced at least 50 major musical pictures, there have been not more than four or five song hits. Two of these hits, incidentally, were plugged into fame by Mario Lanza and one of these "Loveliest Night Of The Year," is based on an old tune in the public domain.

Many good songwriters such as Arthur Schwartz, Harold Arlen, Dorothy Fields, and Mack Gordon have written musical pictures which didn't result in a single hit song. "The Bandwagon," for example, a smash at the box office didn't produce a single hit song. Years ago, it would probably have had at least three. "Sittin' In The Sun" was recorded by Frankie Laine, who is normally pretty hot at pushing songs. But it wasn't a hit. The song on the other side of the record was a hit though. It was a BMI song.

Bus Firm Case Again In Court

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—Another round in a four-year-old court fight has begun in Circuit Court here, wrapping up all the differences between the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh and Emery's Motor Coach Lines, Inc., of Martinsburg.

Robert L. Emery Jr., president and owner of the bus firm, was the first witness.

The case developed originally when the Mellon Bank foreclosed on the bus company under the terms of a deed of trust and sold its assets. The busses and the franchise were disposed of back in October, 1949.

Emery fought the sale and got the West Virginia State Supreme Court to set aside the sale.

The new chapter under way here now is an attempt to determine whether Emery's loss in the forced sale was greater than his indebtedness to the bank. Early arguments indicated that, unless this is established, the bank would contend Emery had no basis for obtaining a judgment against it.

Bus Firm Case Again In Court

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 10 (AP)—Another round in a four-year-old court fight has begun in Circuit Court here, wrapping up all the differences between the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh and Emery's Motor Coach Lines, Inc., of Martinsburg.

Robert L. Emery Jr., president and owner of the bus firm, was the first witness.

The case developed originally when the Mellon Bank foreclosed on the bus company under the terms of a deed of trust and sold its assets. The busses and the franchise were disposed of back in October, 1949.

Emery fought the sale and got the West Virginia State Supreme Court to set aside the sale.

The new chapter under way here now is an attempt to determine whether Emery's loss in the forced sale was greater than his indebtedness to the bank. Early arguments indicated that, unless this is established, the bank would contend Emery had no basis for obtaining a judgment against it.

Tucker County Railroader Quits After 42 Years

F. C. Stemple Gets Present From Company

PARSONS, W. Va. — Fairfax Cline Stemple, a lifelong resident of Tucker County, retired December 1 from active duty with the Western Maryland Railway Co. after 42 years work.

Stemple started in 1907 as a brakeman and flagman for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad working there until 1911 when he began with the Western Maryland as a telegraph operator. He worked at Mcntrose, Parsons, Hendricks, Thomas, Fairfax, Henry, Dobbin, Bayard, Gorman, Harrison, West Virginia Junction and Virginia Avenue in Cumberland during those 42 years.

Stemple has a brother, John, who retired from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in 1944 after working for more than 40 years as a conductor. He is now residing in St. Petersburg, Fla. Another brother, D. C. Stemple, has been Postmaster in Thomas for more than 20 years and a third brother, Earle, is Postmaster of Erwin.

Besides his work as telegraph operator, Stemple has been actively engaged in farming for many years. He and his wife were married March 30, 1907, at Cumberland, and moved to Hambleton, March 2, 1919, where they have since resided.

They have three sons, Carl and Paul Stemple of Hambleton and Ross of Washington, D. C., three daughters, Catherine Asher, R. N., of Housten, Texas; Mrs. Dorothy Mateer of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Helen Peck now in Germany with her husband who is with the U. S. Army.

Stemple has been a member of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers for the past 38 years, is also a member of the Knights of Pythias Lodge, of Parsons, and is an Elder in the Hambleton Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Stemple plan to continue their farming on a much smaller scale and expect to take a few trips and do other things that they have wanted to do for many years. The railroad presented him with a split bamboo fly rod and automatic reel as a token for his long years of work.

Keyser Citizens Raise $41,000 For Tractor Co.

Buy Notes To Aid Erection Of Building

KEYSER — The building for the Tiger Tractor Corporation of Keyser is expected to be completed in time for the local company to install machinery and operate at a larger capacity level by next June. This was made possible by the purchase of notes by citizens of Keyser who demonstrated a wholehearted interest in the growth of the Tiger corporation in the short time it has been located here.

Following the sale of $41,000 worth of note-bonds, plans were made to prepare for the building construction, for which the corporation will add $10,000 as originally decided at the time the note-bond sale plan was adopted. The sale, a duplication of one conducted here several months ago for another local company, brought quick results in each instance.

Ray Coffman, local general contractor was given the contract for the building that will be erected along West Piedmont Street, near the B&O tracks, and has said he will be ready to begin work on the building by March 1. He hopes to have the building ready for occupancy by June 1.

In the meantime, the local committee of the Keyser-Mineral Chamber of Commerce, will begin going through the list of companies who have been asking for information about locating here, and will be ready as soon as the new Tiger Tractor Corporation building is occupied, to use the building now used by the Tiger people for a new industry .

Schedule Changed

PIEDMONT — Due to the Christmas holidays garbage will be collected on the hill on Wednesday, Dec. 23 and 30 and on the flat Thursday, Dec. 24 and 31. After the holidays they will resume their regular schedule.

Tucker County Railroader Quits After 42 Years

F. C. Stemple Gets Present From Company

PARSONS, W. Va. — Fairfax Cline Stemple, a lifelong resident of Tucker County, retired December 1 from active duty with the Western Maryland Railway Co. after 42 years work.

Stemple started in 1907 as a brakeman and flagman for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad working there until 1911 when he began with the Western Maryland as a telegraph operator. He worked at Mcntrose, Parsons, Hendricks, Thomas, Fairfax, Henry, Dobbin, Bayard, Gorman, Harrison, West Virginia Junction and Virginia Avenue in Cumberland during those 42 years.

Stemple has a brother, John, who retired from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in 1944 after working for more than 40 years as a conductor. He is now residing in St. Petersburg, Fla. Another brother, D. C. Stemple, has been Postmaster in Thomas for more than 20 years and a third brother, Earle, is Postmaster of Erwin.

Besides his work as telegraph operator, Stemple has been actively engaged in farming for many years. He and his wife were married March 30, 1907, at Cumberland, and moved to Hambleton, March 2, 1919, where they have since resided.

They have three sons, Carl and Paul Stemple of Hambleton and Ross of Washington, D. C., three daughters, Catherine Asher, R. N., of Housten, Texas; Mrs. Dorothy Mateer of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Helen Peck now in Germany with her husband who is with the U. S. Army.

Stemple has been a member of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers for the past 38 years, is also a member of the Knights of Pythias Lodge, of Parsons, and is an Elder in the Hambleton Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Stemple plan to continue their farming on a much smaller scale and expect to take a few trips and do other things that they have wanted to do for many years. The railroad presented him with a split bamboo fly rod and automatic reel as a token for his long years of work.

Keyser Citizens Raise $41,000 For Tractor Co.

Buy Notes To Aid Erection Of Building

KEYSER — The building for the Tiger Tractor Corporation of Keyser is expected to be completed in time for the local company to install machinery and operate at a larger capacity level by next June. This was made possible by the purchase of notes by citizens of Keyser who demonstrated a wholehearted interest in the growth of the Tiger corporation in the short time it has been located here.

Following the sale of $41,000 worth of note-bonds, plans were made to prepare for the building construction, for which the corporation will add $10,000 as originally decided at the time the note-bond sale plan was adopted. The sale, a duplication of one conducted here several months ago for another local company, brought quick results in each instance.

Ray Coffman, local general contractor was given the contract for the building that will be erected along West Piedmont Street, near the B&O tracks, and has said he will be ready to begin work on the building by March 1. He hopes to have the building ready for occupancy by June 1.

In the meantime, the local committee of the Keyser-Mineral Chamber of Commerce, will begin going through the list of companies who have been asking for information about locating here, and will be ready as soon as the new Tiger Tractor Corporation building is occupied, to use the building now used by the Tiger people for a new industry.

Schedule Changed

PIEDMONT — Due to the Christmas holidays garbage will be collected on the hill on Wednesday, Dec. 23 and 30 and on the flat Thursday, Dec. 24 and 31. After the holidays they will resume their regular schedule.

Local Woman Missing; Police Begin Search

Mrs. Louise Spevock Last Seen Oct. 9

Cumberland police yesterday afternoon were requested to start a search for Mrs. Louise Rebecca Evans Spevock, 29, who has been missing from her apartment at 223 Pear Street for more than two months.

Lt. James E. Van reported that the missing woman's mother, Mrs. George E. Evans, who resides in Hampshire County, W. Va., conferred with him yesterday afternoon to ask for assistance in locating her daughter.

MRS. LOUISE SPEVOCK

Last Worked Oct. 9

Mrs. Spevock was employed at the Liberty Trust Company and last worked there on October 9, 1953. She has not been seen in Cumberland since that date, Lt. Van said. A two-week pay check which Mrs. Spevock has not claimed is still being held for her at the bank.

The missing woman underwent an operation in one of the local hospitals about one year ago.

Information police have been able to gain concerning the woman indicates that her reputation is very good. She was divorced about two years ago from George Spevock of Ridgeley. They had no children.

Work Satisfactory

Bank officials, where the missing woman was employed as a bookkeeper, said last night that her work had always been quite satisfactory and her books were in excellent condition. She enjoyed a friendly association with other employes and was generally liked and popular. There had never been any adverse criticism of her work, conduct or attitude. Fellow employes said she did not appear to be worried or ill.

The last any of the bank people heard of her was a note received on the Monday morning after she left, in which she said she had to go to Baltimore over the weekend and might be late returning. The note bore a local postmark.

When she did not return in a day or two, the bank notified her family. It appeared to police last night no one has heard from her since.

Description Given

Mrs. Spevock's mother lives about 12 miles from Romney and can be reached by phone at Romney 19-F-3.

The missing woman is 29 years old, five feet six inches tall, weighs 126 pounds, has blue eyes, medium blonde hair and is of medium build.

Anyone with information concerning Mrs. Spevock's whereabouts is requested to notify Lt. Van at Police Headquarters, telephone 1680.

Authorities recalled that it was just one year ago this month that Mrs. Odessa Meister disappeared from her Columbia Street apartment. Mrs. Meister's body later was found on McNamee's Hill, and the case is still open.

Farm Bureau Elects Delegates

Heavener Is Named Group's Secretary

Allegany County Farm Bureau and its Associated Women last night elected voting delegates to attend the Maryland Farm Bureau's 38th annual convention January 6-9 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore.

Named to represent Allegany County at the three-day affair which is expected to act on recommendations for next year's legislative programs were K. O. Nelson, Pinto; Frank Morgan, Rt. 1, Frostburg; and Robert Heavener, city, secretary of the county bureau.

Radio Station Gets Manager From Omaha

Schroeder, who is 30 years old, will reside at 112 Washington Street with his wife and two small children. They have rented the house from County Treasurer James W. Bishop.

Son of a Lutheran clergyman, Schroeder also took theological studies but then decided to enter radio work. He has been connected with station KIOL in Omaha.

The new manager succeeds James Martinson, who has resigned to accept a position in television in Pittsburgh.

Farmers Advised To Test Soil

Methods of getting Allegany County farmers to submit soil samples promptly for the test needed to get assistance in one phase of the 1954 Agricultural Conservation Program were discussed at length in a meeting yesterday afternoon in the office of County Agent R. F. McHenry.

One of the 13 practices announced by the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for next year provides fertilizer for new seeding of permanent pastures. However, in order to get assistance in carrying out the practice, the farmer must have a soil test which shows that his land needs the fertilizer and the amount needed.

The conferees agreed that it is wise for farmers to get their soil samples now before severe winter weather arrives and prevents them from getting them. Soil samples from all 23 Maryland counties will be sent to the University of Maryland for testing. Because this volume is expected to crowd the university's laboratory facilities, farmers are being urged to submit samples early to avoid the late rush.

Attending the meeting yesterday with McHenry were Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, manager of the County ASC Office; Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aid, and Miss Leona M. Phillips, secretary in McHenry's office.

Will Meet Tonight

Important business will be discussed at a meeting of Victor Tambolleo Post, Catholic War Veterans, tonight at 8:30 at the Knights of Columbus Home on North Mechanic Street.

James L. King, post commander, urged that all members attend.

Associated Charities Plan Open House At Yule Center

The Associated Charities yesterday invited the citizens of the Cumberland area to visit its Santa's Workshop at 119 North Centre Street today through Monday.

On display are more than 5,000 toys which have been made or donated during the past year so that the less fortunate children of the area will not be forgotten by Santa on Christmas day.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary, said it has "truly been the real Christmas spirit" to see community groups join hands to complete the 1953 toy project.

The Associated Charities, Miss Bonig said, wants the people to visit the workshop to see the results of the community project, and to know what the generosity of organized groups and individuals can mean at Christmas tide.

Many Have Helped

Clubs, schools, churches, sororities, scouts, firemen, fraternal groups and individuals have spent thousands of hours of work in sewing, repairing, dressing and painting the toys.

Miss Bonig said that appointments are being made for the parents of some 500 children to visit the toy headquarters beginning next Tuesday.

Parents will be asked to select from the collection toys they are sure their children want. Enough toys will be available to provide one large toy, such as a bed, ironing board, sled or bike, and a number of smaller toys for each child.

Will Help Parents

Ladies affiliated with the Cumberland Lay Health Groups have volunteered to aid families in making the selections next week.

This work will climax hundreds of hours of work for the Lay Health workers, since they have spent a number of sessions this fall dressing dolls and toy furniture made by men of the community.

The toys will be available for families in all parts of the county except the Georges Creek area, which is cared for by the Salvation Army.

The toy drive got an early start this year with several toy collections conducted by the Associated Charities, followed by a similar campaign by Boy Scout troops which brought in several thousand used toys.

Toys Are Repaired

These were supplemented throughout the year by gifts from hundreds of individuals and groups who comprise the friends of the Associated Charities.

Some of the most prized toys were made by members of the Ali Ghan Shrine Wrecking Crew, who have taken over the work started by a group of men who for many years made toys prior to Christmas at the H. and S. Plumbing shop on Polk Street.

Many of the used toys were in need of repair and were renovated by firemen and some of the needy who came to the Associated Charities for assistance.

The only thanks the contributors expect, Miss Bonig said, is the knowledge that the toys they have made or given will bring Christmas joy to the children of parents who cannot stretch budgets to include gifts.

Professor Plans Volume On Daniel Morgan's Life

By ALBERT D. DARBY

A Baltimore college professor who is starting to write a biography of Daniel Morgan, one of the heroes of the American Revolution, was in Cumberland yesterday to visit the place where Morgan began and ended his 40-year military career.

He was B. Floyd Flickinger, who teaches political science, history and economics at Baltimore Junior College and Loyola College of Baltimore.

Flogged Here

Flickinger recalled that Morgan's first military experience was gained as a wagoner in the ill-fated Braddock Expedition in 1755. Morgan was flogged for insubordination and bore the scars received from the 500 lashes the rest of his life.

As a major-general in command of the forces en route to Pennsylvania to put down the long-remembered Whisky Rebellion in 1794, Morgan came to Cumberland again in the later years of his life and was entertained here in the struggling frontier village.

The professor said he would like to return to Cumberland sometime soon and address the Allegany Historical Society, which is quietly being revived. The society has been inactive in recent years.

Flickinger said that he has been an avid admirer of Daniel Morgan ever since his boyhood days in Shepherdstown, W. Va., where he first heard the story of how Morgan marched from the area near his home to Cambridge, Mass., with his men to battle the British. Tradition has it that Morgan stopped at a spring near Shepherdstown and it still bears his name.

After his retirement from the Army in 1795, Morgan returned to Winchester, Va., still in this general area and there he died in 1802. He is buried in Mt. Hebron Cemetery there.

Several years ago Cowpens, S. C. and Winchester carried on a lively feud over which was the most suitable place for Morgan's remains to lie. Cowpens contended that the soldier was chiefly responsible for the Rebels' victory at Cowpens during the American Revolution and he should be buried there where he still is revered today. They said that Winchester did not appreciate the hero buried there.

Flickinger said that he has completed his research into the life of Morgan and has started writing his book. As a matter of fact he has just finished the chapter dealing with Morgan's part in the Braddock Expedition.

Just when he will finish the volume remains to be seen, he added.

"I get inspired when I come to places like Cumberland where my hero lived, but then I go back home and become involved in present day events and allow this work to lag," Flickinger confessed.

Federal Income Tax Data Shows Changes In 1954

Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews has announced in Washington that the law provides for changes on January 1, 1954, in the rates for Federal income tax withholding and for employer tax and employe tax under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (for old age and survivors insurance).

This was reported by District Director of Internal Revenue L. A. Chamberlin, who explained that the rate of income tax withholding will be reduced from 20 per cent to 18 per cent and that the law increases the employer tax and the employe tax from 1½ per cent for each tax to 2 per cent for each tax.

"These rates will apply to wages paid on or after January 1, 1954, even though the wages were earned in 1953," Director Chamberlin added.

"Tax tables for income tax withholding and for employe deductions on and after January 1, 1954, are included in a new revision of Circular E, Employer's Tax Guide," Director Chamberlin said. "District Directors of Internal Revenue will mail Circular E as early as possible in December to those employers who have been reporting the taxes each quarter on Form 941."

The 1953 Federal income tax forms have all been mailed, Director Chamberlin said, 1,650,000 taxpayers in Maryland and District of Columbia should have their forms for the 1953 filing period. These forms have been going out in the daily mails since November 15th at the rate of 100 to 150 sacks a day. On each of these forms is a key number to the taxpayers 1952 form. This number should be kept by taxpayers for future reference if they wish to consult the Director on tax matters concerning that year.

If you did not receive a copy, it is advisable to contact your local Internal Revenue office, the excuse of not receiving a form will not relieve taxpayers from filing current returns by March 15, 1954.

Chamberlin said his office has already received over 200 Federal income tax returns for 1953 income before the year is out. The early birds catches the refund does not hold true in these cases. He suggests you do not file your 1953 tax return until after January 1, 1954.

Processing of returns will not begin until January 1954. Many of these returns are inaccurate, and must be returned for more complete information—such as Form W-2 not attached to return; wrong forms filed; incompletness, and Forms W-2 being used as income tax return. This practice has been discontinued since 1947.

The Director goes on to say his staff will be ready to receive early returns after January 1, 1954 and the earlier the better. He emphasized, however, that the taxpayers be positive all proper information is listed and all Forms W-2 attached. The correctness of your return; the earlier it is mailed, the faster you will receive refunds.

Winds Damage Buildings In Tri-State Area

Weather Expected To Clear Today

High winds which plagued the area early yesterday had abated somewhat late last night as temperatures dropped. Snow flurries in the mountains and west of Cumberland made highways slick in some places, but not dangerous.

State Roads Commission observers reported indications were that a storm center had passed over as barometers began to rise. Light cover of snow was laying on the high points of Keyser Ridge and Negro Mountain in Garrett County. West toward Oakland the roads were wet and flurries blanketed the area throughout the day.

High winds created some havoc, blowing loose the copper roofing on the Court House building on Washington Street. A power failure on the West Side early last evening also was attributed the gusty winds.

Western Maryland observers reported clear weather all a long the line from Elkins, W. Va., to Deal, Pa. Lowest temperature was recorded at Thomas, W. Va., where the mercury dropped to 26 degrees. However no snow was reported and last night the weather was clear. At Rockwood the temperature was 30, Elkins, 28 and at Deal 27. Winds were settled late in the evening.

On the Baltimore and Ohio most stations indicated cloudy and cold weather, Hardman reported temperatures of 38 degrees, Blazer 32, Terra Alta 30, Altamont 32, Orleans Road 40 and Harpers Ferry 40.

High temperature in Cumberland was 43 with a low of 38 recorded for the 24-hour period yesterday. Precipitation was light, with rainfall amounting to .22 inch Wednesday and little or no rain with yesterday's high winds.

Forecast for today is warmer and clear with temperatures in the 50's.

Lions Club At Cresaptown To Sell Yule Trees

The Potomac Valley Lions Club of Cresaptown will conduct its annual Christmas tree sale December 18 and 19 at Winchester Road and McMullen Highway.

All proceeds of the sale will go into the club's fund to aid the sight conservation program for Allegany County school children. The club helps dozens of children each year through the Christmas tree sale and similar projects.

About 250 Vermont spruce have been ordered fresh from the forests. They will arrive here by truck in the next few days and will be stored at the business establishment of one of the members until the sale.

Trees will be on sale on both days of the last weekend before Christmas to allow plenty of time for people who would like to buy trees from the club but who do not live in the immediate area.

Riley Yokum is chairman of the committee in charge of the sale, and is assisted by William Yoder, John Barton, and other members of the club.

REV. C. HERMAN BAILEY

Rev. C. H. Bailey Accepts Call To Columbus Church

Has Been Pastor Here Four Years

Rev. C. Herman Bailey, pastor of Southminster Presbyterian Church for the past four years, has resigned his pulpit here to accept a call to West Second Avenue Presbyterian Church in Columbus, Ohio.

Rev. Bailey's resignation is effective at the end of the month. His new church has about 250 members. Southminster, in South Cumberland, has about 100, and Moffatt Memorial Mission, which Rev. Bailey also serves, has a like number.

A native of West Virginia, Rev. Bailey was born Friday, April 13, 1906, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bailey, who now reside in Annapolis.

He has the distinction of being the only former member of 270-year-old Rehoboth Presbyterian Church to have become a minister. The church, founded in 1683 by Francis Makemie, is purported to be the oldest in the U. S. Makemie, an Irish dissenter who fled the British Isles to find religious freedom, helped bring about the establishment of the Presbyterian Church in the New World and formed the first Presbytery in America.

Rev. Bailey was graduated from Hampton-Sydney College in 1932, and from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1935.

In the following year he began his work in the national mission field in the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. While on the West Coast he met and married Miss Anna Mary Anderson of Renton, Wash.

While the Baileys were stationed at Pendleton, Oregon, their first child, John, was born. Two years later, at Boise, Idaho, they had another child, Sue. John, now 13, is a student at Fort Hill High School, and Sue, 11, attends Pennsylvania Avenue School.

In 1947 the Baileys came East and Rev. Bailey assumed pastorate of the Presbyterian church at Snow Hill, Md. He came to Southminster in 1949, replacing Rev. Robert Campbell.

Since he assumed the pulpit, Southminster has installed a new electric organ and has completed several improvements to the church building. The Moffatt Memorial Mission building recently has been insulated, the interior has been improved, and the structure was painted last summer. No successor has been named for the two churches.

The Baileys live at 310 Race Street.

State Supervisor Visits In County

Dr. Geneva Ely, state supervisor of special education, was in Cumberland yesterday to confer with Allegany County school authorities.

She has been giving especially close attention to this county in recent months because the county is without a supervisor of special education. Dr. Ralph E. Kessler left the position in mid-September to assume duties in Baltimore County and Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster has been unable to find a successor.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Ely conferred with Webster and other members of the county school supervisory staff.

Six Pay Fines For Disturbance At Local Plant

Court Finds Three Others Not Guilty

Six of nine persons involved in a fracas November 27 at the strike-bound National Jet Company were fined on charges of disturbing the peace yesterday in Police Court, and the cases against the other three were dismissed.

Charges of disorderly conduct against the nine persons were changed to disturbance of the peace prior to start of the trial held before Magistrate Donald W. Mason yesterday morning. All entered not guilty pleas.

Fined $15 each were Georgie M. Peer, 41, of RD 1, Ridgeley, and Edgar A. Blank, 29, of Mt. Savage.

Four of the defendants were fined $10 each. They were Benjamin F. Newcomer, 44, RD 2, Flintstone; Daniel M. Lancaster, 23, of Mt. Savage; Boyd H. Miller, 32, of RD 1, Ridgeley, and Paul J. Abe, of RD 1, Ridgeley.

Three Are Not Guilty

Found not guilty were Nancy F. Reed, 25, of 321 North Centre Street; Ruby N. McCullough, 39, of 400 Springdale Street, and Frank G. Poland, 29, of 4 Turner Street.

Peer, McCullough, Reed Newcomer, Lancaster and Blank were represented by William L. Wilson Jr., and Miller, Poland and Abe were represented by William C. Walsh. Counsel for the police was City Solicitor Thomas B. Finan.

Testimony related that Miller and Abe stopped their car in front of the plant being picketed by Lancaster and Newcomer, after someone apparently hit the vehicle with a fist or some object. After approaching the pickets, then getting into the auto again, Miller and Abe said the car was struck a second time.

Wilson told the court he would attempt to prove Miller and Abe provoked an attack on Lancaster and Newcomer, the two pickets. Walsh contended Lancaster hit Miller's car and touched off the incident.

Police Are Called

Lt. John E. Sherry said he and Lt. Raymond R. Johnston were called to the plant at Millman Place by the janitor, Raymond Franklin Bennett. Bennett testified he saw the Peer woman kicking Abe who was on the ground.

Magistrate Mason fined all of the participants in the disturbance and dismissed charges against Reed, McCullough and Poland after testimony showed they had not joined in the fight.

Mason told the defendants it was very unfortunate the incident had to happen when the city was attempting to bring in new industries, and they "should have better sense as adults."

He added the argument and friction which began the fracas was not such to warrant self defense.

Schools Plan Turkey Dinners

14,000 To Share Christmas Treat

Authorities in the Allegany County school lunch program are completing plans to serve at least 14,000 special turkey dinners just before the school children begin their Christmas holiday.

William P. Cooper, director of the school lunch program, said that near three tons of turkey have been ordered for the festive meal. Originally he had planned to get 5,000 pounds of turkey but upped the order to 5,500 later.

About 13,000 pupils, teachers, cafeteria employes and other school employes were served the special Thanksgiving dinner on Tuesday, November 24. Cooper reported that school lunch leaders generally figure on serving considerably more Christmas dinners.

Each school principal will determine the date on which the big dinner will be served. It will be either Monday, December 21, or Tuesday, December 22.

Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of the school lunch program, has prepared the menu. It calls for tomato juice or fruit juice, turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, a green vegetable or a salad, cranberry sauce, roll and butter, milk and a honey ball for dessert. This meal will be sold at the usual price of 25 cents.

Local Woman Missing; Police Begin Search

Mrs. Louise Spevock Last Seen Oct. 9

Cumberland police yesterday afternoon were requested to start a search for Mrs. Louise Rebecca Evans Spevock, 29, who has been missing from her apartment at 223 Pear Street for more than two months.

Lt. James E. Van reported that the missing woman's mother, Mrs. George E. Evans, who resides in Hampshire County, W. Va., conferred with him yesterday afternoon to ask for assistance in locating her daughter.

MRS. LOUISE SPEVOCK

Last Worked Oct. 9

Mrs. Spevock was employed at the Liberty Trust Company and last worked there on October 9, 1953. She has not been seen in Cumberland since that date, Lt. Van said. A two-week pay check which Mrs. Spevock has not claimed is still being held for her at the bank.

The missing woman underwent an operation in one of the local hospitals about one year ago.

Information police have been able to gain concerning the woman indicates that her reputation is very good. She was divorced about two years ago from George Spevock of Ridgeley. They had no children.

Work Satisfactory

Bank officials, where the missing woman was employed as a bookkeeper, said last night that her work had always been quite satisfactory and her books were in excellent condition. She enjoyed a friendly association with other employes and was generally liked and popular. There had never been any adverse criticism of her work, conduct or attitude. Fellow employes said she did not appear to be worried or ill.

The last any of the bank people heard of her was a note received on the Monday morning after she left, in which she said she had to go to Baltimore over the weekend and might be late returning. The note bore a local postmark.

When she did not return in a day or two, the bank notified her family. It appeared to police last night no one has heard from her since.

Description Given

Mrs. Spevock's mother lives about 12 miles from Romney and can be reached by phone at Romney 19-F-3.

The missing woman is 29 years old, five feet six inches tall, weighs 126 pounds, has blue eyes, medium blonde hair and is of medium build.

Anyone with information concerning Mrs. Spevock's whereabouts is requested to notify Lt. Van at Police Headquarters, telephone 1680.

Authorities recalled that it was just one year ago this month that Mrs. Odessa Meister disappeared from her Columbia Street apartment. Mrs. Meister's body later was found on McNamee's Hill, and the case is still open.

Allegany High Choir Will Sing Carols

Final plans are being formulated for the Community Tree Lighting ceremony which will be held Sunday, December 20, at 9:15 p. m. in Riverside Park.

The tentative program for the traditional ceremony was announced yesterday by Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, chairman of the civic committee which is planning the event.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, will be master of ceremonies.

The brief ceremony will begin with community singing of the carol, "O Come All Ye Faithful," led by Miss Dorothy Willison, Allegany High School music instructor.

Choir Will Sing

Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will give the invocation.

The Allegany High School Choir, under the direction of Miss Willison, will sing three Christmas carols, Deck the Halls, Silent Night and Shepherds Rejoice.

The tree will be lighted by Mayor Roy W. Eves, followed by community singing of "Joy to the World."

Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, will pronounce the benediction.

Trees Delivered

Large Christmas trees supplied by the staff of the water plant at Lake Gordon, have been placed at Riverside Park, at Race and Seymour Street, and at the park area at Valley Street.

About 120 smaller trees have been delivered to Riverside Park for use in decorating the areas, and about 60 more trees will be sent in this week to complete the decorations.

Plans for the Riverside Park ceremony and the decorations of the park areas are in charge of a committee which includes Mrs. Roeder, Mrs. Marguerite T. Findlay, Miss Helen C. Gilmore, George M. Hitchcock, Lester Bolinger, Robert E. Pence, A. L. Sutton and Gibson.

Radio Station Gets Manager From Omaha

Schroeder, who is 30 years old, will reside at 112 Washington Street with his wife and two small children. They have rented the house from County Treasurer James W. Bishop.

Son of a Lutheran clergyman, Schroeder also took theological studies but then decided to enter radio work. He has been connected with station KIOL in Omaha.

The new manager succeeds James Martinson, who has resigned to accept a position in television in Pittsburgh.

Farmers Advised To Test Soil

Methods of getting Allegany County farmers to submit soil samples promptly for the test needed to get assistance in one phase of the 1954 Agricultural Conservation Program were discussed at length in a meeting yesterday afternoon in the office of County Agent R. F. McHenry.

One of the 13 practices announced by the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for next year provides fertilizer for new seeding of permanent pastures. However, in order to get assistance in carrying out the practice, the farmer must have a soil test which shows that his land needs the fertilizer and the amount needed.

The conferees agreed that it is wise for farmers to get their soil samples now before severe winter weather arrives and prevents them from getting them. Soil samples from all 23 Maryland counties will be sent to the University of Maryland for testing. Because this volume is expected to crowd the university's laboratory facilities, farmers are being urged to submit samples early to avoid the late rush.

Attending the meeting yesterday with McHenry were Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, manager of the County ASC Office; Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aid, and Miss Leona M. Phillips, secretary in McHenry's office.

Will Meet Tonight

Important business will be discussed at a meeting of Victor Tambolleo Post, Catholic War Veterans, tonight at 8:30 at the Knights of Columbus Home on North Mechanic Street.

James L. King, post commander, urged that all members attend.

Driver Faces Charge

Donald Owen Fuller, 27, of Williams Road, was lodged in City Jail last night on two state motor charges after his car was involved in a collision at Thomas and Cresap streets shortly after 6 p.m.

Officer Gordon R. Hite, who investigated, said no one was injured, but that Fuller's old-model car was demolished.

Associated Charities Plan Open House At Yule Center

The Associated Charities yesterday invited the citizens of the Cumberland area to visit its Santa's Workshop at 119 North Centre Street today through Monday.

On display are more than 5,000 toys which have been made or donated during the past year so that the less fortunate children of the area will not be forgotten by Santa on Christmas day.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary, said it has "truly been the real Christmas spirit" to see community groups join hands to complete the 1953 toy project.

The Associated Charities, Miss Bonig said, wants the people to visit the workshop to see the results of the community project, and to know what the generosity of organized groups and individuals can mean at Christmas tide.

Many Have Helped

Clubs, schools, churches, sororities, scouts, firemen, fraternal groups and individuals have spent thousands of hours of work in sewing, repairing, dressing and painting the toys.

Miss Bonig said that appointments are being made for the parents of some 500 children to visit the toy headquarters beginning next Tuesday.

Parents will be asked to select from the collection toys they are sure their children want. Enough toys will be available to provide one large toy, such as a bed, ironing board, sled or bike, and a number of smaller toys for each child.

Will Help Parents

Ladies affiliated with the Cumberland Lay Health Groups have volunteered to aid families in making the selections next week.

This work will climax hundreds of hours of work for the Lay Health workers, since they have spent a number of sessions this fall dressing dolls and toy furniture made by men of the community.

The toys will be available for families in all parts of the county except the Georges Creek area, which is cared for by the Salvation Army.

The toy drive got an early start this year with several toy collections conducted by the Associated Charities, followed by a similar campaign by Boy Scout troops which brought in several thousand used toys.

Toys Are Repaired

These were supplemented throughout the year by gifts from hundreds of individuals and groups who comprise the friends of the Associated Charities.

Some of the most prized toys were made by members of the Ali Ghan Shrine Wrecking Crew, who have taken over the work started by a group of men who for many years made toys prior to Christmas at the H. and S. Plumbing shop on Polk Street.

Many of the used toys were in need of repair and were renovated by firemen and some of the needy who came to the Associated Charities for assistance.

The only thanks the contributors expect, Miss Bonig said, is the knowledge that the toys they have made or given will bring Christmas joy to the children of parents who cannot stretch budgets to include gifts.

Professor Plans Volume On Daniel Morgan's Life

By ALBERT D. DARBY

A Baltimore college professor who is starting to write a biography of Daniel Morgan, one of the heroes of the American Revolution, was in Cumberland yesterday to visit the place where Morgan began and ended his 40-year military career.

He was B. Floyd Flickinger, who teaches political science, history and economics at Baltimore Junior College and Loyola College of Baltimore.

Flogged Here

Flickinger recalled that Morgan's first military experience was gained as a wagoner in the ill-fated Braddock Expedition in 1755. Morgan was flogged for insubordination and bore the scars received from the 500 lashes the rest of his life.

As a major-general in command of the forces en route to Pennsylvania to put down the long-remembered Whisky Rebellion in 1794, Morgan came to Cumberland again in the later years of his life and was entertained here in the struggling frontier village.

The professor said he would like to return to Cumberland sometime soon and address the Allegany Historical Society, which is quietly being revived. The society has been inactive in recent years.

Flickinger said that he has been an avid admirer of Daniel Morgan ever since his boyhood days in Shepherdstown, W. Va., where he first heard the story of how Morgan marched from the area near his home to Cambridge, Mass., with his men to battle the British. Tradition has it that Morgan stopped at a spring near Shepherdstown and it still bears his name.

After his retirement from the Army in 1795, Morgan returned to Winchester, Va., still in this general area and there he died in 1802. He is buried in Mt. Hebron Cemetery there.

Several years ago Cowpens, S. C. and Winchester carried on a lively feud over which was the most suitable place for Morgan's remains to lie. Cowpens contended that the soldier was chiefly responsible for the Rebels' victory at Cowpens during the American Revolution and he should be buried there where he still is revered today. They said that Winchester did not appreciate the hero buried there.

Flickinger said that he has completed his research into the life of Morgan and has started writing his book. As a matter of fact he has just finished the chapter dealing with Morgan's part in the Braddock Expedition.

Just when he will finish the volume remains to be seen, he added.

"I get inspired when I come to places like Cumberland where my hero lived, but then I go back home and become involved in present day events and allow this work to lag," Flickinger confessed.

Federal Income Tax Data Shows Changes In 1954

Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews has announced in Washington that the law provides for changes on January 1, 1954, in the rates for Federal income tax withholding and for employer tax and employe tax under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (for old age and survivors insurance).

This was reported by District Director of Internal Revenue L. A. Chamberlin, who explained that the rate of income tax withholding will be reduced from 20 per cent to 18 per cent and that the law increases the employer tax and the employe tax from 1½ per cent for each tax to 2 per cent for each tax.

"These rates will apply to wages paid on or after January 1, 1954, even though the wages were earned in 1953," Director Chamberlin added.

"Tax tables for income tax withholding and for employe deductions on and after January 1, 1954, are included in a new revision of Circular E, Employer's Tax Guide," Director Chamberlin said. "District Directors of Internal Revenue will mail Circular E as early as possible in December to those employers who have been reporting the taxes each quarter on Form 941."

The 1953 Federal income tax forms have all been mailed, Director Chamberlin said, 1,650,000 taxpayers in Maryland and District of Columbia should have their forms for the 1953 filing period. These forms have been going out in the daily mails since November 15th at the rate of 100 to 150 sacks a day. On each of these forms is a key number to the taxpayers 1952 form. This number should be kept by taxpayers for future reference if they wish to consult the Director on tax matters concerning that year.

If you did not receive a copy, it is advisable to contact your local Internal Revenue office, the excuse of not receiving a form will not relieve taxpayers from filing current returns by March 15, 1954.

Chamberlin said his office has already received over 200 Federal income tax returns for 1953 income before the year is out. The early birds catches the refund does not hold true in these cases. He suggests you do not file your 1953 tax return until after January 1, 1954.

Processing of returns will not begin until January 1954. Many of these returns are inaccurate, and must be returned for more complete information—such as Form W-2 not attached to return; wrong forms filed; incompleteness, and Forms W-2 being used as income tax return. This practice has been discontinued since 1947.

The Director goes on to say his staff will be ready to receive early returns after January 1, 1954 and the earlier the better. He emphasized, however, that the taxpayers be positive all proper information is listed and all Forms W-2 attached. The correctness of your return; the earlier it is mailed, the faster you will receive refunds.

Winds Damage Buildings In Tri-State Area

Weather Expected To Clear Today

High winds which plagued the area early yesterday had abated somewhat late last night as temperatures dropped. Snow flurries in the mountains and west of Cumberland made highways slick in some places, but not dangerous.

State Roads Commission observers reported indications were that a storm center had passed over as barometers began to rise. Light cover of snow was laying on the high points of Keyser Ridge and Negro Mountain in Garrett County. West toward Oakland the roads were wet and flurries blanketed the area throughout the day.

High winds created some havoc, blowing loose the copper roofing on the Court House building on Washington Street. A power failure on the West Side early last evening also was attributed the gusty winds.

Western Maryland observers reported clear weather all a long the line from Elkins, W. Va., to Deal, Pa. Lowest temperature was recorded at Thomas, W. Va., where the mercury dropped to 26 degrees. However no snow was reported and last night the weather was clear. At Rockwood the temperature was 30, Elkins, 28 and at Deal 27. Winds were settled late in the evening.

On the Baltimore and Ohio most stations indicated cloudy and cold weather, Hardman reported temperatures of 38 degrees, Blazer 32, Terra Alta 30, Altamont 32, Orleans Road 40 and Harpers Ferry 40.

High temperature in Cumberland was 43 with a low of 38 recorded for the 24-hour period yesterday. Precipitation was light, with rainfall amounting to .22 inch Wednesday and little or no rain with yesterday's high winds.

Forecast for today is warmer and clear with temperatures in the 50's.

Lions Club At Cresaptown To Sell Yule Trees

The Potomac Valley Lions Club of Cresaptown will conduct its annual Christmas tree sale December 18 and 19 at Winchester Road and McMullen Highway.

All proceeds of the sale will go into the club's fund to aid the sight conservation program for Allegany County school children. The club helps dozens of children each year through the Christmas tree sale and similar projects.

About 250 Vermont spruce have been ordered fresh from the forests. They will arrive here by truck in the next few days and will be stored at the business establishment of one of the members until the sale.

Trees will be on sale on both days of the last weekend before Christmas to allow plenty of time for people who would like to buy trees from the club but who do not live in the immediate area.

Riley Yokum is chairman of the committee in charge of the sale, and is assisted by William Yoder, John Barton, and other members of the club.

REV. C. HERMAN BAILEY

Rev. C. H. Bailey Accepts Call To Columbus Church

Has Been Pastor Here Four Years

Rev. C. Herman Bailey, pastor of Southminster Presbyterian Church for the past four years, has resigned his pulpit here to accept a call to West Second Avenue Presbyterian Church in Columbus, Ohio.

Rev. Bailey's resignation is effective at the end of the month. His new church has about 250 members. Southminster, in South Cumberland, has about 100, and Moffatt Memorial Mission, which Rev. Bailey also serves, has a like number.

A native of West Virginia, Rev. Bailey was born Friday, April 13, 1906, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bailey, who now reside in Annapolis.

He has the distinction of being the only former member of 270-year-old Rehoboth Presbyterian Church to have become a minister. The church, founded in 1683 by Francis Makemie, is purported to be the oldest in the U. S. Makemie, an Irish dissenter who fled the British Isles to find religious freedom, helped bring about the establishment of the Presbyterian Church in the New World and formed the first Presbytery in America.

Rev. Bailey was graduated from Hampton-Sydney College in 1932, and from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1935.

In the following year he began his work in the national mission field in the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. While on the West Coast he met and married Miss Anna Mary Anderson of Renton, Wash.

While the Baileys were stationed at Pendleton, Oregon, their first child, John, was born. Two years later, at Boise, Idaho, they had another child, Sue. John, now 13, is a student at Fort Hill High School, and Sue, 11, attends Pennsylvania Avenue School.

In 1947 the Baileys came East and Rev. Bailey assumed pastorate of the Presbyterian church at Snow Hill, Md. He came to Southminster in 1949, replacing Rev. Robert Campbell.

Since he assumed the pulpit, Southminster has installed a new electric organ and has completed several improvements to the church building. The Moffatt Memorial Mission building recently has been insulated, the interior has been improved, and the structure was painted last summer. No successor has been named for the two churches.

The Baileys live at 310 Race Street.

State Supervisor Visits In County

Dr. Geneva Ely, state supervisor of special education, was in Cumberland yesterday to confer with Allegany County school authorities.

She has been giving especially close attention to this county in recent months because the county is without a supervisor of special education. Dr. Ralph E. Kessler left the position in mid-September to assume duties in Baltimore County and Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster has been unable to find a successor.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Ely conferred with Webster and other members of the county school supervisory staff.

Six Pay Fines For Disturbance At Local Plant

Court Finds Three Others Not Guilty

Six of nine persons involved in a fracas November 27 at the strike-bound National Jet Company were fined on charges of disturbing the peace yesterday in Police Court, and the cases against the other three were dismissed.

Charges of disorderly conduct against the nine persons were changed to disturbance of the peace prior to start of the trial held before Magistrate Donald W. Mason yesterday morning. All entered not guilty pleas.

Fined $15 each were Georgie M. Peer, 41, of RD 1, Ridgeley, and Edgar A. Blank, 29, of Mt. Savage.

Four of the defendants were fined $10 each. They were Benjamin F. Newcomer, 44, RD 2, Flintstone; Daniel M. Lancaster, 23, of Mt. Savage; Boyd H. Miller, 32, of RD 1, Ridgeley, and Paul J. Abe, of RD 1, Ridgeley.

Three Are Not Guilty

Found not guilty were Nancy F. Reed, 25, of 321 North Centre Street; Ruby N. McCullough, 39, of 400 Springdale Street, and Frank G. Poland, 29, of 4 Turner Street.

Peer, McCullough, Reed Newcomer, Lancaster and Blank were represented by William L. Wilson Jr., and Miller, Poland and Abe were represented by William C. Walsh. Counsel for the police was City Solicitor Thomas B. Finan.

Testimony related that Miller and Abe stopped their car in front of the plant being picketed by Lancaster and Newcomer, after someone apparently hit the vehicle with a fist or some object. After approaching the pickets, then getting into the auto again, Miller and Abe said the car was struck a second time.

Wilson told the court he would attempt to prove Miller and Abe provoked an attack on Lancaster and Newcomer, the two pickets. Walsh contended Lancaster hit Miller's car and touched off the incident.

Police Are Called

Lt. John E. Sherry said he and Lt. Raymond R. Johnston were called to the plant at Millman Place by the janitor, Raymond Franklin Bennett. Bennett testified he saw the Peer woman kicking Abe who was on the ground.

Magistrate Mason fined all of the participants in the disturbance and dismissed charges against Reed, McCullough and Poland after testimony showed they had not joined in the fight.

Mason told the defendants it was very unfortunate the incident had to happen when the city was attempting to bring in new industries, and they "should have better sense as adults."

He added the argument and friction which began the fracas was not such to warrant self defense.

Schools Plan Turkey Dinners

14,000 To Share Christmas Treat

Authorities in the Allegany County school lunch program are completing plans to serve at least 14,000 special turkey dinners just before the school children begin their Christmas holiday.

William P. Cooper, director of the school lunch program, said that near three tons of turkey have been ordered for the festive meal. Originally he had planned to get 5,000 pounds of turkey but upped the order to 5,500 later.

About 13,000 pupils, teachers, cafeteria employes and other school employes were served the special Thanksgiving dinner on Tuesday, November 24. Cooper reported that school lunch leaders generally figure on serving considerably more Christmas dinners.

Each school principal will determine the date on which the big dinner will be served. It will be either Monday, December 21, or Tuesday, December 22.

Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of the school lunch program, has prepared the menu. It calls for tomato juice or fruit juice, turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, a green vegetable or a salad, cranberry sauce, roll and butter, milk and a honey ball for dessert. This meal will be sold at the usual price of 25 cents.

Wind Damages Court House Roof

High winds which ripped through Western Maryland yesterday afternoon and evening tore up roofing on several homes and private buildings, and were blamed for a West Side power failure last night. This chunk of copper sheeting (top) was pulled loose from the Court House roof in Cumberland. Shingles and slates were blown from several other roofs.
